MARSHALL RAPS RED PROPAGANDA

Europe Facing "Red Squeeze" Dirksen Says

Republicans Launch Anti-Control Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — (AP) — Warned that Western Europe is threatened by a "Communist squeeze" within four months, congressional committees worked today on President Truman's plan for emergency aid to Italy, France and Austria.

But Republicans launched on the House floor an offensive against the President's bid for authority to bring back rationing and wage-price control, if necessary, to keep prices from climbing. The White House, meantime, said 47 out of 50 letters received favored the idea of controls.

Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) told the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which completed hearings on immediate foreign aid, that Czechoslovakia would be the victim of a "Communist squeeze" within four months unless she had United States help.

Russia "Preparing For War"

Austria, Germany, France and Italy would fall next, he said.

Dirksen, head of a House Armed Services-Appropriations group which visited Europe recently, said in a report submitted later that "the Soviet Union is feverishly preparing for a military war" and should be deprived of any United States supplies that might help her program.

Chairman Eaton (R-N.J.), of the House Foreign Affairs group, said an emergency aid bill probably would be presented early next week. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee began writing its bill today. Mr. Truman asked yesterday that $597,000,000 be appropriated for the purpose.

The Senate Appropriations Committee called meanwhile for an inventory of United States food supplies, present and future, to determine how much this country can send Europe and whether some should be purchased abroad.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) told reporters the committee action was unanimous, adding: "We are not going to be stampeded. We don't want to deliberately short change the American people."

Rep. Smith Blasts Program

Keynoting the GOP assault on the President's 10-point inflation program, Rep. Frederick C. Smith (R-Ohio) told the House that the proposed curbs apparently were intended "to enslave the American people."

Smith included the foreign aid program in his attack, demanding: "Is the Republican Party going to be tricked into betraying its pledge to protect the American people from regimentation, by supporting the Marshall plan?"

Supporters of the President's combined foreign aid and anti-inflation program apparently were withholding their drive to get it adopted until later in the week.

Five Die When Big Transport Crashes, Burns

TWA Ship Cracks Up At Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 18—(AP)—A Trans World Airline Constellation transport undershot the Newcastle airport after a training flight today, crashed and burned, killing all five occupants.

Barely missing the heavily-traveled four-lane du Pont Highway, the big four-engined airliner struck a ditch approaching the north-south runway and went out of control, said a TWA statement.

The landing gear buckled. One of the wings was ripped off and the ship was torn nearly in two. Flames enveloped the wreckage and burned furiously, destroying the craft before firemen could reach the scene. Wreckage was scattered over a 100-yard area.

There were no passengers on the plane. Victims were:

Capt. F. X. Winkler, 28, address unnown but father, Frank Winkler, lives in Buffalo, N. Y.; Capt. E. L. Christenson, 33, Wilmington; Capt. V. G. Kennedy, 33, Northeast, Md.; Flight Engineer Richard De Campo, 38, New Garden Hills, Long Island, N. Y., and Herbert M. Dowsett, Jr., 29, Civil Aeronautics Authority inspector, Honolulu and Compton, Md.

The plane had gone aloft at TWA's overseas base during the morning on a routine flight for training and check of instruments preparatory to operation on the airline's international division. It remained over Wilmington—five miles from the airport—for several hours and came in normally at about 1:15 p. m.

"Several eye witnesses," said TWA, "saw the plane make what appeared to be a normal approach for a landing when it was apparent that the plane's landing gear struck a ditch just at the end of the field."

Says Stability Is Threatened; Calls For Halt

Denies That U. S. Has Imperialistic Aims

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall tonight denounced Russia's "brazen and contemptuous" propaganda as a threat to world stability and said it was time to call it to a halt. "We do not propose to stand by and watch the disintegration of the international community to which we belong," Marshall declared.

Sharply denying that the United States has imperialistic aims in extending aid to Europe, he said Communistic misrepresentatons "goaded the American people into a state of active resentment."

Speaking on the eve of his departure for the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference at London, Marshall said that Russia herself is to blame for what he termed a complete change in this country's attitude toward the Soviets since Germany's surrender.

Her territorial expansion contrasts, he noted, with the voluntary reductions in area made by the United States and Britain. Russia, he charged, appears determined to prolong Europe's plight indefinitely.

Secretary Speaks Bluntly

Marshall spoke out bluntly in an address delivered to the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and the Chicago Chamber of Commerce. His references to Russia were viewed by some of his associates as aimed to make plain this country's attitude before his meeting next week with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the Big Four's fifth postwar attempt to reach agreement on a European peace settlement.

"We are aware," Marshall said, "of the seriousness and extent of the campaign being directed against us as one of the bulwarks of western civilization. We are not blind to any of the forms which this attack assumes. And we do not propose to stand by and watch the disintegration of the international community to which we belong."

Despite "provocation," Marshall said he would take an open mind to London and will seek only for a sound basis of agreement.

"I will seek to avoid statements for mere popular or propaganda effect, no matter what the provocation," he pledged.

Soviet-American differences, Marshall contended, are "not due to any direct clash between the national interests of these powers."

"It is my belief that if Europe is restored as a solvent and vigorous community, this issue will have been decided and the disturbing conflict between ourselves and the Soviets insofar as Europe is concerned will lessen."

Marshall directed his counter attack chiefly against Communist charges that the United States is following an imperialistic course seeking to aid European recovery.

Policy Is Evident

"If the United States entertained any idea of extending American influence or domination over Europe, our policy would not be directed toward ending European dependency upon this country, but toward perpetuating that relationship," he said.

"The clarity of the record and of our intentions, however, has not prevented Soviet officials and Com-

Meyers Was Paid $94,081 By Firm, Probers Are Told

Sum Included Auto And Decorating Job

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Witnesses told a Senate inquiry today that Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers received $94,081.38 in two war years from an aviation parts subcontracting firm at a time when he was an Air Force purchasing officer.

The sum included loan repayments, a blue Cadillac car with monogrammed robe, a $700 radio, a $10,000 decorating job on his "very nice" Washington apartment—and kickbacks on salaries to two officers of the company, witnesses said.

The main story came from Blériot E. Lamarre, boyish-looking 35-year-old president of the manufacturing firm—Aviation Electric Company of Dayton, Ohio—who says the General was the actual owner of the firm.

Changed Method Of Payment

Lamarre, appearing before the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee which is inquiring into Meyers' relations with wartime contract holders, said that Meyers asked him late in 1941 to begin giving him Lamarre's salary kickbacks in cash instead of cashier's checks.

"As I recall, he (Myers) said cashier's checks are too easy to trace," Lamarre explained.

The witness says he was listed on company books in 1941 for $31,000 salary but that he received only $2,975.66 and the difference—less taxes—went to Meyers. He said the net kickback to Meyers thus was $17,972.14.

In addition, he said, an "executive salary" of $13,750 was set up in the company for his brother-in-law, Thomas Eugene Readnower, listed as a vice president. But, he added, Readnower received only $25 a week in 1941 for a total of $1,259.34, while most of the $13,750 was used to pay income taxes on Lamarre's own 1941 "executive salary," most of which had gone to Meyers.

Meyers Received $94,081.38

The total of $94,081.38 was received by Meyers from the company in 1941 and 1942, the subcommittee was told as it moved painstakingly through the company's accounts.

A committee investigator, Carmine Bellino, summed up the 1941 figure at $67,303.48, broken down as follows:

Loans paid to the General $34,810.24; "executive salary" $17,972.14; apartment decoration $10,000; air conditioning units for apartment, $825.40; Cadillac automobile $2,995.70, and radio $700.

Lamarre said $26,777.90 was paid in 1942 to himself and Readnower, then turned over to Meyers.

Earthquake Felt In Los Angeles; Buildings Sway

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18—A gently rocking, moderately severe earthquake was felt in Los Angeles and along the northern seacoast of Southern California today. There were no immediate reports of damage.

Dr. Charles F. Richter, of California Institute of Technology, described it as "good sized local shock." He timed it at 1:59 p. m. (Pacific Standard Time) (4:59 p. m. EST.)

It was felt in the beach cities of Santa Barbara, Redondo Beach and Hermosa Beach, but apparently did not extend south or east. It escaped unnoticed in San Bernardino, Santa Ana and Long Beach.

Downtown Los Angeles buildings, including the towering City Hall, swayed noticeably. Dr. Richter said the center of the disturbance probably was nearby, but could not be quickly fixed.

Argentina Denies It's Axis Remnant

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Yugoslavia and White Russia, two members of the Soviet bloc in the United Nations, denounced Argentina today as a "supporter of the last vestige of the Rome-Berlin axis." Argentina replied with a denial.

The exchange came during hot debate in the United Nations Assembly's 57-member Political Committee over a United States proposal that the recently-approved year-around "Little Assembly" should study the big power veto issue and report to the 1948 Assembly.

On the Palestine question, the remaining major item before the Assembly on which the delegates hope to obtain action, a nine-power group approved a division of Jerusalem into a three-part, United Nations-ruled holy city. It would be separate from the Jewish and Arab countries envisioned in the partition plan.

The partition plan was almost ready for the special 57-nation Palestine Committee.

Dr. Jose Arce, of Argentina, who fought against any United Nations action in the Spanish case on the grounds that the United Nations could not interfere in Spain's domestic affairs, endorsed the United States position in the Political Committee. He called the veto a "cancer" and served notice he would bring it up at every Asembly until he has succeeded in "cutting" it out of the United Nations.

The entire Slav block spoke against the United States proposal but White Russia and Yugoslavia trained their fire directly on Arce. They also were among the most bitter attackers of Franco Spain in the recent Spanish debate.

French Strikes Spread To Coal, Auto Industries

General Walkout Threatens Paris

PARIS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Communist-led strikes tied up France's coal mines and most of the auto industry and threatened Paris with a general work stoppage tonight.

Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier took the lead in efforts to form a new, strong government to cope with the spreading crisis which was heightened by the calling of a meeting here tonight of the executive body of the General Confederation of Labor of the Paris region to debate calling of a general strike.

The Communist-dominated General confederation of Labor has ordered unions to demand a 3,800-franc ($31) increase in the minimum monthly wage and 25 per cent salary advances pending negotiations. The minimum wage is now 7,000 francs ($58).

114,000 Miners Walk Out

As a result:

114,000 coal miners in the northern fields walked out.

Employes in the Renault, Hotchkiss, Panhard, Citroen and Ford automobile factories and the Gnome-Rhone truck plant went on strike.

Paris school teachers decided to strike Friday whether the government accepted their demands for salary advances or not. Other civil servants decided to await the government's answer.

A strike decision was debated in maritime union locals in the nation's ports. One national maritime strike was settled only a few weeks ago.

Reynaud Meets Objection

Paul Reynaud, former wartime premier representing rightest non-De Gaullist elements, was reported to have encountered strong Socialist objection to any government he might form. Ramadier thereupon took over negotiations for a new Cabinet by conferring with his Socialist parliamentary group and executive committee and then with Reynaud. He also saw the Socialist veteran, Leon Blum.

The possibilities of a new government were now believed to center about a broadening of the Ramadier cabinet to take in former Premier Blum and Reynaud, or the formation of a government headed by Blum in which both Ramadier and Reynaud would serve as vice-premiers.

Navy Planes Collide; Two Pilots Are Killed

CHARLESTOWN, R. I., Nov. 18—(INS)—Two Navy fighter pilots were killed today when their Bearcat F8Fs collided in mid-air and plummeted in flames into the sea three miles south of Block Island.

The Navy identified the victims as Lt. Comdr. Minaud F. Jennings, 32, Westerly, flight squadron leader; and Lt. Comdr. Marshall J. Lyttle, 26, Saginaw, Mich., executive officer.

Navy and Coast Guard air and sea rescue units searched the area, marked by an oil slick but failed to find any trace of the bodies.

Bodies Of Six Airmen Removed From Peak

DANVILLE, Ark., Nov. 18—(AP)—Six charred and crushed bodies of Army airmen were brought to a funeral home here today from Arkansas' highest peak, Mt. Magazine, where a B-25 crashed and burned last night during a heavy rainstorm.

Maj. N. R. Johnson, flying safety officer at Barksdale Field, La., expressed belief the plane, bound from Chicago to Barksdale on an administration hop, might have escaped tragedy had it been flying 75 feet higher. Wreckage of the two-engined bomber was scattered over a 75-square-yard area.

Vishinsky Quote: USSR Plans "World Conquest"

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18 (AP) — A Baltimore surgeon who served with the Allied Control Commission in the Balkans today quoted Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, as having said last year Russia aims at "conquest of the world".

Dr. Richard T. Shackelford told the Baltimore Rotary Club in an address he heard Vishinsky make the statement to Romanian army officers in a speech in Romania.

"I happened to be invited to the dinner," the doctor said, "and I saw Vishinsky stand up with that sarcastic smile of his. He said:

"I want you Romanians to know that the Russian people are your friends. Romania will go shoulder to shoulder with us in the conquest of the world."

Cowboy Star Roy Rogers To Mary Leading Lady

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (AP) — Cowboy Actor Roy Rogers and his leading lady, Dale Evans, announced today they will be married New Year's Eve.

It will be a quiet ceremony with only members of their immediate families present, and the place has not been selected.

Rogers' first wife, Grace, died more than a year ago after the birth of a son, Roy, Jr. He also has two other children, Cheyrl, eight, and Linda Lou, four.

Jerusalem Gunfire

JERUSALEM, Nov. 18 (AP)—Scattered firing broke out tonight near Mamillah Cemetery and was returned by guards in front of the United States Consulate. An official press release said there were no casualties.

Two Begin Life Sentences For Orgy Of Lust, Murder

Judge Sorry Wis. Law Bans Hanging

WAUPUN, Wis., Nov. 18 (AP)—Two young ex-convicts entered Waupun State Prison shortly after 5 p. m. today to begin life sentences, climaxing a four-day manhunt which grew out of a night-long orgy of lust and murder.

Deputy Warden R. J. Stoffel said he had not yet studied the men's commitments, but added that on a straight life sentence in Wisconsin, a prisoner is elegible for parole after serving 11 years and three months of his sentence.

At Madison, Wis., Buford Sennett, 22, and Robert Winslow, 24, who gave up last night after a 12-hour siege in a backwoods barn, heard Superior Judge Roy Proctor say he wished he might order them hanged, as he pronounced life sentences on both. Wisconsin does not have capital punishment.

Pleaded Guilty To Murder

The two had pleaded guilty to charges of first degree murder in the hitch-hike slaying Friday night of Carl Carlson, 25-year old father and University of Wisconsin medical student. They also admitted raping Carlson's sister-in-law but were not charged in this connection.

Carlson's body was recovered this morning at their direction, the warrants were issued, hearing was waived so guilty pleas could be entered and sentence pronounced.

Carlson, a Navy veteran, called for his sister-in-law, Janet Ann Rosenblatt, 19, Cleveland Heights, O., a student at the University of Michigan, at the depot last Friday night when she arrived in Madison to attend the Michigan-Wisconsin football game. They missed a bus and were hitch-hiking to Carlson's home at Badger Village when they were picked up by Sennett and Winslow.

Shot In Back Of Head

The girl told authorities in a statement later confirmed by both men, that Carlson was shot in the back of the head. His body was placed in the trunk and both men then raped her. Carlson's body was weighted with a stone and dumped into a tributary of the Wisconsin River.

The car became mired and the her up identified one of the men as up identified one of the men as they fled on foot.

Judge Proctor told the youths that never in the state's history "has there ever been a more cold-blooded, cruel and inhuman crime committed than this one which has been perpetrated by you two ruffians."

Sewers Give Up Body Of Girl Who Fell In Manhole

SEATTLE, Nov. 18—(AP)—After floating through miles of city sewers, the body of a 5-year-old girl who fell into a manhole last night was found this afternoon near shore in Puget Sound.

The body was discovered by Battalion Chief James Carey, of the Fire Department, Chief William Fitzgerald announced, in the water at Shilshole Bay, between Fort Lawton and the sound entrance of the Lake Washington ship canal. The little victim of the freak tragedy had been walking between her father and an aunt in a rainstorm.

The child was Sherron Rothrock, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rothrock.

Agreement Ends Newark "Battle"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The "Battle of Newark Bay" ended tonight with agreement among the feuding city officials and a salvage company, and the city called off its "embattled" fireboats.

Undersecretary of the Navy W. John Kenney announced settlement of the widely-publicized dispute over scrapping the old battleship New Mexico on Newark's waterfront.

And Mayor Vincent Murphy, of Newark, said he was demobilizing the fireboats, which have been valiantly blocking the channel to the scrapping yard with their brass water nozzles for the past week.

The objection was that the scrapping operations would delay the planned development of Newark's waterfront.

Under the agreement, Morris E. Lipsett, salvage operator, will scrap three battleships over the next nine months at Port Newark.

The Port of New York Authority will begin September 1, 1948, its $11,000,000 development of the Port Newark harbor, Austin J. Tobin, executive director, announced.

The battleships to be scrapped are the New Mexico, the Idaho and the Wyoming. They will provide a total of 65,000 tons of scrap.

The New Mexico, anchored off New York harbor, will move in first thing tomorrow morning, Lipsett said.

Stassen Urges GOP Marshall Plan Support

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18 (INS)—Full Republican support of the Marshall plan, termed the "most significant long-term venture ever entered into by a great nation," was called for tonight by Harold E. Stassen, GOP presidential aspirant.

Stassen, making a swing through the "Solid South," in his nation-wide pre-convention speaking tour, told a News Orleans audience that the European recovery program is a "bi-partisan outgrowth of the failure and shortcomings of the one-party Truman doctrine" which he said "indirectly . . . clearly involves the future of all mankind."

Skeleton Identified

SANTA ANA, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP)—A coroner's jury today identified a skeleton found November 9 in a canyon near here as that of six-year-old Rochelle Gluskoter, who was kidnaped from her Los Angeles home in February, 1946. The jury was unable to determine the manner, cause or time of death.

Modified Controls Are Needed, Byrnes Asserts

ANDERSON, S. C., Nov. 18 (AP)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said here tonight some form of modified controls are needed to prevent further inflation in America.

But Byrnes emphasized: "What form these controls should take will demand the most careful consideration of Congress."

Addressing more than 300 members of Anderson's four civic clubs at a banquet at Anderson College, the former Secretary of State said the United States should without delay provide relief for suffering countries of western Europe, a move which he said "will greatly reduce the danger of Soviet aggression."

29 Dead, 20 Missing In New Zealand Fire

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Wednesday, Nov. 19 (AP) — Twenty-nine persons including a child were burned to death and 20 others were listed as missing today in a fire that swept from basement to roof of a four-story department store in 20 minutes yesterday afternoon at the height of the shopping rush.

Damage to the Ballantyne store, which covered an acre of ground and was the largest in this south island city of 135,000, was estimated at $1,600,000.

The fire, which started in the furniture section of the basement, was the worst disaster of its kind in the history of the dominion. The cause was undetermined. The dead included shoppers and two top executives of the company.

Gunmen Miss Little

GREAT MILLS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP)—Three gunmen ransacked Tavern Keeper Jack Kremer's house last night, waited until his return and held him up for jewelry valued at $2,700, then forced him to march to the nearby tavern and open its safe, from which they removed $5,000.

Green Opposes Pay Curbs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (INS)—AFL President William Green endorsed tonight the bulk of President Truman's anti-inflation program but balked at the proposed revival of wage controls.

King Offers To Raise Elizabeth's Allowance Out Of His Own Savings

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP) — King George VI today brghtened the joy of royal wedding week with an offer to increase Princess Elizabeth's $60,000 annual government allowance out of his own savings in order to avoid a "burden" on his subjects in a time of economic stress.

In a message to Parliament that evoked thunderous cheers and enriched the people's warm feelings for his family, the Sovereign said he rather than the government should put up whatever additional money the Princess and Lt. Philip Mountbatten will need after their wedding Thursday.

Court circles, newspapers and the people generally had expected the treasury would boost the princess' income and award a separate allowance to Philip out of public funds.

The happy Princess and her sailor fiance spent the day in a gay round of public and private functions in anticipation of the wedding. They entertained at a party of 2,000, attended by commoners and the nobility who crowded into St. James's Palace to see the mounting flood of wedding presents sent by well wishers all over the world.

Royal court reporters said the value of gifts received thus far was estimated officially at between £100,000 and £200,000 ($400,000 and $800,000).

Cries of "God bless you" and "good luck" greeted the handsome couple from a throng of several thousand who braved chill weather to watch Elizabeth and Philip step into the palace after a few blocks drive from Buckingham Palace.

Half Of U. S. Males Could Go To Jail On Sex Charges Some Time In Lives, Report Shows

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — A study of sex facts about white, American males, from small childhood to old age, showing that more than half of them could go to jail as sex offenders at some time in their lives, was released to the press today at Indiana University.

The study shows a great difference between what men are supposed to be doing under moral codes and American male practices.

"It is correct to say," declared Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, head of the study, in clarifying the jail rating, "that if American sex codes and laws were enforced, more than half the male population would be considered criminal and be imprisoned at some time between adolescence and old age."

But he said this statement would not be true of the American's whole lifetime. It would be a phase at one time, rather than habitual, so that at any given time half of the men would not be subjects for jail.

This study started nine years ago, and to date covers 12,000 persons, male and female, and will ultimately be carried to 100,000. The 12,000 ranged from coast to coast and north to south. They included college professors, clergymen, psychiatrists, physicians, mechanics, clerks, all degrees of education, plus those who cannot read or write. They included all religious groups and those not active in churches. They are considered accurate within three to give per cent by the authors.

The work is done by Dr. Kinsey, professor of zoology, Wardell B. Pomeroy and Clyde E. Martin, research associates and a staff. It has been supported by Indiana University, the medical division of the National Research Council and medical division of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The authors say they are offering no conclusions or criticisms, but seeking the scientific facts, and that this is a study of average every-day Americans of every sort.

Dr. Kinsey's summary of results read: "It is now clear that a child who happens to make sexual contacts, even at an early age, is quite capable of being aroused sexually, and may even respond in a fashion not fundamentally different from the sexual response of an adult.

"Of still greater importance is the fact that the child's attitudes on sexual matters may be developed before he has any actual sexual experience, and even before he has any specific information concerning sex."

Shipwrecked British Tars May Be Rescued From Barren Island Today

BOSTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—British sailors whose vessel grounded and broke in two last Saturday off the northernmost tip of Newfoundland tonight huddled miserably on barren, wind-swept Sacred Island while four rescue ships pounded through the ocean to have them from death by exposure.

The crew, variously estimated as from 30-odd to 44 in number, sought safety on the small, bleak island after their ship, the freighter Langleecrag, grounded in Belle Isle Strait, between Labrador and Newfofindland.

Weak and spluttering radio calls, picked up today by United States Coast Guard and Canadian stations, told of the men's suffering from rain and cold and pleaded pitifully for "help within 48 hours."

The two vessels nearest the marooned seamen are the freighter Empire Maccalum and the whaling ship Olaf Olsen.

The Maccalum, which was steaming in the general area of Sacred Island, was diverted from her course by orders of the RCAF search and rescue division late today. She was expected off the island about daybreak tomorrow.

The Olsen prepared to put out of St. Anthony, about 25 miles south of the marooned men, to aid in the operation.

Farther away, and not expected at the scene before Thursday, were the United States Coast Guard cutter Evergreen and a service vessel of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Heavy weather kept grounded at Argentia, 500 miles away from the stranded men, a Coast Guard plane loaded with medical supplies and food.

The spluttering radio calls told of "rain, cold and suffering" and the clearest one picked up by a Canadian station at Balle Isle asked—"Impress on authorities they must send help within 48 hours."

MARSHALL RAPS RED PROPAGANDA

Europe Facing "Red Squeeze" Dirksen Says

Republicans Launch Anti-Control Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — (AP) — Warned that Western Europe is threatened by a "Communist squeeze" within four months, congressional committees worked today on President Truman's plan for emergency aid to Italy, France and Austria.

But Republicans launched on the House floor an offensive against the President's bid for authority to bring back rationing and wage-price control, if necessary, to keep prices from climbing. The White House, meantime, said 47 out of 50 letters received favored the idea of controls.

Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) told the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which completed hearings on immediate foreign aid, that Czechoslovakia would be the victim of a "Communist squeeze" within four months unless she had United States help.

Russia "Preparing For War"

Austria, Germany, France and Italy would fall next, he said.

Dirksen, head of a House Armed Services-Appropriations group which visited Europe recently, said in a report submitted later that "the Soviet Union is feverishly preparing for a military war" and should be deprived of any United States supplies that might help her program.

Chairman Eaton (R-N.J.), of the House Foreign Affairs group, said an emergency aid bill probably would be presented early next week. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee began writing its bill today. Mr. Truman asked yesterday that $597,000,000 be appropriated for the purpose.

The Senate Appropriations Committee called meanwhile for an inventory of United States food supplies, present and future, to determine how much this country can send Europe and whether some should be purchased abroad.

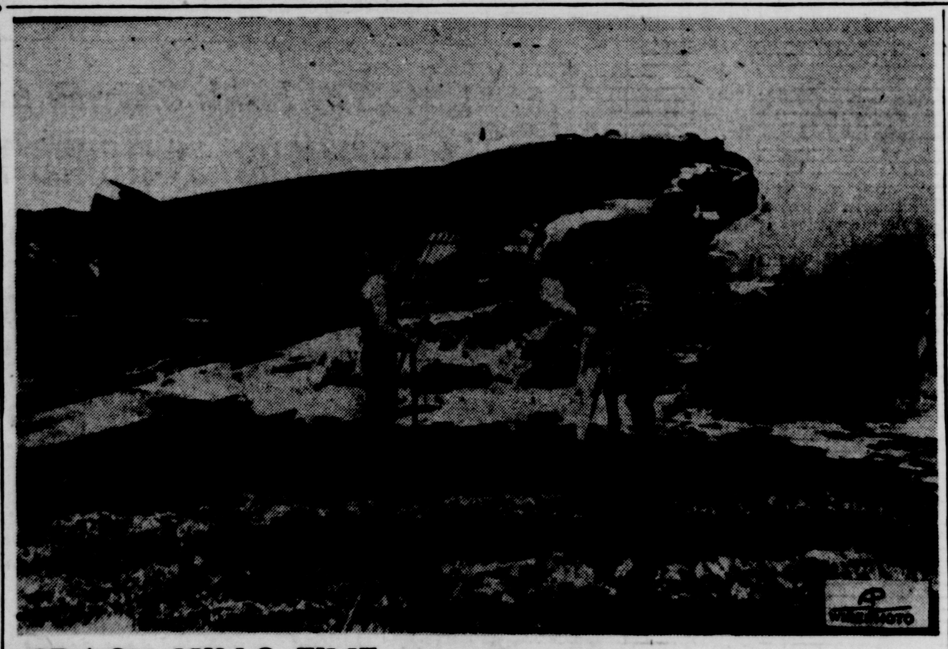

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) told reporters the committee action was unanimous, adding: "We are not going to be stampeded. We don't want to deliberately short change the American people."

Rep. Smith Blasts Program

Keynoting the GOP assault on the President's 10-point inflation program, Rep. Frederick C. Smith (R-Ohio) told the House that the proposed curbs apparently were intended "to enslave the American people."

Smith included the foreign aid program in his attack, demanding: "Is the Republican Party going to be tricked into betraying its pledge to protect the American people from regimentation, by supporting the Marshall plan?"

Supporters of the President's combined foreign aid and anti-inflation program apparently were withholding their drive to get it adopted until later in the week.

Five Die When Big Transport Crashes, Burns

TWA Ship Cracks Up At Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 18—(AP)—A Trans World Airline Constellation transport undershot the Newcastle airport after a training flight today, crashed and burned, killing all five occupants.

Barely missing the heavily-traveled four-lane du Pont Highway, the big four-engined airliner struck a ditch approaching the north-south runway and went out of control, said a TWA statement.

The landing gear buckled. One of the wings was ripped off and the ship was torn nearly in two. Flames enveloped the wreckage and burned furiously, destroying the craft before firemen could reach the scene. Wreckage was scattered over a 100-yard area.

There were no passengers on the plane. Victims were:

Capt. F. X. Winkler, 28, address unnown but father, Frank Winkler, lives in Buffalo, N. Y.; Capt. E. L. Christenson, 33, Wilmington; Capt. V. G. Kennedy, 33, Northeast, Md.; Flight Engineer Richard De Campo, 38, New Garden Hills, Long Island, N. Y., and Herbert M. Dowsett, Jr., 29, Civil Aeronautics Authority inspector, Honolulu and Compton, Md.

The plane had gone aloft at TWA's overseas base during the morning on a routine flight for training and check of instruments preparatory to operation on the airline's international division. It remained over Wilmington—five miles from the airport—for several hours and came in normally at about 1:15 p. m.

"Several eye witnesses," said TWA, "saw the plane make what appeared to be a normal approach for a landing when it was apparent that the plane's landing gear struck a ditch just at the end of the field."

Says Stability Is Threatened; Calls For Halt

Denies That U. S. Has Imperialistic Aims

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall tonight denounced Russia's "brazen and contemptuous" propaganda as a threat to world stability and said it was time to call it to a halt. "We do not propose to stand by and watch the disintegration of the international community to which we belong," Marshall declared.

Sharply denying that the United States has imperialistic aims in extending aid to Europe, he said Communistic misrepresentatons "goaded the American people into a state of active resentment."

Speaking on the eve of his departure for the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference at London, Marshall said that Russia herself is to blame for what he termed a complete change in this country's attitude toward the Soviets since Germany's surrender.

Her territorial expansion contrasts, he noted, with the voluntary reductions in area made by the United States and Britain. Russia, he charged, appears determined to prolong Europe's plight indefinitely.

Secretary Speaks Bluntly

Marshall spoke out bluntly in an address delivered to the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and the Chicago Chamber of Commerce. His references to Russia were viewed by some of his associates as aimed to make plain this country's attitude before his meeting next week with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the Big Four's fifth postwar attempt to reach agreement on a European peace settlement.

"We are aware," Marshall said, "of the seriousness and extent of the campaign being directed against us as one of the bulwarks of western civilization. We are not blind to any of the forms which this attack assumes. And we do not propose to stand by and watch the disintegration of the international community to which we belong."

Despite "provocation," Marshall said he would take an open mind to London and will seek only for a sound basis of agreement.

"I will seek to avoid statements for mere popular or propaganda effect, no matter what the provocation," he pledged.

Soviet-American differences, Marshall contended, are "not due to any direct clash between the national interests of these powers."

"It is my belief that if Europe is restored as a solvent and vigorous community, this issue will have been decided and the disturbing conflict between ourselves and the Soviets insofar as Europe is concerned will lessen."

Marshall directed his counter attack chiefly against Communist charges that the United States is following an imperialistic course seeking to aid European recovery.

Policy Is Evident

"If the United States entertained any idea of extending American influence or domination over Europe, our policy would not be directed toward ending European dependency upon this country, but toward perpetuating that relationship," he said.

"The clarity of the record and of our intentions, however, has not prevented Soviet officials and Com-

Meyers Was Paid $94,081 By Firm, Probers Are Told

Sum Included Auto And Decorating Job

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Witnesses told a Senate inquiry today that Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers received $94,081.38 in two war years from an aviation parts subcontracting firm at a time when he was an Air Force purchasing officer.

The sum included loan repayments, a blue Cadillac car with monogrammed robe, a $700 radio, a $10,000 decorating job on his "very nice" Washington apartment—and kickbacks on salaries to two officers of the company, witnesses said.

The main story came from Bieriot E. Lamarre, boyish-looking 35-year-old president of the manufacturing firm—Aviation Electric Company of Dayton, Ohio—who says the General was the actual owner of the firm.

Changed Method Of Payment

Lamarre, appearing before the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee which is inquiring into Meyers' relations with wartime contract holders, said that Meyers asked him late in 1941 to begin giving him Lamarre's salary kickbacks in cash instead of cashier's checks.

"As I recall, he (Myers) said cashier's checks are too easy to trace," Lamarre explained.

The witness says he was listed on company books in 1941 for $31,000 salary but that he received only $2,975.66 and the difference—less taxes—went to Meyers. He said the net kickback to Meyers thus was $17,972.14.

In addition, he said, an "executive salary" of $13,750 was set up in the company for his brother-in-law, Thomas Eugene Readnower, listed as a vice president. But, he added, Readnower received only $25 a week in 1941 for a total of $1,259.34, while most of the $13,750 was used to pay income taxes on Lamarre's own 1941 "executive salary," most of which had gone to Meyers.

Meyers Received $94,081.38

The total of $94,081.38 was received by Meyers from the company in 1941 and 1942, the subcommittee was told as it moved painstakingly through the company's accounts.

A committee investigator, Carmine Bellino, summed up the 1941 figure at $67,303.48, broken down as follows:

Loans paid to the General $34,810.24; "executive salary" $17,972.14; apartment decoration $10,000; air conditioning units for apartment, $825.40; Cadillac automobile $2,995.70, and radio $700.

Lamarre said $26,777.90 was paid in 1942 to himself and Readnower, then turned over to Meyers.

Earthquake Felt In Los Angeles; Buildings Sway

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 — A gently rocking, moderately severe earthquake was felt in Los Angeles and along the northern seacoast of Southern California today. There were no immediate reports of damage.

Dr. Charles F. Richter, of California Institute of Technology, described it as "good sized local shock." He timed it at 1:59 p. m. (Pacific Standard Time) (4:59 p. m. EST.)

It was felt in the beach cities of Santa Barbara, Redondo Beach and Hermosa Beach, but apparently did not extend south or east. It escaped unnoticed in San Bernardino, Santa Ana and Long Beach.

Downtown Los Angeles buildings, including the towering City Hall, swayed noticeably. Dr. Richter said the center of the disturbance probably was nearby, but could not be quickly fixed.

Argentina Denies It's Axis Remnant

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Yugoslavia and White Russia, two members of the Soviet bloc in the United Nations, denounced Argentina today as a "supporter of the last vestige of the Rome-Berlin axis." Argentina replied with a denial.

The exchange came during hot debate in the United Nations Assembly's 57-member Political Committee over a United States proposal that the recently-approved year-around "Little Assembly" should study the big power veto issue and report to the 1948 Assembly.

On the Palestine question, the remaining major item before the Assembly on which the delegates hope to obtain action, a nine-power group approved a division of Jerusalem into a three-part, United Nations-ruled holy city. It would be separate from the Jewish and Arab countries envisioned in the partition plan.

The partition plan was almost ready for the special 57-nation Palestine Committee.

Dr. Jose Arce, of Argentina, who fought against any United Nations action in the Spanish case on the grounds that the United Nations could not interfere in Spain's domestic affairs, endorsed the United States position in the Political Committee. He called the veto a "cancer" and served notice he would bring it up at every Asembly until he has succeeded in "cutting" it out of the United Nations.

The entire Slav block spoke against the United States proposal but White Russia and Yugoslavia trained their fire directly on Arce. They also were among the most bitter attackers of Franco Spain in the recent Spanish debate.

French Strikes Spread To Coal, Auto Industries

General Walkout Threatens Paris

PARIS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Communist-led strikes tied up France's coal mines and most of the auto industry and threatened Paris with a general work stoppage tonight.

Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier took the lead in efforts to form a new, strong government to cope with the spreading crisis which was heightened by the calling of a meeting here tonight of the executive body of the General Confederation of Labor of the Paris region to debate calling of a general strike.

The Communist-dominated General confederation of Labor has ordered unions to demand a 3,800-franc ($31) increase in the minimum monthly wage and 25 per cent salary advances pending negotiations. The minimum wage is now 7,000 francs ($58).

114,000 Miners Walk Out

As a result:

114,000 coal miners in the northern fields walked out.

Employes in the Renault, Hotchkiss, Panhard, Citroen and Ford automobile factories and the Gnome-Rhone truck plant went on strike.

Paris school teachers decided to strike Friday whether the government accepted their demands for salary advances or not. Other civil servants decided to await the government's answer.

A strike decision was debated in maritime union locals in the nation's ports. One national maritime strike was settled only a few weeks ago.

Reynaud Meets Objection

Paul Reynaud, former wartime premier representing rightest non-De Gaullist elements, was reported to have encountered strong Socialist objection to any government he might form. Ramadier thereupon took over negotiations for a new Cabinet by conferring with his Socialist parliamentary group and executive committee and then with Reynaud. He also saw the Socialist veteran, Leon Blum.

The possibilities of a new government were now believed to center about a broadening of the Ramadier cabinet to take in former Premier Blum and Reynaud, or the formation of a government headed by Blum in which both Ramadier and Reynaud would serve as vice-premiers.

Cowboy Star Roy Rogers To Mary Leading Lady

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (AP) — Cowboy Actor Roy Rogers and his leading lady, Dale Evans, announced today they will be married New Year's Eve.

It will be a quiet ceremony with only members of their immediate families present, and the place has not been selected.

Rogers' first wife, Grace, died more than a year ago after the birth of a son, Roy, Jr. He also has two other children, Cheyrl, eight, and Linda Lou, four.

Jerusalem Gunfire

JERUSALEM, Nov. 18 (AP)—Scattered firing broke out tonight near Mamillah Cemetery and was returned by guards in front of the United States Consulate. An official press release said there were no casualties.

Navy Planes Collide; Two Pilots Are Killed

CHARLESTOWN, R. I., Nov. 18—(INS)—Two Navy fighter pilots were killed today when their Bearcat F8Fs collided in mid-air and plummeted in flames into the sea three miles south of Block Island.

The Navy identified the victims as Lt. Comdr. Minaud F. Jennings, 32, Westerly, flight squadron leader; and Lt. Comdr. Marshall J. Lyttle, 26, Saginaw, Mich., executive officer.

Navy and Coast Guard air and sea rescue units searched the area, marked by an oil slick but failed to find any trace of the bodies.

Bodies Of Six Airmen Removed From Peak

DANVILLE, Ark., Nov. 18—(AP)—Six charred and crushed bodies of Army airmen were brought to a funeral home here today from Arkansas' highest peak, Mt. Magazine, where a B-25 crashed and burned last night during a heavy rainstorm.

Maj. N. R. Johnson, flying safety officer at Barksdale Field, La., expressed belief the plane, bound from Chicago to Barksdale on an administration hop, might have escaped tragedy had it been flying 75 feet higher. Wreckage of the two-engined bomber was scattered over a 75-square-yard area.

Vishinsky Quote: USSR Plans "World Conquest"

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18 (AP) — A Baltimore surgeon who served with the Allied Control Commission in the Balkans today quoted Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, as having said last year Russia aims at "conquest of the world".

Dr. Richard T. Shackelford told the Baltimore Rotary Club in an address he heard Vishinsky make the statement to Romanian army officers in a speech in Romania.

"I happened to be invited to the dinner," the doctor said, "and I saw Vishinsky stand up with that sarcastic smile of his. He said:

"I want you Romanians to know that the Russian people are your friends. Romania will go shoulder to shoulder with us in the conquest of the world."

Sewers Give Up Body Of Girl Who Fell In Manhole

SEATTLE, Nov. 18—(AP)—After floating through miles of city sewers, the body of a 5-year-old girl who fell into a manhole last night was found this afternoon near shore in Puget Sound.

The body was discovered by Battalion Chief James Carey, of the Fire Department, Chief William Fitzgerald announced, in the water at Shilshole Bay, between Fort Lawton and the sound entrance of the Lake Washington ship canal. The little victim of the freak tragedy had been walking between her father and an aunt in a rainstorm.

The child was Sherron Rothrock, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rothrock.

Agreement Ends Newark "Battle"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The "Battle of Newark Bay" ended tonight with agreement among the feuding city officials and a salvage company, and the city called off its "embattled" fireboats.

Undersecretary of the Navy W. John Kenney announced settlement of the widely-publicized dispute over scrapping the old battleship New Mexico on Newark's waterfront.

And Mayor Vincent Murphy, of Newark, said he was demobilizing the fireboats, which have been valiantly blocking the channel to the scrapping yard with their brass water nozzles for the past week.

The objection was that the scrapping operations would delay the planned development of Newark's waterfront.

Under the agreement, Morris E. Lipsett, salvage operator, will scrap three battleships over the next nine months at Port Newark.

The Port of New York Authority will begin September 1, 1948, its $11,000,000 development of the Port Newark harbor, Austin J. Tobin, executive director, announced.

The battleships to be scrapped are the New Mexico, the Idaho and the Wyoming. They will provide a total of 65,000 tons of scrap.

The New Mexico, anchored off New York harbor, will move in first thing tomorrow morning, Lipsett said.

Stassen Urges GOP Marshall Plan Support

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18 (INS)—Full Republican support of the Marshall plan, termed the "most significant long-term venture ever entered into by a great nation," was called for tonight by Harold E. Stassen, GOP presidential aspirant.

Stassen, making a swing through the "Solid South," in his nationwide pre-convention speaking tour, told a News Orleans audience that the European recovery program is a "bi-partisan outgrowth of the failure and shortcomings of the one-party Truman doctrine" which he said "indirectly . . . clearly involves the future of all mankind."

Two Begin Life Sentences For Orgy Of Lust, Murder

Judge Sorry Wis. Law Bans Hanging

WAUPUN, Wis., Nov. 18 (AP)—Two young ex-convicts entered Waupun State Prison shortly after 5 p. m. today to begin life sentences, climaxing a four-day manhunt which grew out of a night-long orgy of lust and murder.

Deputy Warden R. J. Stoffel said he had not yet studied the men's commitments, but added that on a straight life sentence in Wisconsin, a prisoner is elegible for parole after serving 11 years and three months of his sentence.

At Madison, Wis., Buford Sennett, 22, and Robert Winslow, 24, who gave up last night after a 12-hour siege in a backwoods barn, heard Superior Judge Roy Proctor say he wished he might order them hanged, as he pronounced life sentences on both. Wisconsin does not have capital punishment.

Pleaded Guilty To Murder

The two had pleaded guilty to charges of first degree murder in the hitch-hike slaying Friday night of Carl Carlson, 25-year old father and University of Wisconsin medical student. They also admitted raping Carlson's sister-in-law but were not charged in this connection.

Carlson's body was recovered this morning at their direction, the warrants were issued, hearing was waived so guilty pleas could be entered and sentence pronounced.

Carlson, a Navy veteran, called for his sister-in-law, Janet Ann Rosenblatt, 19, Cleveland Heights, O., a student at the University of Michigan, at the depot last Friday night when she arrived in Madison to attend the Michigan-Wisconsin football game. They missed a bus and were hitch-hiking to Carlson's home at Badger Village when they were picked up by Sennett and Winslow.

Shot In Back Of Head

The girl told authorities in a statement later confirmed by both men, that Carlson was shot in the back of the head. His body was placed in the trunk and both men then raped her. Carlson's body was weighted with a stone and dumped into a tributary of the Wisconsin River.

The car became mired and the her up identified one of the men as up identified one of the men as they fled on foot.

Judge Proctor told the youths that never in the state's history "has there ever been a more cold-blooded, cruel and inhuman crime committed than this one which has been perpetrated by you two ruffians."

Skeleton Identified

SANTA ANA, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP)—A coroner's jury today identified a skeleton found November 9 in a canyon near here as that of six-year-old Rochelle Gluskoter, who was kidnaped from her Los Angeles home in February, 1946. The jury was unable to determine the manner, cause or time of death.

Modified Controls Are Needed, Byrnes Asserts

ANDERSON, S. C., Nov. 18 (AP)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said here tonight some form of modified controls are needed to prevent further inflation in America.

But Byrnes emphasized: "What form these controls should take will demand the most careful consideration of Congress."

Addressing more than 300 members of Anderson's four civic clubs at a banquet at Anderson College, the former Secretary of State said the United States should without delay provide relief for suffering countries of western Europe, a move which he said "will greatly reduce the danger of Soviet aggression."

29 Dead, 20 Missing In New Zealand Fire

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Wednesday, Nov. 19 (AP) — Twenty-nine persons including a child were burned to death and 20 others were listed as missing today in a fire that swept from basement to roof of a four-story department store in 20 minutes yesterday afternoon at the height of the shopping rush.

Damage to the Ballantyne store, which covered an acre of ground and was the largest in this south island city of 135,000, was estimated at $1,600,000.

The fire, which started in the furniture section of the basement, was the worst disaster of its kind in the history of the dominion. The cause was undetermined. The dead included shoppers and two top executives of the company.

Gunmen Miss Little

GREAT MILLS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP)—Three gunmen ransacked Tavern Keeper Jack Kremer's house last night, waited until his return and held him up for jewelry valued at $2,700, then forced him to march to the nearby tavern and open its safe, from which they removed $5,000.

Green Opposes Pay Curbs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (INS)—AFL President William Green endorsed tonight the bulk of President Truman's anti-inflation program but balked at the proposed revival of wage controls.

King Offers To Raise Elizabeth's Allowance Out Of His Own Savings

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP) — King George VI today brghtened the joy of royal wedding week with an offer to increase Princess Elizabeth's $60,000 annual government allowance out of his own savings in order to avoid a "burden" on his subjects in a time of economic stress.

In a message to Parliament that evoked thunderous cheers and enriched the people's warm feelings for his family, the Sovereign said he rather than the government should put up whatever additional money the Princess and Lt. Philip Mountbatten will need after their wedding Thursday.

Court circles, newspapers and the people generally had expected the treasury would boost the princess' income and award a separate allowance to Philip out of public funds.

The happy Princess and her sailor fiance spent the day in a gay round of public and private functions in anticipation of the wedding. They entertained at a party of 2,000, attended by commoners and the nobility who crowded into St. James's Palace to see the mounting flood of wedding presents sent by well wishers all over the world.

Royal court reporters said the value of gifts received thus far was estimated officially at between £100,000 and £200,000 ($400,000 and $800,000).

Cries of "God bless you" and "good luck" greeted the handsome couple from a throng of several thousand who braved chill weather to watch Elizabeth and Philip step into the palace after a few blocks drive from Buckingham Palace.

Half Of U. S. Males Could Go To Jail On Sex Charges Some Time In Lives, Report Shows

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — A study of sex facts about white, American males, from small childhood to old age, showing that more than half of them could go to jail as sex offenders at some time in their lives, was released to the press today at Indiana University.

The study shows a great difference between what men are supposed to be doing under moral codes and American male practices.

"It is correct to say," declared Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, head of the study, in clarifying the jail rating, "that if American sex codes and laws were enforced, more than half the male population would be considered criminal and be imprisoned at some time between adolescence and old age."

But he said this statement would not be true of the American's whole lifetime. It would be a phase at one time, rather than habitual, so that at any given time half of the men would not be subjects for jail.

This study started nine years ago, and to date covers 12,000 persons, male and female, and will ultimately be carried to 100,000. The 12,000 ranged from coast to coast and north to south. They included college professors, clergymen, psychiatrists, physicians, mechanics, clerks, all degrees of education, plus those who cannot read or write. They included all religious groups and those not active in churches. They are considered accurate within three to give per cent by the authors.

The work is done by Dr. Kinsey, professor of zoology, Wardell B. Pomeroy and Clyde E. Martin, research associates and a staff. It has been supported by Indiana University, the medical division of the National Research Council and medical division of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The authors say they are offering no conclusions or criticisms, but seeking the scientific facts, and that this is a study of average every-day Americans of every sort.

Dr. Kinsey's summary of results read: "It is now clear that a child who happens to make sexual contacts, even at an early age, is quite capable of being aroused sexually, and may even respond in a fashion not fundamentally different from the sexual response of an adult.

"Of still greater importance is the fact that the child's attitudes on sexual matters may be developed before he has any actual sexual experience, and even before he has any specific information concerning sex."

Shipwrecked British Tars May Be Rescued From Barren Island Today

BOSTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—British sailors whose vessel grounded and broke in two last Saturday off the northernmost tip of Newfoundland tonight huddled miserably on barren, wind-swept Sacred Island while four rescue ships pounded through the ocean to have them from death by exposure.

The crew, variously estimated as from 30-odd to 44 in number, sought safety on the small, bleak island after their ship, the freighter Langleecrag, grounded in Belle Isle Strait, between Labrador and Newfoundland.

Weak and spluttering radio calls, picked up today by United States Coast Guard and Canadian stations, told of the men's suffering from rain and cold and pleaded pitifully for "help within 48 hours."

The two vessels nearest the marooned seamen are the freighter Empire Maccalum and the whaling ship Olaf Olsen.

The Maccalum, which was steaming in the general area of Sacred Island, was diverted from her course by orders of the RCAF search and rescue division late today. She was expected off the island about daybreak tomorrow.

The Olsen prepared to put out of St. Anthony, about 25 miles south of the marooned men, to aid in the operation.

Farther away, and not expected at the scene before Thursday, were the United States Coast Guard cutter Evergreen and a service vessel of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Heavy weather kept grounded at Argentia, 500 miles away from the stranded men, a Coast Guard plane loaded with medical supplies and food.

The spluttering radio calls told of "rain, cold and suffering" and the clearest one picked up by a Canadian station at Balle Isle asked—"Impress on authorities they must send help within 48 hours."

Friendship Train Hailed By Austin

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, permanent United States delegate to the United Nations, hailed the 270-car Friendship Train as an example of "peacemongering" today after the train completed its historic run across the United States.

Bearing gifts of food from America destined mainly for the hungry of France and Italy, the train was welcomed at a celebration which included a parade up Broadway and a ceremony at City Hall where Austin and Mayor William O'Dwyer were among the speakers.

Thirty-three flag-draped cars of the train were placed on floats and taken for a symbolic "review" past the Statue of Liberty, a gift to the American people from France.

Starting 10 days ago in Los Angeles with 12 cars, the train grew until it was split into three sections. Its sponsors estimated that it totaled 270 cars after arrival in New York today, counting about 35 carloads of food donated by New York. They estimated the train carried more than $1,000,000 worth of food. Gifts were continuing to arrive from many cities.

Packing of the food for shipment is to begin at once. It will be transported free by American Export Lines and United States Lines, with December 24 fixed as the arrival date for France and New Year's Day for Italy. A token shipment is being flown to France to arrive by Thanksgiving Day.

Biggest Telescope Lens Nears Its Destination

OCEANSIDE, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP)—The world's biggest telescope mirror neared its destination on Mount Palomar today, after a secretive, winding journey from Pasadena.

The 200-inch lens, carefully crated, wrapped in aluminum foil to prevent damage from temperature changes, balanced on sponge rubber and a specially-strengthened 16-wheel trailer for the unprecedented journey, passed through here this afternoon and headed inland. After a night's stop at Escondido, the haul up the twisting mountain road will be under way at dawn.

California Institute of Technology has been grinding the mammoth mirror since 1936, when it was received from Corning, N. Y.

CIO To Determine Policy On President's Program

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray said tonight he was calling a meeting of CIO vice presidents in Washington December 2 "to determine CIO policy on the whole subject matter of the President's message to Congress."

The CIO and the United Steel Worker head made the announcement at a press conference following a meeting of the steel workers' 41-man policy-making executive board.

Child Raped And Slain, Body Tossed Into Cave

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Nov. 18—(AP) — Five-year-old Miretta Jones was raped before she was bludgeoned to death with a rock and a shovel and her body thrown inside a cave, an autopsy surgeon reported today.

Sheriff John E. Loustalot, ordering a roundup of all known sex offenders in Kern County, said the blood-stained rock and shovel were found near the cave, only four blocks from the home of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Earl Jones.

WEST VIRGINIA and WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA—Cloudy and rather cold with snow flurries likely today. Tomorrow continued cloudy and cold.

CRASH-LANDS—The experimental flying automobile, shown above on its first successful test flight at San Diego, Calif., ran out of fuel on another test hop yesterday and crash-landed, resulting in injuries to its two occupants. The thirty-four-and-a-half-foot wing can be quickly detached from the auto.

Flying Auto Runs Out Of Gasoline And Crash-lands

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 18—(AP)—Consolidated Vultee's experimental flying automobile ran out of fuel on a test flight today and crash-landed in mud flats near San Diego Bay, resulting in injuries to its two occupants.

The pilot, Reuben P. Snodgrass, 28, escaped with minor bruises. Lawrence G. Phillips, 32, flight engineer, suffered a fractured right shoulder.

A Convair spokesman said the craft ran out of gas during engine calibration tests, requiring a forced landing at the foot of D Street in suburban Chula Vista. The company said the crash will delay further experimental work for several weeks.

"Royal Nuptial" Cocktail

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's wedding on Thursday already heralded in a commemorative poem by Britain's Poet Laureate, has now received the accolade of a special "royal nuptial" cocktail to be featured by a nation-wide hotel chain.

A formidable description of the drink classes it as "marriage of two-thirds of Scotch whisky, one-third Greek vermouth, and two dashes of uzo liquer, a Greek-absinthe drink, with a piece of lemon peel twisted in the shape of a British lion's tail."

A HOUSEKEEEPER and part-time seamstress, Mrs. Louis Guerrierri, of Washington, D. C., puts finishing touches on the dress she will wear at the wedding in London of Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten. She received the invitation after making and sending a dress to the Princess. A newspaper in Washington arranged to fly her to England. (International)

Former Mrs. Damon Runyon And Her Husband Held Up, Robbed By Gunmen

DARTMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 18 (AP)—Three gunmen wielding blackjacks, tonight held up Mr. and Mrs. Richard N. Coffin—she is the former Mrs. Damon Runyon—forced them to open a safe in their home and fled with jewels valued by police at $200,000.

The police report said the couple returned home late at night and were ambushed as they entered their front door.

One of the men slugged Coffin, the report added. The trio then held a gun at Mrs. Coffin's back and forced her to open their wall safe.

Two shots were reported to have been fired but first reports indicated no one was hit.

The men then made Coffin show them how to operate his new, expensive automobile, in which they fled.

Coffin was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in New Bedford, suffering scalp lacerations and a possible fractured skull.

The Coffin home is located at the end of Mischuan Point in South Dartmouth.

Coffin married the former Mrs. Runyon in August, 1946.

She had been divorced from her famed newspaperman-husband who died several months ago.

State and local police threw a cordon for several miles around the town, which is located near new Bedford.

Skeleton Believed That Of Missing Salesman

BLAND, Va., Nov. 18 (AP) — An optometrist's report tonight seemed to establish conclusively that a skeleton found in an isolated Bland County woods is that of a Grundy salesman who disappeared three years ago.

Dr. William Greenspon, Bluefield, W. Va., said glasses found with the skeleton discovered by hunters yesterday coincided in lens prescription and every other detail with a pair sold to Samuel J. Breeding, missing since September 26, 1944.

Sheriff W. M. Price said a skull with what appeared to be a bullet hole in it was found today about a dozen feet from where two Richlands deer hunters, William A. Bounds and Paul Shook, discovered the remainder of the skeleton yesterday.

Sulfur constitutes about 5 percent of human hair and is particularly abundant in red hair.

Lambs born to sheep which have not had enough iodine have a high death rate.

Italian Disorders Claim Two Lives

ROME, Nov. 18 (AP) — Two persons were killed and eight wounded today in a three-hour battle between police and more than a thousand strikers in Bari, dispatches said tonight. Elsewhere in Italy there were other reports of leftist-inspired disorders.

Ansa news agency said that Premier Alcide De Gasperi, determined not to be driven from power by the disorders, had ordered mechanized troops and police into Puglia, in the Italian heel, to quash violence. Infantry troops were reported sent to Corato near Bari where the headquarters of the Uoma Qualunque (common man) movement was fired.

The fighting in Bari occurred when police tried to take down a roadblock. They were attacked by strikers carrying sub-machine guns and hand grenades, dispatches said.

Reports to Rome newspapers said a general strike had been declared on the island of Sardinia. Other dispatches told of clashes in Leghorn and near Venice between police and unemployed. In both Rome and Milan, electric power was threatened by strikes.

Farmer Shoots At Hunter; Shotgun Deflects Bullet

ESSEX, Md., Nov. 18 (AP)—Walter O. Sevier, 18, told a police magistrate tonight a 61-year-old farmer fired a rifle at him and the bullet was deflected by the barrel of a shotgun he was holding across his chest.

The farmer, Antol Menthvargo, was held in $1,000 bail for grand jury action on a charge of assaulting and shooting at Sevier with intent to kill.

Sevier testified he and his brother were hunting with a dog in woodland near Essex when he heard a twig crack and looked up to see Menthvargo about 25 yards away pointing a rifle at him.

He told Magistrate T. Frank Martin the farmer fired and the bullet struck the barrel of the shotgun.

Sevier said he had obtained permission to hunt on property adjoining Menthvargo's and that he and his brother "might have crossed over" unwittingly onto the defendant's land.

Czech Miners Form A Flying Club

OSTRAVA, Czechoslovakia—(AP)—An airplane club for miners, believed to be the first of its kind in the world, is to be started at Ostrava. The club which will encourage miners to learn to fly will come into existence on Jan. 1.

The management of the local mines and the workers council have donated the money necessary for the purchase of four training planes.

Gargantua And Toto To Adopt Baby Gorilla

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 18 (AP) — Gargantua and Toto, most highly-publicized gorillas in the country, are going to adopt a baby.

John Ringling North, president of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey combined circus, said today the show's two prize anthropoids had had no offspring in the seven years they have been together and would "adopt" a baby gorilla from the Belgian Congo.

Gargantua came to the circus in the winter of 1937 and Toto arrived four years later from Cuba, where he had been raised from babyhood.

Actress Discarded Him, Ex-Manager Says

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (AP) — Pretty Madge Meredith, after two starring movie roles at $500 a week, decided to discard him for an agent, her ex-manager testified today at her trial on kidnap and assault charges.

Nick Giancalis, who claims he was slugged by three men after the actress enticed him to a rendezvous in the Hollywood hills, told the jury of 11 women and one man that he guided her from a restaurant waitress to the screen and, after she starred in RKO's "Child of Divorce" and "Trail Street," had a featured part in "The Falcon's Adventure," all at $500 weekly.

Mikolajczyk Declared "Traitor" By Own Party

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Polish Peasant Party, now in the hands of leftwingers, formally declared Stanislaw Mikolajczyk a "traitor" and joined pro-Communist parties today in opposition to what was called "Anglo-Saxon imperialism."

Mikolajczyk was leader of the party until his self-exile last month. Under him, the party opposed the Moscow-sponsored government.

The party adopted resolutions pledging support to the government, thus ending the last open opposition to the regime.

The Inside Story on why...

J. A. SUMMERS* SWITCHED TO CALVERT

A WELL-LIKED sales representative, Mr. Summers knows the value of friendliness—both in business—and in whiskey. "I switched to Calvert," he says, "because it's friendlier-tasting—milder in flavor, lighter in body."

AN ARDENT GOLFER, he has a standing order at the "19th hole"—for "one light highball made with Calvert." He explains, "I'm for moderation—and I'm for Calvert. Glad I found this agreeably smoother brand."

Isn't it time you switched to Calvert—the more congenial-tasting whiskey? Calvert's good manners come from greater experience in blending mellowness, smoothness, flavor. We believe it's unmatched at anywhere near the price!

Friendship Train Hailed By Austin

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, permanent United States delegate to the United Nations, hailed the 270-car Friendship Train as an example of "peacemongering" today after the train completed its historic run across the United States.

Bearing gifts of food from America destined mainly for the hungry of France and Italy, the train was welcomed at a celebration which included a parade up Broadway and a ceremony at City Hall where Austin and Mayor William O'Dwyer were among the speakers.

Thirty-three flag-draped cars of the train were placed on floats and taken for a symbolic "review" past the Statue of Liberty, a gift to the American people from France.

Starting 10 days ago in Los Angeles with 12 cars, the train grew until it was split into three sections. Its sponsors estimated that it totaled 270 cars after arrival in New York today, counting about 35 carloads of food donated by New York. They estimated the train carried more than $1,000,000 worth of food. Gifts were continuing to arrive from many cities.

Packing of the food for shipment is to begin at once. It will be transported free by American Export Lines and United States Lines, with December 24 fixed as the arrival date for France and New Year's Day for Italy. A token shipment is being flown to France to arrive by Thanksgiving Day.

Biggest Telescope Lens Nears Its Destination

OCEANSIDE, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP)—The world's biggest telescope mirror neared its destination on Mount Palomar today, after a secretive, winding journey from Pasadena.

The 200-inch lens, carefully crated, wrapped in aluminum foil to prevent damage from temperature changes, balanced on sponge rubber and a specially-strengthened 16-wheel trailer for the unprecedented journey, passed through here this afternoon and headed inland. After a night's stop at Escondido, the haul up the twisting mountain road will be under way at dawn.

California Institute of Technology has been grinding the mammoth mirror since 1936, when it was received from Corning, N. Y.

CIO To Determine Policy On President's Program

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray said tonight he was calling a meeting of CIO vice presidents in Washington December 2 "to determine CIO policy on the whole subject matter of the President's message to Congress."

The CIO and the United Steel Worker head made the announcement at a press conference following a meeting of the steel workers' 41-man policy-making executive board.

Child Raped And Slain, Body Tossed Into Cave

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Nov. 18—(AP) — Five-year-old Miretta Jones was raped before she was bludgeoned to death with a rock and a shovel and her body thrown inside a cave, an autopsy surgeon reported today.

Sheriff John E. Loustalot, ordering a roundup of all known sex offenders in Kern County, said the blood-stained rock and shovel were found near the cave, only four blocks from the home of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Earl Jones.

munist groups elsewhere from waging with increasing venom a calculated campaign of vilification and distortion of American motives in foreign affairs. These opponents of recovery charge the United States with imperialistic designs, aggressive purposes, and finally with a desire to provoke a third world war.

"I wish to state emphatically that there is no truth whatsoever in these charges, and I add that those who make them are fully aware of this fact. x x x"

Weather In Nearby States

WEST VIRGINIA and WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA—Cloudy and rather cold with snow flurries likely today. Tomorrow continued cloudy and cold.

CRASH-LANDS—The experimental flying automobile, shown above on its first successful test flight at San Diego, Calif., ran out of fuel on another test hop yesterday and crash-landed, resulting in injuries to its two occupants. The thirty-four-and-a-half-foot wing can be quickly detached from the auto.

Flying Auto Runs Out Of Gasoline And Crash-lands

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 18—(AP)—Consolidated Vultee's experimental flying automobile ran out of fuel on a test flight today and crash-landed in mud flats near San Diego Bay, resulting in injuries to its two occupants.

The pilot, Reuben P. Snodgrass, 28, escaped with minor bruises. Lawrence G. Phillips, 32, flight engineer, suffered a fractured right shoulder.

A Convair spokesman said the craft ran out of gas during engine calibration tests, requiring a forced landing at the foot of D Street in suburban Chula Vista. The company said the crash will delay further experimental work for several weeks.

"Royal Nuptial" Cocktail

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's wedding on Thursday already heralded in a commemorative poem by Britain's Poet Laureate, has now received the accolade of a special "royal nuptial" cocktail to be featured by a nation-wide hotel chain.

A formidable description of the drink classes it as "marriage of two-thirds of Scotch whisky, one-third Greek vermouth, and two dashes of uzo liquer, a Greek-absinthe drink, with a piece of lemon peel twisted in the shape of a British lion's tail."

A HOUSEKEEEPER and part-time seamstress, Mrs. Louis Guerrierri, of Washington, D. C., puts finishing touches on the dress she will wear at the wedding in London of Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten. She received the invitation after making and sending a dress to the Princess. A newspaper in Washington arranged to fly her to England. (International)

Former Mrs. Damon Runyon And Her Husband Held Up, Robbed By Gunmen

DARTMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 18 (AP)—Three gunmen wielding blackjacks, tonight held up Mr. and Mrs. Richard N. Coffin—she is the former Mrs. Damon Runyon—forced them to open a safe in their home and fled with jewels valued by police at $200,000.

The police report said the couple returned home late at night and were ambushed as they entered their front door.

One of the men slugged Coffin, the report added. The trio then held a gun at Mrs. Coffin's back and forced her to open their wall safe.

Two shots were reported to have been fired but first reports indicated no one was hit.

The men then made Coffin show them how to operate his new, expensive automobile, in which they fled.

Coffin was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in New Bedford, suffering scalp lacerations and a possible fractured skull.

The Coffin home is located at the end of Mischuan Point in South Dartmouth.

Coffin married the former Mrs. Runyon in August, 1946.

She had been divorced from her famed newspaperman-husband who died several months ago.

State and local police threw a cordon for several miles around the town, which is located near new Bedford.

Skeleton Believed That Of Missing Salesman

BLAND, Va., Nov. 18 (AP) — An optometrist's report tonight seemed to establish conclusively that a skeleton found in an isolated Bland County woods is that of a Grundy salesman who disappeared three years ago.

Dr. William Greenspon, Bluefield, W. Va., said glasses found with the skeleton discovered by hunters yesterday coincided in lens prescription and every other detail with a pair sold to Samuel J. Breeding, missing since September 26, 1944.

Sheriff W. M. Price said a skull with what appeared to be a bullet hole in it was found today about a dozen feet from where two Richlands deer hunters, William A. Bounds and Paul Shook, discovered the remainder of the skeleton yesterday.

Sulfur constitutes about 5 percent of human hair and is particularly abundant in red hair.

Lambs born to sheep which have not had enough iodine have a high death rate.

Italian Disorders Claim Two Lives

ROME, Nov. 18 (AP) — Two persons were killed and eight wounded today in a three-hour battle between police and more than a thousand strikers in Bari, dispatches said tonight. Elsewhere in Italy there were other reports of leftist-inspired disorders.

Ansa news agency said that Premier Alcide De Gasperi, determined not to be driven from power by the disorders, had ordered mechanized troops and police into Puglia, in the Italian heel, to quash violence. Infantry troops were reported sent to Corato near Bari where the headquarters of the Uoma Qualunque (common man) movement was fired.

The fighting in Bari occurred when police tried to take down a roadblock. They were attacked by strikers carrying sub-machine guns and hand grenades, dispatches said.

Reports to Rome newspapers said a general strike had been declared on the island of Sardinia. Other dispatches told of clashes in Leghorn and near Venice between police and unemployed. In both Rome and Milan, electric power was threatened by strikes.

Farmer Shoots At Hunter; Shotgun Deflects Bullet

ESSEX, Md., Nov. 18 (AP)—Walter O. Sevier, 18, told a police magistrate tonight a 61-year-old farmer fired a rifle at him and the bullet was deflected by the barrel of a shotgun he was holding across his chest.

The farmer, Antol Menthvargo, was held in $1,000 bail for grand jury action on a charge of assaulting and shooting at Sevier with intent to kill.

Sevier testified he and his brother were hunting with a dog in woodland near Essex when he heard a twig crack and looked up to see Menthvargo about 25 yards away pointing a rifle at him.

He told Magistrate T. Frank Martin the farmer fired and the bullet struck the barrel of the shotgun.

Sevier said he had obtained permission to hunt on property adjoining Menthvargo's and that he and his brother "might have crossed over" unwittingly onto the defendant's land.

Czech Miners Form A Flying Club

OSTRAVA, Czechoslovakia—(AP)—An airplane club for miners, believed to be the first of its kind in the world, is to be started at Ostrava. The club which will encourage miners to learn to fly will come into existance on Jan. 1.

The management of the local mines and the workers council have donated the money necessary for the purchase of four training planes.

Truman Would Revive Police State He Condemned

The Truman Administration, and the New Deal it inherited, put us in the mess we find ourselves today, and it can't get us out of it—and that's for sure!

President Truman made some dramatic gestures of going to try when he proposed a ten-point anti-inflation program to Congress Monday, but his inconsistencies have just about destroyed all the confidence the country might have in his ability to do so.

In his message to the special session of the Congress, Mr. Truman asked that he be rearmed with certain powers to reinstate some price controls and rationing—to be used whenever he deems it advisable. His call for such authority comes within a month after he had damned such meddling as "police state" tactics. By what other name can one call the program he now proposes?

But, as Senator Robert A. Taft declared in a radio address within a few hours after hearing Mr. Truman's message, the placing of such authority in the Chief Executive's hands would be the first step toward totalitarianism, socialized government and planned economy. The American people want no part of it, and we cannot believe the Congress will grant any such authority.

Mr. Truman appeared before the Congress not only as President but as Candidate Truman, and in replying to him Mr. Taft appeared, not only a Senator, but as Candidate Taft, which placed them on even footing to meet this issue head-on.

The candor with which Mr. Taft met it must be admired. Most people will agree with him that the return to wartime restrictions—even limited ones—will "mean the setting up of a federal bureau with literally hundreds of thousands of employes, and agents prying into the daily lives of the housewife, and the restaurants and every kind of control over business." And this at a time when a Republican Congress is endeavoring to cut governmental expenses and reduce taxes.

Mr. Truman has no right, as Senator Taft pointed out, either to expect or to receive the authority "to determine what are vital commodities and whether they affect the cost of living."

We cannot have increased production—the one thing that would bring an end to this inflationary threat—if production is to be choked by such restrictions Mr. Truman seeks to invoke. We need look nowhere but to England to see the results of such practices.

In addition to his demand for authority to place us back on OPA, Mr. Truman seeks the right to extend rent and export controls, restore restrictions on installment buying, curb bank loans deemed to be inflationary, and give the Department of Agriculture new authority to "encourage" and "induce" farmers and livestock growers to use grain more efficiently and step up production so that U. S. food shipments to other countries—now of enormous volume—can be increased. Mr. Truman further stated that if he should find price controls necessary they would also have to be applied to wages.

It is, of course, possible for Congress to make a choice of discontinued wartime curbs for reinstatement. Among them could possibly be rent control, installment buying restrictions and bank loans of an inflationary degree, to name a few, but it is unbelievable, without further proof of the necessity, that even a limited OPA will be voted Mr. Truman.

Mr. Truman's demand for this unhampered authority which would bring a return of scarcities, queues of housewives lined up at grocery stores in search of this and that under-the-counter food item, and the black market, was made as a tie-in with his call for stop-gap aid to the tune of $597,000,000—for Europe. The American people have been over-generous in assisting their allies to regain their feet after the war, and will offer no protest to this. But there is a limit to our giving if it must be at the cost of our economic freedom.

Nope, those who got us into this mess can't get us out of it.

Nursery Veto

Little birds in their nests agree, and so do the children of bitter rivals. But what they'll do when they grow up is something else.

While the halls of the United Nations at Lake Success echo with charges and countercharges, the children of the forensic combatants are playing happily together at the International Nursery School nearby. Russians get along quite pleasantly and cooperatively with Britons, South Africans with Poles, Hindus with Moslems. The son of vituperative Vishinsky is one of the most attractive and cooperative children there.

A University of Cincinnati dean, after spending a day at the school, hinted rather broadly that a little child should lead them: The daddies of these kids should sit at their feet and learn more about cooperation from them.

One way to learn from the youngsters would be to try a little experiment. Let five of the kids be called "big powers," and let each of the five have the right to veto whatever the others decided upon. Then, after the nursery veto has been used 25 or 30 times, check up and see how much good will and cooperation remains.

Or would the kids have too much sense of fairness to use the veto? Possibly. Human nature is in the main decent until it's monkeyed with.

New And Used Car Sales

Recorder's Judge W. McKay Stillman, in Detroit, has been investigating new and used car sales since June.

In a 9,000-word report he accuses dealers of charging more than list prices for new cars and making as much as 1,000 per cent profit on the sale of used cars; charging that some new car dealers have sold to used car dealers under dummy title names; that a large part of Detroit's new car quotas have been shipped to more lucrative markets elsewhere; and that auto dealers' waiting lists are a "poor joke."

Various methods of curbing the new-used car rackets have been proposed. Some leading auto men have proposed that new cars be sold only to persons who would agree to turn them back to dealers if they wanted to re-sell within six months.

Municipal government might have to take steps to correct abuses.

The Hon. Glenn Taylor, who started to ride horseback across the nation to warn it of impending doom, quit the saddle at Phoenix and became an airborne Paul Revere.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

SUSCEPTIBILITY TO SCARLET FEVER

IMMUNIZATION against scarlet fever is optional and has not been recommended routinely. This does not detract from its value but the vaccine is more likely to produce reactions than similar substances used to protect against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough. But this is not as great a calamity as it seems since so many effective treatments are available.

The hemolytic streptococcus is responsible for the disease, invading principally the throat and tonsil region. The organism attacks with both arms swinging and is capable of dealing a double blow to susceptible individuals. With one hand it fights like any germ, bringing on all of the discomfort and damage of the ordinary strep throat.

The other hand is more deadly because the microbes are capable also of producing a toxin that has a poisonous effect on the body. The noxious material gives rise to the rash, vomiting, headache, and changes in the tongue. It also encourages the complications that follow scarlet fever so frequently. As a result, some of the victims are left with arthritis, kidney trouble, or heart disturbances.

When the battle is over an everlasting immunity to the toxin exists but not to the organism itself. This explains why repeated bouts of strep sore throat can be encountered which might be referred to as "rashless scarlet fever."

The malady is mildly contagious and it has been said than exposed individual stands one chance in 20 of developing it. Children under 10 are most likely to be attacked and spread occurs in much the same way as colds or other respiratory infections. An average of three to five days will elapse between the time of contact and the onset of symptoms.

Vomiting may be the first clew or the youngster will complain of sore throat or headache. The temperature rises suddenly and may reach 104 degrees F. within a few hours. The rash often appears the next day but in some instances is delayed. A typical blemish resembles goosefelsh and the overlying skin is flushed except for a pale circle around the mouth. If untreated the eruption fades before the fifth day and recovery therefore is rapid.

By using scarlet fever antitoxin or convalescent serum, the ailment can be brought under control quickly. The sulfonamides are helpful also and some recent studies show that penicillin alone will do the job safely and reduce the incidence of complications. The main objection to these drugs is that the strep is attacked, but not the toxin. On the other hand, it has been found that if the organisms are killed, the effects of the toxin soon die out.

Convalescence is hastened if the youngster remains in bed. Gargling with warm water into which one or two aspirin tablets have been dissolved relieves throat distress. After the child is well, examination is essential to make certain that no aftermath of the disorder lingers.

CALORIES AND REDUCING

B. G. writes: An argument has asiren among a group of would-be dieters. One side contends that sweets, macaroni, mayonnaise, chocolate, ice cream, and oils must be avoided as they are fattening regargles of the calorie content. The other side claims that you can reduce if you eat nothing but fattening foods, if the number of calories does not exceed the allotted number for a slimming diet. Who is right?

REPLY

The second group is correct as weight loss depends upon a diet containing less calories than have been taken previously. On the other hand the foods mentioned are extremely rich in calories, especially the fats. They could be used exclusively on a reducing program, but the quantity allowed would be so small that the individual would go hungry. It is better to use large amounts of low calorie foods in order to satisfy the appetite.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The country's airlines are answering the public demand for more passenger comfort with an increasing number of sleeper planes for overnight flight.

And those berths on the sleeper planes are really something. They have lowers, uppers, and "slow down the propeller, Roger—you're blowing my nightshirt."

Of course, my brother has trouble whenever he rides one of those new planes. He has to wear a parachute every time he goes to bed. It seems he walks in his sleep.

There are some drawbacks. On one trip last week they had a passenger missing—he got up on the wrong side of the bed. And on another flight one of the passengers was such a heavy snorer that when all the motors on the plane stopped, the pilot didn't even find out about it for two hours.

Naturally the new hostesses will have to be well versed in aeronautics, flight conduct, passenger relations, and bedtime stories.

I know of one hostess who was grounded—she flunked on her Mother Goose.

Of course, this new type of air travel will bring many changes and I hear they have already developed something new—chocolate covered sleeping pills.

But it's still hard for me to get used to the whole idea. I saw a sleeper take off from the Los Angeles Airport last night and it certainly was a funny sight watching a four-motor plane tiptoeing down the runway.

THE LETDOWN ALWAYS COMES AS A SURPRISE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Most notable economic achievement of the Roosevelt Administration probably was the Securities and Exchange Commission, established to protect gullible investors in the stock market. Even Republican critics admitted such a commission was necessary.

Working very quietly behind the scenes, however, the money boys have now just about sucked the SEC into the Wall Street groove. Located in Philadelphia, away from the focus of the Wasington spotlight, the SEC has now become "just another commission." Much more important, Wall Streeters have carefully wooed SEC commissioners so that the Street now seems to have little to worry about.

Latest move in Wall Street's SEC infiltration is a plan to make SEC Commissioner Edward Hanrahan president of the business he is now supposed to regulate. Wall Streeters are secretly seeking to hire him as paid president of the Stock Exchange.

Recent head of the Stock Exchange is Emil Schram, but his contract contains a juicy clause permitting him to resign any time and still draw an annual pension of $25,000. Emil has been showing this around lately and significantly remarking to friends how tired he is. Meanwhile, Hanrahan's friends are working to make him SEChairman for a few months, then put him in as president of the Stock Exchange. To this end they are trying to rig a deal with present SEChairman Jim Caffrey, to step out and let Hanrahan take over. The Wall Streeters think the deal could be swung.

SEChairman Caffey is already known as a Wall Street coddler, but he is no coddler of Ed Hanrahan. He still hasn't forgotten the way Hanrahan tried to become chairman of the SEC when first elected.

Meanwhile, neither Hanrahan nor Caffrey has even bothered to move his home from New York to Philadelphia. They are known as the "absentee" commissioners. Harry McDonald, newest SECommissioner, is equally nonchalant about the infiltration of Wall Street. These three scarcely spend enough time in the Philadelphia main office of the SEC to handle routine business. McDonald even seems to think he can divide his time between his home in Detroit and his office in Philadelphia and pretend to do a job for the taxpayers who pay him.

Most conscientious commissioner is Robert McConnaughey of Kansas. During the last year he has presided over the SEC nine out of 12 months. Asked by a lawyer to pass on a matter recently, McConnaughey acidly remarkel:

"You'll have to clear it with the nonresident commissioners."

Foreign Aid—And Prices

When the Senate foreign relations committee went into a secret huddle to chart the hearings on stopgap aid for Italy and France, the meeting turned out to be strictly rountine—except for one discordant note. This was sounded by Democratic Elbert Thomas of Utah, one senator who steadfastly fought to continue OPA and price control.

"You people are talking about emergency relief only," he broke in. "We should remember that the President reconvened Congress for two things—one, high prices; the other, emergency relief. Unless we can arrange close cooperation with whatever committee handles prices, we are going to get in each other's way."

Chairman Arthur Vandenberg, whose opposed price control, made no comment.

American Legion Rebellion

Rank-and-file veterans, who tried to force a showdown on housing at the last American Legion convention, bucked up against the old guard and were thrown for a loss. But lately they have bounced back and scored a quiet, postconvention victory.

Inside story is that National Legion Commander James F. O'Neil, under pressure from disgruntled World War II vets, has ousted Richard Cadwallader as national housing chairman. It was Cadwallader who blocked a resolution favoring government housing and openly backed the proposals of the real estate lobby. The new chairman will be the man who led the fight against him and threw the convention into an uproar over housing—Walter Alessandroni of Philadelphia.

The Unbelieving Germans

The Germans have it all figured out why meatless Tuesdays are back again in the U. S. A. They have two reasons: 1. We are hoarding food for war with Russia; 2. We are trying to force up prices.

This is the report brought back from Germany by Senator Harry Cain of Washington who left the conducted tour of his fellow senators, and took off on his own in a borrowed jeep. Cain mingled and talked with the common people, scratching notes on the back of a manila envelope. Here are some of his notes:

"City people grubbing for potatoes . . . cows pulling plows . . . grass growing in Hitler's superhighway."

Cain found that the average German refused to believe reports of the vast amount of food America is shipping overseas. He preferred to accept the line handed out by the Communists. Two favorite Nazi jokes were:

"Yes, much food is coming from America—through the radio."

"America is sending us 50 ships. Forty-eight are loaded with fragenbotens (de-Nazification forms), and two are loaded with grapefruit juice."

Note—That's why newsreels were taken of the Friendship Train to be shown in European theatres. That's also why two Friendships Trains will be run through France and Italy.

Here's How The Grocerman Got Rich Giving Away Money

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

This is the story of a man who got rich giving his money away. Of course, you will want to know how he did it.

He was a kind-hearted, soft-headed, old chap who ran a little grocery store down by the Harry Hopkins High School in Nuttown. Sometimes he did pretty good, and then, again, not so good. So he got to thinking and thinking. Morning and night the boys and gals tramped by his store on their way to school. But they didn't buy anything much. So he asked them, how come? And they said, "We suffer from a dollar shortage."

Well, right then the Big Idea was born. Uncle Sam (for that was what we called him) went to the People's Bank of Nuttown and borrowed a hundred bucks, in one dollar bills, all crisp and crinkly-like He gave a dollar to each of the first hundred school kids who went by. But he made them solemnly promise that they'd spend the dollars in his store. They all promised.

Well, sales boomed all day. Uncle Sam never had so much business and was pleased as all get-out. Come night, he showed his wife his cash box jammed full of those dollar bills and bragged about his brains no end. He was sure tickled with himself. He said he planned to do it that way every day. And so he did. Of course he ran up some big bills with his wholesalers because the school kids kept getting his money, and not them. Howsomever, he settled up with them by signing a flock of I. O. U.'s.

Well, Uncle Sam passed his grocery store plan to President Truman, and Harry was pleased as punch with it. Harry had run a store once himself and hadn't done so well. But back there, he hadn't known how to do it—how to get rich by giving his dollars away.

So Harry called in his advisers, Marshall and Krug and Harriman, and told them how Uncle Sam had filled his store with customers. They all said, "Wonderful" and bounced right back with a plan. It got to be known as the Marshall Plan, but betwixt you and me, it was the grocery store plan, but on a World Sale. It was going to make all poor people rich by never letting them suffer from a "dollar shortage," and it was going to make us rich, perpetual-like, by having no end of customers with dollars to buy at our store.

Congress asked a lot of fool questions, so they had to start the Marshall "grocery store" Plan on a small scale—with only $19,000,000,000. But we made our foreign friends promise to buy at our store. They promised.

So the ships left New York loaded with 19,000,000,000 dollar bills. And when they got to Southampton and Cherbourg, they turned plumb around and brought the dollars right back, same as the school kids, with orders for iron ore and coal and petroleum and boxcars and lumber and meat and butter and everything. And boy, how the Plan did work!

We felt so good that we expanded the Plan ten times over for the Chinese and East Indians and Hottentots—one billion folks, in all—who were so much worse off than the Europeans that they could help us get rich by just no end, buying at our store.

And that is how we went on the Biggest Binge in history. It was just like Thanksgiving the year round. Everybody got so much turkey and I. O. U.'s that they almost choked.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Whether the egg or the hen comes first makes no difference. The winner has been disqualified for elbowing on the turns.

First place goes to thirty million bushels of grain the hens would have gobbled in the next eleven months. That grain goes to starving Europe. We will be satisfied with scrambled doorknobs.

Lazy hens who eat like ostriches and produce like canaries will be bought up by the government, get scholarships in deep freezers and will be prepped for the table.

Which procedure will be a stopgap until Hank Wallace blueprints a worse plan. Hank's answers would be wonderful if they fitted the questions.

Principal Remedy To Fight Inflation Omitted By Truman

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — All possible remedies except the principal one were recommended by President Truman in his message outlining proposals to fight inflation.

The principal remedy, of course, is increased production. In a message of many thousands of words, Mr. Truman gave only a single sentence to this underlying difficulty in an inflationary era—a work shortage.

For everybody who knows anything about inflation knows that it is the lack of goods and the oversupply of purchasing power that bids up the prices of scarce articles. Likewise, prices come down only when the supply of products exceed the demand.

Mr. Truman talked about the rise in industrial prices and made a reluctant confession that wages really have had something to do with the rise in prices. Up to now he has been inclined always to use the argument that high prices were due either to the ending of OPA or to the failure of industry to absorb rising costs without increasing prices. Mr. Truman in his message spoke of getting all sorts of authority and power which he promised not to use unless absolutely necessary. He intimated that "voluntary" controls would be more effective if the government held the club of legal controls over the heads of business, labor, agriculture and consumers.

Hazardous Undertaking

This is a rather hazardous undertaking because so many businesses and industries are interrelated. If one is controlled and the other is not, all sort of maladjustments arise. What is even more embarrassing is that the moment legal controls are imposed, black-market operations begin.

Mr. Truman's message assumes a grant of authority by Congress to permit the Chief Executive to threaten the return of controls whenever an industry or group in business or labor grows recalcitrant and refuses to accept the mandate of a committee or agency of government.

It is not likely that Congress will grant such unlimited or undefined powers. Congress has had some experience with wartime controls and knows the pitfalls.

The real answer to inflation is increased industrial production. Mr. Truman had only this to say about it in his entire message: "To expand industrial output, we need a long-range program to overcome basic shortages in capacity and equipment."

This is a vague statement which avoids the real issue. The real barrier to increased production is that which has been imposed by the government itself on overtime production. The wage-and-hour law, for example, places a penalty on increased production. Some means of allowing straight time to be worked above existing overtime schedules ,which are payable at time-and-a-half rates would do more to increase production and bring prices down than any single proposal made in the President's message.

Suffering From Work Shortage

The United States today is suffering not from a goods shortage but from a work shortage. The materials are available if workers were permitted to work longer each day to get them into the hands of processors. Instead, in many businesses, there are six-hour days and 35-hour work weeks and the penalty of time and a half payable at high hourly rates is enough to deter production.

The Republicans will certainly be derelict in their duty if they swallow the President's program on inflation without accompanying it with some specific legislative standards for the exercise by executive agencies of such new control powers as are granted by congress. Likewise the Republicans will be culpable politically if they do not sponsor an alternative program which removes the many barriers against increased production to be found in labor-union contracts. All agreements that ban labor-saving devices and all provisions thereof that endeavor to curtail production might well have attention.

It is unfortunate that the President did not deal with the work shortage but dealt only with the shorage of bureaucratic power which has been a source of great regret to the "planned economy" and government-control folks hereabouts who sadly miss their wartime powers. Inflation is curable provided the President and the Congress care to avoid politics and give workers the incentives that will increase output.

Whiskey and Grain

THE ONLY really effective job done by the Luckman Committee was to shut down the Canadian or the British distilleries, which have increased their output with a view of exporting increasing amount to the United States.

In a word, Luckman slapped down American companies and American workers in the interest of their foreign competitors.

He might have sought a universal agreement for a world-wide distiller's holiday or he might have been forewarned that such a program would have been unacceptable. The American annual consumption of distilled liquors amounts to $5,100,000,000, a little more than half of which goes into federal, state and local taxes.

The idea behind this shutdown of the distilleries was to ease the export of wheat by saving corn at the time when it was most needed, supposedly the period until the beginning of November. By prohibiting the distilleries to buy the corn, this grain would be available to the farmer, who would then use it for feed instead of wheat.

Actually, before the shutdown became a reality on October 25, the Department of Agriculture and the commercial exporters had bought three-fifths to two-thirds of the highest amount of grain which they thought would be exported. We were told to save 100,000,000 bushels of wheat or its equivalent in other grains. It would seem that the European distillers and brewers of 10 countries estimated that they would require 71,000,000 bushels of grain for their purposes. Altogether 16 countries are involved so that this estimate is low. In a word, the American people are asked to save about as much grain as the European alcohol beverage industry needs to use.

And it makes no sense to say that they will use their grain for liquors and ours for feed. Nobody can make that kind of a separation.

Distillers, brewers and all other interested processors of grains, anticipating restrictions, bought aggressively in September and October. This added to the tightening of the markets. In fact, at the end of the year, it will be evident that no grain was saved in this manner, although the distribution may be slightly altered.

The American distillers deliver as remnants of the distilling process large quantities of feed. These "distillers grains" are high quality feeds because little value in calories and vitamins is lost. In fact, some claim that in the manufacturing process, the amount of vitamin A is increased. Whether this is actually so or not is a scientific argument that I do not want to get into. The farmers who use this feed can no longer get it as the distilleries are shut down. They, therefore, have to use other feeds for their cattle.

When the Paris Conference convened, the various countries were asked to give data about their use of grains. Ten of them stated, to repeat, their total intended usage for alcoholic beverages in 1947-48 as 71,000,000 bushels. Thus, by shutting down our distilleries, by restricting our breweries, by culling our poultry flocks excessively, it is made possible for foreign countries to produce alcoholic beverages equal to the Luckman program for saving grain. Great Britain is expected to use for distilling during the current year about 8,000,000 bushels of barley. When our distilleries were forced to shut down, the Scotch distillers declared that under no circumstances would they do so as 75 percent of their production was going to be exported and England needs this foreign currency badly.

It is not then a question of wheat but of dollars. The European countries require dollars to purchase foodstuffs and capital goods in this country. Meatless, poultryless, eggless days save nothing in grains. Actually, there is a grain shortage in the world and if some are not to starve, those who have a surplus ought to help those who lack.

But it is not necessary to bluff about it or to dramatize distress. Shutting down the American distilleries is sheer ballyhoo and is really unrelated to the subject, except that an American industry is being harmed in the interest of its foreign competitors, which is neither political logic nor sound economic policy.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Lessons

We never stop going to school. There are lessons to be learned each day of our lives. There is more knowledge outside of books than there is in books. Nature is an open book, before us at all times. All we have to do is to look sharply and see just what the lesson is that we should take to mind and heart.

There are lessons to be studied in the bursting of a flower from the ground, from the leaf that unfolds, and from the ways and manners of birds. If we note carefully we will learn how nothing in Nature is lost. There is ever a renewing and change going on. We learn that rich soil produces more and better results, just as a well-stored mind is more creative.

Lessons are handed down to us by our elders, but we are a little touchy about paying strict attention to them. We want to figure out our own lessons, or way of interpreting them. As a consequence we have to pay dearly for the lessons that we have to learn from our mistakes and blunders.

There is a tendency for many in school to "cheat" in the examinations—just "to get through." But in outside life one is thrown on one's own. You can't cheat there, and get ahead! And the lessons to be learned in life are far more difficult and significant. They count for genuine success and character there.

We don't like to take advantage of the lessons learned by others, but it always pays in big dividends. Admiral Peary learned lessons from all who preceded him in their efforts to attain the discovery of the North Pole. They contributed to his final triumph. Biography and history are saturated with lessons that we can learn and profit from.

It is amazing how many ideas and tricks have been copied from Nature. A close study has revealed to the watchful, endless means whereby all of us have profited. Nature was first in a countless number of inventions for which men have taken the credit for discovery. The keen eye and the alert brain are ever on the watch for lessons to interpret, and from which to gain.

Truman Would Revive Police State He Condemned

The Truman Administration, and the New Deal it inherited, put us in the mess we find ourselves today, and it can't get us out of it—and that's for sure!

President Truman made some dramatic gestures of going to try when he proposed a ten-point anti-inflation program to Congress Monday, but his inconsistencies have just about destroyed all the confidence the country might have in his ability to do so.

In his message to the special session of the Congress, Mr. Truman asked that he be rearmed with certain powers to reinstate some price controls and rationing—to be used whenever he deems it advisable. His call for such authority comes within a month after he had damned such meddling as "police state" tactics. By what other name can one call the program he now proposes?

But, as Senator Robert A. Taft declared in a radio address within a few hours after hearing Mr. Truman's message, the placing of such authority in the Chief Executive's hands would be the first step toward totalitarianism, socialized government and planned economy. The American people want no part of it, and we cannot believe the Congress will grant any such authority.

Mr. Truman appeared before the Congress not only as President but as Candidate Truman, and in replying to him Mr. Taft appeared, not only a Senator, but as Candidate Taft, which placed them on even footing to meet this issue head-on.

The candor with which Mr. Taft met it must be admired. Most people will agree with him that the return to wartime restrictions—even limited ones—will "mean the setting up of a federal bureau with literally hundreds of thousands of employes, and agents prying into the daily lives of the housewife, and the restaurants and every kind of control over business." And this at a time when a Republican Congress is endeavoring to cut governmental expenses and reduce taxes.

Mr. Truman has no right, as Senator Taft pointed out, either to expect or to receive the authority "to determine what are vital commodities and whether they affect the cost of living."

We cannot have increased production—the one thing that would bring an end to this inflationary threat—if production is to be choked by such restrictions Mr. Truman seeks to invoke. We need look nowhere but to England to see the results of such practices.

In addition to his demand for authority to place us back on OPA, Mr. Truman seeks the right to extend rent and export controls, restore restrictions on installment buying, curb bank loans deemed to be inflationary, and give the Department of Agriculture new authority to "encourage" and "induce" farmers and livestock growers to use grain more efficiently and step up production so that U. S. food shipments to other countries—now of enormous volume—can be increased. Mr. Truman further stated that if he should find price controls necessary they would also have to be applied to wages.

It is, of course, possible for Congress to make a choice of discontinued wartime curbs for reinstatement. Among them could possibly be rent control, installment buying restrictions and bank loans of an inflationary degree, to name a few, but it is unbelievable, without further proof of the necessity, that even a limited OPA will be voted Mr. Truman.

Mr. Truman's demand for this unhampered authority which would bring a return of scarcities, queues of housewives lined up at grocery stores in search of this and that under-the-counter food item, and the black market, was made as a tie-in with his call for stop-gap aid to the tune of $597,000,000—for Europe. The American people have been over-generous in assisting their allies to regain their feet after the war, and will offer no protest to this. But there is a limit to our giving if it must be at the cost of our economic freedom.

Nope, those who got us into this mess can't get us out of it.

Nursery Veto

Little birds in their nests agree, and so do the children of bitter rivals. But what they'll do when they grow up is something else.

While the halls of the United Nations at Lake Success echo with charges and countercharges, the children of the forensic combatants are playing happily together at the International Nursery School nearby. Russians get along quite pleasantly and cooperatively with Britons, South Africans with Poles, Hindus with Moslems. The son of vituperative Vishinsky is one of the most attractive and cooperative children there.

A University of Cincinnati dean, after spending a day at the school, hinted rather broadly that a little child should lead them: The daddies of these kids should sit at their feet and learn more about cooperation from them.

One way to learn from the youngsters would be to try a little experiment. Let five of the kids be called "big powers," and let each of the five have the right to veto whatever the others decided upon. Then, after the nursery veto has been used 25 or 30 times, check up and see how much good will and cooperation remains.

Or would the kids have too much sense of fairness to use the veto? Possibly. Human nature is in the main decent until it's monkeyed with.

New And Used Car Sales

Recorder's Judge W. McKay Stillman, in Detroit, has been investigating new and used car sales since June.

In a 9,000-word report he accuses dealers of charging more than list prices for new cars and making as much as 1,000 per cent profit on the sale of used cars; charging that some new car dealers have sold to used car dealers under dummy title names; that a large part of Detroit's new car quotas have been shipped to more lucrative markets elsewhere; and that auto dealers' waiting lists are a "poor joke."

Various methods of curbing the new-used car rackets have been proposed. Some leading auto men have proposed that new cars be sold only to persons who would agree to turn them back to dealers if they wanted to re-sell within six months.

Municipal government might have to take steps to correct abuses.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

SUSCEPTIBILITY TO SCARLET FEVER

IMMUNIZATION against scarlet fever is optional and has not been recommended routinely. This does not detract from its value but the vaccine is more likely to produce reactions than similar substances used to protect against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough. But this is not as great a calamity as it seems since so many effective treatments are available.

The hemolytic streptococcus is responsible for the disease, invading principally the throat and tonsil region. The organism attacks with both arms swinging and is capable of dealing a double blow to susceptible individuals. With one hand it fights like any germ, bringing on all of the discomfort and damage of the ordinary strep throat.

The other hand is more deadly because the microbes are capable also of producing a toxin that has a poisonous effect on the body. The noxious material gives rise to the rash, vomiting, headache, and changes in the tongue. It also encourages the complications that follow scarlet fever so frequently. As a result, some of the victims are left with arthritis, kidney trouble, or heart disturbances.

When the battle is over an everlasting immunity to the toxin exists but not to the organism itself. This explains why repeated bouts of strep sore throat can be encountered which might be referred to as "rashless scarlet fever."

The malady is mildly contagious and it has been said than exposed individual stands one chance in 20 of developing it. Children under 10 are most likely to be attacked and spread occurs in much the same way as colds or other respiratory infections. An average of three to five days will elapse between the time of contact and the onset of symptoms.

Vomiting may be the first clew or the youngster will complain of sore throat or headache. The temperature rises suddenly and may reach 104 degrees F. within a few hours. The rash often appears the next day but in some instances is delayed. A typical blemish resembles goosefelsh and the overlying skin is flushed except for a pale circle around the mouth. If untreated the eruption fades before the fifth day and recovery therefore is rapid.

By using scarlet fever antitoxin or convalescent serum, the ailment can be brought under control quickly. The sulfonamides are helpful also and some recent studies show that penicillin alone will do the job safely and reduce the incidence of complications. The main objection to these drugs is that the strep is attacked, but not the toxin. On the other hand, it has been found that if the organisms are killed, the effects of the toxin soon die out.

Convalescence is hastened if the youngster remains in bed. Gargling with warm water into which one or two aspirin tablets have been dissolved relieves throat distress. After the child is well, examination is essential to make certain that no aftermath of the disorder lingers.

CALORIES AND REDUCING

B. G. writes: An argument has asiren among a group of would-be dieters. One side contends that sweets, macaroni, mayonnaise, chocolate, ice cream, and oils must be avoided as they are fattening regargles of the calorie content. The other side claims that you can reduce if you eat nothing but fattening foods, if the number of calories does not exceed the allotted number for a slimming diet. Who is right?

REPLY

The second group is correct as weight loss depends upon a diet containing less calories than have been taken previously. On the other hand the foods mentioned are extremely rich in calories, especially the fats. They could be used exclusively on a reducing program, but the quantity allowed would be so small that the individual would go hungry. It is better to use large amounts of low calorie foods in order to satisfy the appetite.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The country's airlines are answering the public demand for more passenger comfort with an increasing number of sleeper planes for overnight flight.

And those berths on the sleeper planes are really something. They have lowers, uppers, and "slow down the propeller, Roger—you're blowing my nightshirt."

Of course, my brother has trouble whenever he rides one of those new planes. He has to wear a parachute every time he goes to bed. It seems he walks in his sleep.

There are some drawbacks. On one trip last week they had a passenger missing—he got up on the wrong side of the bed. And on another flight one of the passengers was such a heavy snorer that when all the motors on the plane stopped, the pilot did'nt even find out about it for two hours.

Naturally the new hostesses will have to be well versed in aeronautics, flight conduct, passenger relations, and bedtime stories. I know of one hostess who was grounded—she flunked on her Mother Goose.

Of course, this new type of air travel will bring many changes and I hear they have already developed something new—chocolate covered sleeping pills.

But it's still hard for me to get used to the whole idea. I saw a sleeper take off from the Los Angeles Airport last night and it certainly was a funny sight watching a four-motor plane tiptoeing down the runway.

THE LETDOWN ALWAYS COMES AS A SURPRISE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Most notable economic achievement of the Roosevelt Administration probably was the Securities and Exchange Commission, established to protect gullible investors in the stock market. Even Republican critics admitted such a commission was necessary.

Working very quietly behind the scenes, however, the money boys have now just about sucked the SEC into the Wall Street groove. Located in Philadelphia, away from the focus of the Wasington spotlight, the SEC has now become "just another commission." Much more important, Wall Streeters have carefully wooed SEC commissioners so that the Street now seems to have little to worry about.

Latest move in Wall Street's SEC infiltration is a plan to make SEC Commissioner Edward Hanrahan president of the business he is now supposed to regulate. Wall Streeters are secretly seeking to hire him as paid president of the Stock Exchange.

Recent head of the Stock Exchange is Emil Schram, but his contract contains a juicy clause permitting him to resign any time and still draw an annual pension of $25,000. Emil has been showing this around lately and significantly remarking to friends how tired he is. Meanwhile, Hanrahan's friends are working to make him SEChairman for a few months, then put him in as president of the Stock Exchange. To this end they are trying to rig a deal with present SEChairman Jim Caffrey, to step out and let Hanrahan take over. The Wall Streeters think the deal could be swung.

SEChairman Caffey is already known as a Wall Street coddler, but he is no coddler of Ed Hanrahan. He still hasn't forgotten the way Hanrahan tried to become chairman of the SEC when first elected.

Meanwhile, neither Hanrahan nor Caffrey has even bothered to move his home from New York to Philadelphia. They are known as the "absentee" commissioners. Harry McDonald, newest SECommissioner, is equally nonchalant about the infiltration of Wall Street. These three scarcely spend enough time in the Philadelphia main office of the SEC to handle routine business. McDonald even seems to think he can divide his time between his home in Detroit and his office in Philadelphia and pretend to do a job for the taxpayers who pay him.

Most conscientious commissioner is Robert McConnaughey of Kansas. During the last year he has presided over the SEC nine out of 12 months. Asked by a lawyer to pass on a matter recently, McConnaughey acidly remarkel:

"You'll have to clear it with the nonresident commissioners."

Foreign Aid—And Prices

When the Senate foreign relations committee went into a secret huddle to chart the hearings on stopgap aid for Italy and France, the meeting turned out to be strictly rountine—except for one discordant note. This was sounded by Democratic Elbert Thomas of Utah, one senator who steadfastly fought to continue OPA and price control.

"You people are talking about emergency relief only," he broke in. "We should remember that the President reconvened Congress for two things—one, high prices; the other, emergency relief. Unless we can arrange close cooperation with whatever committee handles prices, we are going to get in each other's way."

Chairman Arthur Vandenberg, whose opposed price control, made no comment.

American Legion Rebellion

Rank-and-file veterans, who tried to force a showdown on housing at the last American Legion convention, bucked up against the old guard and were thrown for a loss. But lately they have bounced back and scored a quiet, postconvention victory.

Inside story is that National Legion Commander James F. O'Neil, under pressure from disgruntled World War II vets, has ousted Richard Cadwallader as national housing chairman. It was Cadwallader who blocked a resolution favoring government housing and openly backed the proposals of the real estate lobby. The new chairman will be the man who led the fight against him and threw the convention into an uproar over housing—Walter Alessandroni of Philadelphia.

The Unbelieving Germans

The Germans have it all figured out why meatless Tuesdays are back again in the U. S. A. They have two reasons: 1. We are hoarding food for war with Russia; 2. We are trying to force up prices.

This is the report brought back from Germany by Senator Harry Cain of Washington who left the conducted tour of his fellow senators, and took off on his own in a borrowed jeep. Cain mingled and talked with the common people, scratching notes on the back of a manila envelope. Here are some of his notes:

"City people grubbing for potatoes . . . cows pulling plows . . . grass growing in Hitler's superhighway."

Cain found that the average German refused to believe reports of the vast amount of food America is shipping overseas. He preferred to accept the line handed out by the Communists. Two favorite Nazi jokes were:

"Yes, much food is coming from America—through the radio."

"America is sending us 50 ships. Forty-eight are loaded with fragenbotens (de-Nazification forms), and two are loaded with grapefruit juice."

Note—That's why newsreels were taken of the Friendship Train to be shown in European theatres. That's also why two Friendships Trains will be run through France and Italy.

Here's How The Grocerman Got Rich Giving Away Money

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

This is the story of a man who got rich giving his money away. Of course, you will want to know how he did it.

He was a kind-hearted, soft-headed, old chap who ran a little grocery store down by the Harry Hopkins High School in Nuttown. Sometimes he did pretty good, and then, again, not so good. So he got to thinking and thinking. Morning and night the boys and gals tramped by his store on their way to school. But they didn't buy anything much. So he asked them, how come? And they said, "We suffer from a dollar shortage."

Well, right then the Big Idea was born. Uncle Sam (for that was what we called him) went to the People's Bank of Nuttown and borrowed a hundred bucks, in one dollar bills, all crisp and crinkly-like He gave a dollar to each of the first hundred school kids who went by. But he made them solemnly promise that they'd spend the dollars in his store. They all promised.

Well, sales boomed all day. Uncle Sam never had so much business and was pleased as all get-out. Come night, he showed his wife his cash box jammed full of those dollar bills and bragged about his brains no end. He was sure tickled with himself. He said he planned to do it that way every day. And so he did. Of course he ran up some big bills with his wholesalers because the school kids kept getting his money, and not them. Howsomever, he settled up with them by signing a flock of I. O. U.'s.

Well, Uncle Sam passed his grocery store plan to President Truman, and Harry was pleased as punch with it. Harry had run a store once himself and hadn't done so well. But back there, he hadn't known how to do it—how to get rich by giving his dollars away.

So Harry called in his advisers, Marshall and Krug and Harriman, and told them how Uncle Sam had filled his store with customers. They all said, "Wonderful" and bounced right back with a plan. It got to be known as the Marshall Plan, but betwixt you and me, it was the grocery store plan, but on a World Sale. It was going to make all poor people rich by never letting them suffer from a "dollar shortage," and it was going to make us rich, perpetual-like, by having no end of customers with dollars to buy at our store.

Congress asked a lot of fool questions, so they had to start the Marshall "grocery store" Plan on a small scale—with only $19,000,000,000. But we made our foreign friends promise to buy at our store. They promised.

So the ships left New York loaded with 19,000,000,000 dollar bills. And when they got to Southampton and Cherbourg, they turned plumb around and brought the dollars right back, same as the school kids, with orders for iron ore and coal and petroleum and boxcars and lumber and meat and butter and everything. And boy, how the Plan did work!

We felt so good that we expanded the Plan ten times over for the Chinese and East Indians and Hottentots—one billion folks, in all—who were so much worse off than the Europeans that they could help us get rich by just no end, buying at our store.

And that is how we went on the Biggest Binge in history. It was just like Thanksgiving the year round. Everybody got so much turkey and I. O. U.'s that they almost choked.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Whether the egg or the hen comes first makes no difference. The winner has been disqualified for elbowing on the turns.

First place goes to thirty million bushels of grain the hens would have gobbled in the next eleven months. That grain goes to starving Europe. We will be satisfied with scrambled doorknobs.

Lazy hens who eat like ostriches and produce like canaries will be bought up by the government, get scholarships in deep freezers and will be prepped for the table.

Which procedure will be a stopgap until Hank Wallace blueprints a worse plan. Hank's answers would be wonderful if they fitted the questions.

Principal Remedy To Fight Inflation Omitted By Truman

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — All possible remedies except the principal one were recommended by President Truman in his message outlining proposals to fight inflation.

The principal remedy, of course, is increased production. In a message of many thousands of words, Mr. Truman gave only a single sentence to this underlying difficulty in an inflationary era—a work shortage.

For everybody who knows anything about inflation knows that it is the lack of goods and the oversupply of purchasing power that bids up the prices of scarce articles. Likewise, prices come down only when the supply of products exceed the demand.

Mr. Truman talked about the rise in industrial prices and made a reluctant confession that wages really have had something to do with the rise in prices. Up to now he has been inclined always to use the argument that high prices were due either to the ending of OPA or to the failure of industry to absorb rising costs without increasing prices. Mr. Truman in his message spoke of getting all sorts of authority and power which he promised not to use unless absolutely necessary. He intimated that "voluntary" controls would be more effective if the government held the club of legal controls over the heads of business, labor, agriculture and consumers.

Hazardous Undertaking

This is a rather hazardous undertaking because so many businesses and industries are interrelated. If one is controlled and the other is not, all sort of maladjustments arise. What is even more embarrassing is that the moment legal controls are imposed, black-market operations begin.

Mr. Truman's message assumes a grant of authority by Congress to permit the Chief Executive to threaten the return of controls whenever an industry or group in business or labor grows recalcitrant and refuses to accept the mandate of a committee or agency of government.

It is not likely that Congress will grant such unlimited or undefined powers. Congress has had some experience with wartime controls and knows the pitfalls.

The real answer to inflation is increased industrial production. Mr. Truman had only this to say about it in his entire message: "To expand industrial output, we need a long-range program to overcome basic shortages in capacity and equipment."

This is a vague statement which avoids the real issue. The real barrier to increased production is that which has been imposed by the government itself on overtime production. The wage-and-hour law, for example, places a penalty on increased production. Some means of allowing straight time to be worked above existing overtime schedules which are payable at time-and-a-half rates would do more to increase production and bring prices down than any single proposal made in the President's message.

Suffering From Work Shortage

The United States today is suffering not from a goods shortage but from a work shortage. The materials are available if workers were permitted to work longer each day to get them into the hands of processors. Instead, in many businesses, there are six-hour days and 35-hour work weeks and the penalty of time and a half payable at high hourly rates is enough to deter production.

The Republicans will certainly be derelict in their duty if they swallow the President's program on inflation without accompanying it with some specific legislative standards for the exercise by executive agencies of such new control powers as are granted by congress. Likewise the Republicans will be culpable politically if they do not sponsor an alternative program which removes the many barriers against increased production to be found in labor-union contracts. All agreements that ban labor-saving devices and all provisions thereof that endeavor to curtail production might well have attention.

It is unfortunate that the President did not deal with the work shortage but dealt only with the shorage of bureaucratic power which has been a source of great regret to the "planned economy" and government-control folks hereabouts who sadly miss their wartime powers. Inflation is curable provided the President and the Congress care to avoid politics and give workers the incentives that will increase output.

These Days

Whiskey and Grain

THE ONLY really effective job done by the Luckman Committee was to shut down the Canadian or the British distilleries, which have increased their output with a view of exporting increasing amount to the United States.

In a word, Luckman slapped down American companies and American workers in the interest of their foreign competitors.

He might have sought a universal agreement for a world-wide distiller's holiday or he might have been forewarned that such a program would have been unacceptable. The American annual consumption of distilled liquors amounts to $5,100,000,000, a little more than half of which goes into federal, state and local taxes.

The idea behind this shutdown of the distilleries was to ease the export of wheat by saving corn at the time when it was most needed, supposedly the period until the beginning of November. By prohibiting the distilleries to buy the corn, this grain would be available to the farmer, who would then use it for feed instead of wheat.

Actually, before the shutdown became a reality on October 25, the Department of Agriculture and the commercial exporters had bought three-fifths to two-thirds of the highest amount of grain which they thought would be exported. We were told to save 100,000,000 bushels of wheat or its equivalent in other grains. It would seem that the European distillers and brewers of 10 countries estimated that they would require 71,000,000 bushels of grain for their purposes. Altogether 16 countries are involved so that this estimate is low. In a word, the American people are asked to save about as much grain as the European alcohol beverage industry needs to use.

And it makes no sense to say that they will use their grain for liquors and ours for feed. Nobody can make that kind of a separation.

Distillers, brewers and all other interested processors of grains, anticipating restrictions, bought aggressively in September and October. This added to the tightening of the markets. In fact, at the end of the year, it will be evident that no grain was saved in this manner, although the distribution may be slightly altered.

The American distillers deliver as remnants of the distilling process large quantities of feed. These "distillers grains" are high quality feeds because little value in calories and vitamins is lost. In fact, some claim that in the manufacturing process, the amount of vitamin A is increased. Whether this is actually so or not is a scientific argument that I do not want to get into. The farmers who use this feed can no longer get it as the distilleries are shut down. They, therefore, have to use other feeds for their cattle.

When the Paris Conference convened, the various countries were asked to give data about their use of grains. Ten of them stated, to repeat, their total intended usage for alcoholic beverages in 1947-48 as 71,000,000 bushels. Thus, by shutting down our distilleries, by restricting our breweries, by culling our poultry flocks excessively, it is made possible for foreign countries to produce alcoholic beverages equal to the Luckman program for saving grain. Great Britain is expected to use for distilling during the current year about 8,000,000 bushels of barley. When our distilleries were forced to shut down, the Scotch distillers declared that under no circumstances would they do so as 75 percent of their production was going to be exported and England needs this foreign currency badly.

It is not then a question of wheat but of dollars. The European countries require dollars to purchase foodstuffs and capital goods in this country. Meatless, poultryless, eggless days save nothing in grains. Actually, there is a grain shortage in the world and if some are not to starve, those who have a surplus ought to help those who lack.

But it is not necessary to bluff about it or to dramatize distress. Shutting down the American distilleries is sheer ballyhoo and is really unrelated to the subject, except that an American industry is being harmed in the interest of its foreign competitors, which is neither political logic nor sound economic policy.

Today's Talk

Lessons

We never stop going to school. There are lessons to be learned each day of our lives. There is more knowledge outside of books than there is in books. Nature is an open book, before us at all times. All we have to do is to look sharply and see just what the lesson is that we should take to mind and heart.

There are lessons to be studied in the bursting of a flower from the ground, from the leaf that unfolds, and from the ways and manners of birds. If we note carefully we will learn how nothing in Nature is lost. There is ever a renewing and change going on. We learn that rich soil produces more and better results, just as a well-stored mind is more creative.

Lessons are handed down to us by our elders, but we are a little touchy about paying strict attention to them. We want to figure out our own lessons, or way of interpreting them. As a consequence we have to pay dearly for the lessons that we have to learn from our mistakes and blunders.

There is a tendency for many in school to "cheat" in the examinations—just "to get through." But in outside life one is thrown on one's own. You can't cheat there, and get ahead! And the lessons to be learned in life are far more difficult and significant. They count for genuine success and character there.

We don't like to take advantage of the lessons learned by others, but it always pays in big dividends. Admiral Peary learned lessons from all who preceded him in their efforts to attain the discovery of the North Pole. They contributed to his final triumph. Biography and history are saturated with lessons that we can learn and profit from.

It is amazing how many ideas and tricks have been copied from Nature. A close study has revealed to the watchful, endless means whereby all of us have profited. Nature was first in a countless number of inventions for which men have taken the credit for discovery. The keen eye and the alert brain are ever on the watch for lessons to interpret, and from which to gain.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

When I get stuck for a show business story, I usually drop in at Rudy's, a rum-and-ravioli parlor on West 45th Street. One of the bartenders there is a bouncy little gink named Joe. In the past twenty years, a lot of stars and would-be sars have poured their troubles into the saucers pasted on each side of Joe's head.

Billy Rose

The other night I was sipping an iced Moxie and making chit-chat with Joe. Rudy's was empty except for some kids around a table in the back, munching pretzels and swapping dreams.

As I was about to leave, a natty little gent walked in, looked the place over, downed a soft drink and left.

"Who's that?" I asked Joe. "He looks familiar."

"That's Harrigan. Johnny Harrigan," said my bartender friend. "He used to do a pretty good act."

Something jiggled in my head. "A seal act, wasn't it?" I said.

Joe nodded. "Harrigan used to play the Palace once or twice every season. His act had a great finish. The seal used to throw fish at him."

"Is he still doing the same act?"

"Naw," said Joe. "On account of the Warner Brothers, he had to sell his seal."

"I don't get it," I said. "What did the Brothers Warner have to do with his seal?"

"Everything," said the bartender. "If not for talking pictures, we'd still have vaudeville. And if we had vaudeville, Harrigan would still have his seal."

"Very logical," I said. "What's Harrigan been doing the last twenty years?"

"Not much of anything," said Joe. "Drinking, mostly—that is, until recently."

"I'll have another iced Moxie," I said, "and if you don't mind, I'd like to hear about that 'recently'."

"Oh, it's not much of a story," said Joe, plunking the bottle down in front of me. "About a year ago, Harrigan was in here one night, making a nuisance of himself. He got so bad I ha dto stop serving him drinks. Excepting that I knew him from way back, I'd have given him the heave-ho.

"A gal came in alone and sat down in one of the booths. Quite a dish. More like what they get at the Stork and Morocco. Without a by-your-leave, Harrigan sat down next to her. I went over to stop him from bothering the lady, but the lady told me it was all right, Harrigan wasn't saying anything out of line, and she didn't mind his sitting there."

"Who was the angel of mercy" I asked Joe.

"I found out later," said the bartender. "One of Johnny Powers' top models. You know, one of those chicks who get fifty bucks an hour posing for the magazine covers."

"Did the pair get along okay?"

"They sure did," said Joe. "Harrigan told me the next day that she took him over to the Luxor Baths and arranged for him to get steamed out. Then picked him up the next morning and bought him some breakfast."

"The old mother instinct," I offered.

"In spades," said the bartender. "The gal practically adopted the bum. I wish I had a buck for every time she came in here hunting for him after that. And another buck for every time she taxied him home and poured him into bed.

"A week after she started giving him the treatment, Harrigan stopped drinking mornings. Then afternoons. When he came in one night with his shoes shined and ordered a ginger ale, we all felt pretty good around here. Next thing, he got a job."

"What kind of a job?" I asked. "Show business?"

"Well, sort of," said the bartender. "The guys who had taken the bread out of his mouth put some of it back. Harrigan went to work in the office of the Warner film exchange over on Forty-fourth Street."

"Cute story," I said. "The ending writes itself. They got married and . . . ."

Joe shook his head. "No, it didn't work out that way. No orange blossoms. And too bad it was. Just plain too bad."

"What happened? Did the lady lose interest in her knitting after the sweater was finished?"

"Not that either," said the bartender. "While the model was straightening out Harrigan, it seems she acquired a taste for the stuff herself. Now Harrigan's trying to reform her. That's why he was in just now. He's making the rounds looking for her."

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

When I get stuck for a show business story, I usually drop in at Rudy's, a rum-and-ravioli parlor on West 45th Street. One of the bartenders there is a bouncy little gink named Joe. In the past twenty years, a lot of stars and would-be sars have poured their troubles into the saucers pasted on each side of Joe's head.

Billy Rose

The other night I was sipping an iced Moxie and making chit-chat with Joe. Rudy's was empty except for some kids around a table in the back, munching pretzels and swapping dreams.

As I was about to leave, a natty little gent walked in, looked the place over, downed a soft drink and left.

"Who's that?" I asked Joe. "He looks familiar."

"That's Harrigan, Johnny Harrigan," said my bartender friend. "He used to do a pretty good act."

Something jiggled in my head. "A seal act, wasn't it?" I said.

Joe nodded. "Harrigan used to play the Palace once or twice every season. His act had a great finish. The seal used to throw fish at him."

"Is he still doing the same act?"

"Naw," said Joe. "On account of the Warner Brothers, he had to sell his seal."

"I don't get it," I said. "What did the Brothers Warner have to do with his seal?"

"Everything," said the bartender. "If not for talking pictures, we'd still have vaudeville. And if we had vaudeville, Harrigan would still have his seal."

"Very logical," I said. "What's Harrigan been doing the last twenty years?"

"Not much of anything," said Joe. "Drinking, mostly—that is, until recently."

"I'll have another iced Moxie," I said, "and if you don't mind, I'd like to hear about that 'recently'."

"Oh, it's not much of a story," said Joe, plunking the bottle down in front of me. "About a year ago, Harrigan was in here one night, making a nuisance of himself. He got so bad I ha dto stop serving him drinks. Excepting that I knew him from way back, I'd have given him the heave-ho.

"A gal came in alone and sat down in one of the booths. Quite a dish. More like what they get at the Stork and Morocco. Without a by-your-leave, Harrigan sat down next to her. I went over to stop him from bothering the lady, but the lady told me it was all right, Harrigan wasn't saying anything out of line, and she didn't mind his sitting there."

"Who was the angel of mercy" I asked Joe.

"I found out later," said the bartender. "One of Johnny Powers' top models. You know, one of those chicks who get fifty bucks an hour posing for the magazine covers."

"Did the pair get along okay?"

"They sure did," said Joe. "Harrigan told me the next day that she took him over to the Luxor Baths and arranged for him to get steamed out. Then picked him up the next morning and bought him some breakfast."

"The old mother instinct," I offered.

"In spades," said the bartender. "The gal practically adopted the bum. I wish I had a buck for every time she came in here hunting for him after that. And another buck for every time she taxied him home and poured him into bed.

"A week after she started giving him the treatment, Harrigan stopped drinking mornings. Then afternoons. When he came in one night with his shoes shined and ordered a ginger ale, we all felt pretty good around here. Next thing, he got a job."

"What kind of a job?" I asked. "Show business?"

"Well, sort of," said the bartender. "The guys who hac taken the bread out of his mouth put some of it back. Harrigan went to work in the office of the Warner film exchange over on Forty-fourth Street."

"Cute story," I said. "The ending writes itself. They got married and . . . ."

Joe shook his head. "No, it didn't work out that way. No orange blossoms. And too bad it was. Just plain too bad."

"What happened? Did the lady lose interest in her knitting after the sweater was finished?"

"Not that either," said the bartender. "While the model was straightening out Harrigan, it seems she acquired a taste for the stuff herself. Now Harrigan's trying to reform her. That's why he was in just now. He's making the rounds looking for her."

Mystery Of Grave Open In Pasture

MEXICO, Mo.—(AP)—The J. C. Diggs family, puzzled by a large hole which appeared overnight in their pasture, would like to know who dug up what. All that the members of the family could find in the mysterious excavation — five feet long, three deep and three wide — were four rocks and a half-rusted shotgun barrel.

Coney Officials Approve Lighting System For Town

Delay Expected In Installation

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING—"A white way" system of lighting for the business section was approved by the Mayor and Council at their meeting Monday evening.

The Potomac Edison Company presented the installation plans and stated it would be from six to eight months before the system could be completed.

The company said about 15 more street lights will be added and that wooden poles with brackets will be erected along the curbs, supplanting the present system of lights strung across the street. The poles will be about 25 feet high.

"A Community Christmas Decorating Fund" will be started by the town to secure funds for street decoration during the holidays. At Monday night's meeting representatives from local organizations discussed the project.

The Lions Club plans to trim the community tree in the First Presbyterian Church yard if approval is granted. Solicitations will be made by council members.

The council decided that the creek bed at Jackson street should be dredged and cleaned to facilitate flow of water into George's Creek.

Oscar Richarson was granted permission to build an addition to his property on Jackson Street.

The Mayor and council will report on the community Christmas decorating fund at a meeting to be held Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Council Chamber.

Brief Items

The 4-H Club will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the home of Helen Crable, Church Street. The Lonaconing club will participate in the program of the Lonaconing Homemakers Club Achievement Day tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Ed Hinkle of Station WTBO, Cumberland, addressed the Lonaconing Lions Club at their Ladies Night program Monday evening in the Knights of Pythias Hall. Mrs. Harry Ort and Mrs. Carol Storm provided entertainment. F. L. Saxton, Baltimore, who is here for the installation of dial telephones, sang several selections. About 150 attended. Hugh Moses, president, was toastmaster.

The Jackson School Parent-Teacher Association will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at Jackson School.

Jack Marshall, Washington, D. C., was here over the weekend to visit his sister, Miss Jane Marshall, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. She injured her arm and back in a fall at her home last week. Miss Marshall is an employe at the Central High School cafeteria.

Miss Edith Holder and Mrs. Sally Schramm attended a dinner conference of the Pythian Sisters at the Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown, on Saturday.

GLITTER GARB . . . For Midwinter Glamor

PLATINUM . . .Sleek flaring tunic of platina lame tops a slim skirt of matching crepe for a new important cocktail dress.

GOLD . . . Uncluttered line dramatizes a blouse of gold leaf lame banded with a cuff of brown crepe and matching brown skirt.

By DOROTHY ROE

Back full-force in the winter fashion scene is luxurious metallic lame, newly perfected in non-tarnishable finishes.

Most effective of the new lame treatments are those completely-simple in line, to allow full play to the beauty of the fabric itself, or a cocktail party or an informal dinner, nothing is more effective than a lame blouse and a simple skirt, completely untrimmed.

The tailored lame jacket also is in high favor for late afternoon wear, worn usually with a dark crepe sheath skirt.

You may choose gold, silver or platinum finishes, shoot the works if you like on an all-lame evening gown.

And for daytime wear there are handsome new woolens woven with an occasional gold or silver thread, to add importance to a beautiful tailored suit.

4-Year-Old Child Found After All-Night Search

HERMANVILLE, Md., Nov. 18—(AP)—One shoe off and cuddling against two puppies to keep him warm and company, Stephen Andrews, 4, was found in a woods near his home today after an all-night search by a sheriff's posse of 250 men.

Stephen and his two dogs had been missing from his Hermanville home since 4 p. m. yesterday.

Sheriff Willard B. Long said they had to cut trrough heavy underbrush to reach the youngster after they heard him crying:

"I'm lost. I want my mother."

His hands and face were blue with cold, but physicians said he apparently suffered no ill effects from his night out.

Peasant's Pitchfork Picks A Pair Of Pike

COPENHAGEN — (AP) — A new method of fishing was inaugurated by a peasant on the Danish island of Bogoe recently, when he caught two pikes with a pitchfork. The pikes weighed nine and 10 pounds respectively.

17 Whaling Expeditions Off For Antarctica

CAPETOWN — (AP) — Seventeen whaling expeditions are about to leave South African ports for the Antarctic on one of the greatest mass whale hunts ever known in history. The first factory ship to leave Capetown was the Baleana, whose owners were anxious to get in as much sperm whaling on the fringe of the Antarctic as possible before the season officially opens Dec. 8.

The Dutch factory ship Willem Barends will sail south with eight catchers. The Thorshamer expedition is on its way south from Dakar and a new Norwegian factory ship Thorshavet is making its maiden voyage.

Takes Young Spirits To Use Youth Hostel

NAESTVED, Denmark — (AP) — The proprietor of the Naestved Youth Hostel could hardly believe his eyes when late one night he heard a knock at the door and admitted Mrs. F. Volch, 83, and Mrs. C. Brinch, 82, both of Copenhagen, who asked for accommodations. They said they were on a hiking tour around Zealand, Denmark's main island.

They had walked from Copenhagen, a distance of some 50 miles, and said they spent the previous night in a barn. They said they intended to walk several hundred miles and were having the time of their lives.

GLITTER GARB . . . For Midwinter Glamor

PLATINUM . . .Sleek flaring tunic of platina lame tops a slim skirt of matching crepe for a new important cocktail dress.

GOLD . . . Uncluttered line dramatizes a blouse of gold leaf lame banded with a cuff of brown crepe and matching brown skirt.

By DOROTHY ROE

Back full-force in the winter fashion scene is luxurious metallic lame, newly perfected in non-tarnishable finishes.

Most effective of the new lame treatments are those completely-simple in line, to allow full play to the beauty of the fabric itself, or a cocktail party or an informal dinner, nothing is more effective than a lame blouse and a simple skirt, completely untrimmed.

The tailored lame jacket also is in high favor for late afternoon wear, worn usually with a dark crepe sheath skirt.

You may choose gold, silver or platinum finishes, shoot the works if you like on an all-lame evening gown.

And for daytime wear there are handsome new woolens woven with an occasional gold or silver thread, to add importance to a beautiful tailored suit.

4-Year-Old Child Found After All-Night Search

HERMANVILLE, Md., Nov. 18—(AP)—One shoe off and cuddling against two puppies to keep him warm and company, Stephen Andrews, 4, was found in a woods near his home today after an all-night search by a sheriff's posse of 250 men.

Stephen and his two dogs had been missing from his Hermanville home since 4 p. m. yesterday.

Sheriff Willard B. Long said they had to cut trrough heavy underbrush to reach the youngster after they heard him crying:

"I'm lost. I want my mother."

His hands and face were blue with cold, but physicians said he apparently suffered no ill effects from his night out.

Peasant's Pitchfork Picks A Pair Of Pike

COPENHAGEN — (AP) — A new method of fishing was inaugurated by a peasant on the Danish island of Bogoe recently, when he caught two pikes with a pitchfork. The pikes weighed nine and 10 pounds respectively.

17 Whaling Expeditions Off For Antarctica

CAPETOWN — (AP) — Seventeen whaling expeditions are about to leave South African ports for the Antarctic on one of the greatest mass whale hunts ever known in history. The first factory ship to leave Capetown was the Baleana, whose owners were anxious to get in as much sperm whaling on the fringe of the Antarctic as possible before the season officially opens Dec. 8.

The Dutch factory ship Willem Barends will sail south with eight catchers. The Thorshamer expedition is on its way south from Dakar and a new Norwegian factory ship Thorshavet is making its maiden voyage.

Colorado is known as the Centennial State because it was admitted to the Union in 1876, just 100 years after the United States Declaration of Independence.

Takes Young Spirits To Use Youth Hostel

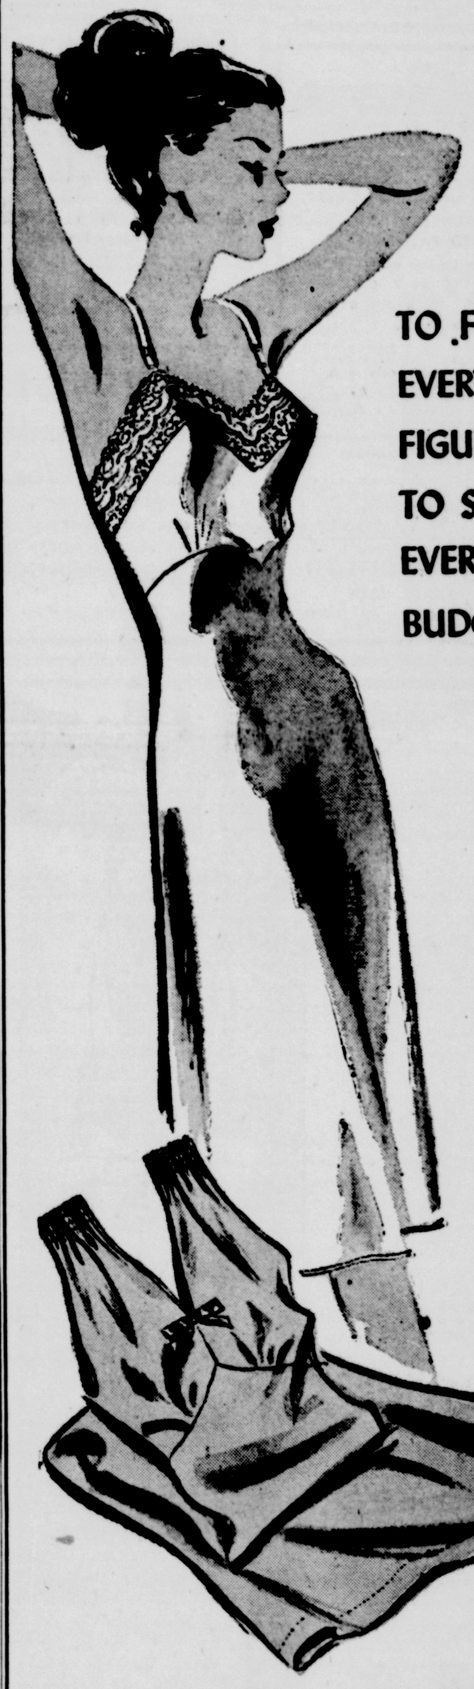

NAESTVED, Denmark — (AP) — The proprietor of the Naestved Youth Hostel could hardly believe his eyes when late one night he heard a knock at the door and admitted Mrs. F. Volch, 83, and Mrs. C. Brinch, 82, both of Copenhagen, who asked for accommodations. They said they were on a hiking tour around Zealand, Denmark's main island.

They had walked from Copenhagen, a distance of some 50 miles, and said they spent the previous night in a barn. They said they intended to walk several hundred miles and were having the time of their lives.

Miss Shires Will Accept State Job

The appointment of Miss Dorothy W. Shires, principal of West Side School, to assistant state supervisor of elementary education was announced yesterday by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools.

Miss Shires will resign her position at West Side School November 27, Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools in Allegany County, announced yesterday. She will assume her new duties December 1.

The new state assistant superintendent was graduated from Allegany High School and Frostburg State Teachers College and received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Maryland. She has taken gradute work at Columbia University, N. Y.

Miss Shires began teaching at Green Ridge School in the eastern part of the county. Later she held positions at East Side and Pennsylvania Avenue. She was principal at the old Maryland Avenue and Union Street Schools before being named principal at West Side.

For the past two years she was principal of the campus school at Frostburg State Teachers College but returned to West Side this year. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Shires, Park Heights.

Dr. Kopp said a successor to the position at West Side School will be named shortly.

The Shape Of Nails To Come

By BETTY CLARKE,
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Broken, chipped, and brittle fingernails are one of women's biggest beauty problems.

Of course if you are a nail biter, you can blame yourself. Nails that are worn down to the painful stage because they are chewed on constantly look horrible and certainly are an inidication of emotional instability. These nails will never be pretty to look at no matter how much lacquer is poured on them.

It remains for the nervous individual with the finely nibbled nails, to visit a physician and get to the basis of the nail-biting desire. Sometimes it is found that nail chewing is a nervous habit which ends abruptly when called to the attention of the biter.

Brittle nails are the real problem. You can go along for months with beautifully tapered nails and suddenly every nail will crack and split without warning. Sometimes this condition is due to the health of the individual; other times to faulty diet.

One girl who had been told by a friend that fruit juice would make her nails grow stronger, drank it morning, noon and night until finally her nails did appear stronger and less brittle.

After months of being on the juice routine and rejoicing in her new-found beautiful nails, the girl's nails suddenly started to break as they had before.

Vitamins have been known to keep the nails in shape, and taken under the care of a physician, can noticeably improve not only the nails, but the skin, hair and sparkle of the eyes as well. But, usually, the factors involved in the vitamin deficient diet can't be solved by the mere addition of great quantities of any single food.

Some times nails become much less of a chore by weekly or semi-weekly servicing. Poor nails always should be kept as short as possible. Do not use a steel file on them. An emery board carried in the pocketbook can be used from day to day without undue strain on the nails and will keep them short enough to avoid breaking. If you notice that your nails seem to be healthier due to this weekly routine, you might take a chance and let them grow a bit. Then if they get back to the brittle stage, you might resume your short-nail manicure.

NAIL CUE . . . If they're brittle keep 'em short.

Keeping polish on the nails is a big help for the brittle-nailed girl, cosmeticians advise. Coat after coat of polish, applied one over the other, is said to form a good protective shield. Nail polish remover when used should always be followed by a good nail cream or oil massage. Some of these nail polish removers dry the nails. So invest in a good polish remover and help save your nails.

Appeals Filed In Two Liquor License Cases

Molinari And Ware Seek Court Opinion

Appeals were filed in Circuit Court yesterday by attorneys for Frank Molinari, Jr., and William and Mary Ware, from decisions of Walter C. Capper, William G. Sweene, and Fred Crowe, the Board of Liquor License Commissioners of Allegany County, ordering the suspension of their county alcoholic beverage licenses.

Molinari, who is one of the licensed operators of the Cadillac Cocktail Lounge, Baltimore Street, is represented by William A. Guhter and D. Lindley Sloan. His attorneys noted an oral appeal November 13, when the board suspended the license for 60 days, but did not file the appeal until yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware, represented by F. J. Ryan, operate a tavern and have a beer license for their business on Route 40 at Red Hill. Their license was suspended for 90 days, but no appeal was noted following the hearing, However, Attorney Ryan filed the necessary court documents yesterday.

The appeals, the first of their kind to come up under the new county law, simply give notice that the license holder asks for a Court review of the case and requests the Court to have the liquor board furnish complete transcripts of proceedings at the hearings, within the required 15 days.

Under the law, attorneys explain, if the Court wishes to hold an additional hearing and obtain further evidence it may do so, but this is not necessary. The Court can review the case and announce a decision to revoke, confirm or modify the liquor board's decision within 30 days. If the Court does not act in 30 days, attorneys said, the board's decision is automatically affirmed, under the law.

In the meantime, the board's order to suspend sales of intoxicants is stayed, although it was ordered effective as of Monday. The license holders can continue to operate until the Court opinion is handed down on the appeal.

Since these were the first appeals of this kind filed here, court attaches had a little difficulty in determining where to file or record them. Some thought they should go on the Miscellaneous docket, but they were finally entered in the Civil Appeals docket.

DEATHS

CHARLES EMORY DIEHL

Charles Emory Diehl, 73, a retired Pennsylvania Railroad hostler, died yesterday about noon at his home in Ellerslie. He had been in failing health for the past year.

Born in Friends Cove, Bedford County, Pa., on Christmas Day, 1873, Mr. Diehl was a son of the late John and Katherine Whetstone Diehl. He married the former Jennie Smith, who survives, on January 26, 1898. Mr. Diehl, who retired about eight years ago, was a member of Redeemers Reformed Church in Ellerslie. He belonged to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and to the Patriotic Order, Sons of America.

Equity Suit Filed In Dispute Over Farm Water Line

Kiser Claims His Livestock Suffer

A bill of complaint was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Ralph Kiser against William Snyder, both of near Frostburg, involving a suit over a water line.

Docketed by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Kiser, the Court is asked to restrain Snyder from interfering with the water line and to order the defendant to pay for alleged damages done, since the line was damaged several days ago.

Kiser claims he purchased a farm containing 68 acres from Snyder October 18, 1946, and that the water line which supplied the place extended past the premises of Snyder. Kiser claims he has paid regularly for water used, but that the line has been cut without cause, and the complainant and his 23 head of live stock suffer from loss of the water supply.

Chief Judge William A. Huster signed a Court order requiring Snyder to repair the line forthwith, and to show cause on or before November 30 why he should not be permanently restrained from interfering with the water line and why he should not pay costs of damages suffered by the complainant.

Judge Huster also signed a divorce decree yesterday in the case of Rose R. Miller vs Milton R. Miller.

fairs, expressing particular interest in education. At the time of his death, April 15, 1915, he was the oldest Mason in Cumberland.

After his death, two of his sons, L. Lee Lichtenstein and I. Reuben Lichtenstein, operated the business until prohibition.

In 1933, L. Lee Lichtenstein resumed the wholesale and retail business on Baltimore street here. Following his death in January 1936, his widow, Mrs. Elso L. Lichtenstein continued the business. In 1938, she discontinued the retail store on Baltimore Street, and moved to the present address on Henry Street, where she conducted a wholesale distributorship exclusively, until the present change of ownership.

Little and Alderton said last night the final phases of negotiations have been completed and all their necessary licenses and permits have been issued. They will assume their ownership immediately, they stated.

BIRTHS

Allegany Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Alston Mallow, Flintstone, a daughter.

A GAS SHORTAGE THIS WINTER?

PROBABLY!

Severe Cold Weather Doubles the Demand—

The unprecedented demand for natural gas for home heating, cooking and water heating keeps present gas supply lines loaded close to capacity even in normal winter weather. When a severe cold wave strikes, this normal demand by domestic users jumps to nearly double. Gas pressures in the lines could easily drop to dangerously low levels this winter.

There's Plenty of Gas—But We Can't Get It to You—

There is plenty of natural gas at the source, in the abundant gas fields of Texas and Oklahoma, and even in the nearby wells of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. But gas can't be delivered in boxes, nor by parcel post. It takes many miles of great steel or iron pipe . . . and pipe, today, is an extremely scarce item. This scarcity of pipe and other vital equipment has considerably hindered our expansion program.

You Can Do Much to Help Prevent a Shortage—

The cooperation of all our customers will help to prevent a critical shortage. If everyone uses just a little less gas—the aggregate savings will amount to millions of cubic feet . . . and can actually help to prevent gas pressures from passing the danger point.

1. Please don't use your gas range to heat your kitchen.

2. Do your washing on some other day than Monday.

3. Set your furnace thermostat at 6[illegible] —still lower at night.

4. Shut off rooms not in use—particularly attics and second floor bedrooms.

5. Don't use gas room heaters to supplement your furnace.

6. [illegible] hot water sparingly—don't keep it running needlessly.

7. Install storm sash and insulation—your savings on heating bills will amaze you.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Encouraging To Find Person Who Wants To Help Himself

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There is nothing more encouraging than to find a person who admits that the chief cause of his troubles is himself. It is encouraging because when one knows the cause of something, he has taken the first big step toward its cure.

Here is a young woman who has hold of the right end of the string to begin unraveling the tangle of her life. She starts her letter with the flat statement that "There is one thing wrong with my life. Me!"

She is married, she says, "to the world's best man"; he is "kind, loving, ambitious, generous, and deserving of something better than what I dish out to him." What she "dishes out" to him is constant nagging, hysterical outbursts, arguments, temper tantrums, and tears.

"My husband never answers back," she says, "and that seems to goad me into saying harsher things that have no truth just to see if I can't sting him into getting him as mad as myself."

She has a baby who was born with a sweet and happy disposition, but who has reacted to the disturbing atmosphere created by her mother by turning into a fussy, crying child.

Having been honest, and possessed of sufficient insight to put her finger on the core of her problem, "Sylvia," as she signs herself, then goes on to show equal insight in recognizing, and no doubt entirely correctly, the reason for her emotional instability. She was, she says, "brought up in an unhappy, unhealthy atmosphere where my parents were always arguing. As a child I lay awake nights praying that tomorrow would bring no arguments in my house." Now her parents live in the same building as herself and her husband, and she is still constantly exposed to their bitter quarrels and continuous abuse of each other.

Fully realizing that her attitude is hurting and harming the two people she loves most—her husband and her baby—she is doubly anxious to find a way of straightening herself out. Pathetically, she begs: "Before I lose my mind—honestly, it goes that deep at times—tell me, please, is there hope for a 28-year-old wreck like me?"

First of all, I want to assure this distressed and suffering girl there certainly is hope for her. There is hope for anyone, no matter how deeply caught in the complexities of life, who is as honest and sincere and eager to help herself as she is.

Her first step should be to move out of the building where she now lives in close proximity to her quarreling parents and thus get away from the tension they create in her. This, of course, may be easier to say than to do in these days of housing shortages, but it is something she should be planning for at the first possible opportunity.

Second, she should get expert psychological help from someone who can guide her out of the conflicts set up in her by her unfortunate childhood and show her the way to a happier and more serene future. She says she has been to doctors, but always has been brushed off with a sedative and an admonition to stop being so nervous,—futile treatment and advice in a case of this kind, where it isn't a medical man that is needed, but one trained in healing hurt hearts and damaged emotions; in other words, a psychiatrist.

While consultations with a good psychiatrist are expensive, there are clinics which make expert psychiatric advice available to those who cannot afford it otherwise. If "Sylvia" is financially unable to go to a private psychiatrist, she can send me her full name and address and I will be glad to tell her of a clinic in her own vicinity.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Encouraging To Find Person Who Wants To Help Himself

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There is nothing more encouraging than to find a person who admits that the chief cause of his troubles is himself. It is encouraging because when one knows the cause of something, he has taken the first big step toward its cure.

Here is a young woman who has hold of the right end of the string to begin unraveling the tangle of her life. She starts her letter with the flat statement that "There is one thing wrong with my life. Me!"

She is married, she says, "to the world's best man"; he is "kind, loving, ambitious, generous, and deserving of something better than what I dish out to him." What she "dishes out" to him is constant nagging, hysterical outbursts, arguments, temper tantrums, and tears.

"My husband never answers back," she says, "and that seems to goad me into saying harsher things that have no truth just to see if I can't sting him into getting him as mad as myself."

She has a baby who was born with a sweet and happy disposition, but who has reacted to the disturbing atmosphere created by her mother by turning into a fussy, crying child.

Having been honest, and possessed of sufficient insight to put her finger on the core of her problem, "Sylvia," as she signs herself, then goes on to show equal insight in recognizing, and no doubt entirely correctly, the reason for her emotional instability. She was, she says, "brought up in an unhappy, unhealthy atmosphere where my parents were always arguing. As a child I lay awake nights praying that tomorrow would bring no arguments in my house." Now her parents live in the same building as herself and her husband, and she is still constantly exposed to their bitter quarrels and continuous abuse of each other.

Fully realizing that her attitude is hurting and harming the two people she loves most—her husband and her baby—she is doubly anxious to find a way of straightening herself out. Pathetically, she begs: "Before I lose my mind—honestly, it goes that deep at times—tell me, please, is there hope for a 28-year-old wreck like me?"

First of all, I want to assure this distressed and suffering girl there certainly is hope for her. There is hope for anyone, no matter how deeply caught in the complexities of life, who is as honest and sincere and eager to help herself as she is.

Her first step should be to move out of the building where she now lives in close proximity to her quarreling parents and thus get away from the tension they create in her. This, of course, may be easier to say than to do in these days of housing shortages, but it is something she should be planning for at the first possible opportunity.

Second, she should get expert psychological help from someone who can guide her out of the conflicts set up in her by her unfortunate childhood and show her the way to a happier and more serene future. She says she has been to doctors, but always has been brushed off with a sedative and an admonition to stop being so nervous,—futile treatment and advice in a case of this kind, where it isn't a medical man that is needed, but one trained in healing hurt hearts and damaged emotions; in other words, a psychiatrist.

While consultations with a good psychiatrist are expensive, there are clinics which make expert psychiatric advice available to those who cannot afford it otherwise. If "Sylvia" is financially unable to go to a private psychiatrist, she can send me her full name and address and I will be glad to tell her of a clinic in her own vicinity.

Woman Joins Her Stepson In Jail

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 18—(AP)—A 71-year-old Iowa woman who came here to help her stepson in his unsuccessful fight against a murder charge, today joined him in jail for conspiring to aid him in an equally fruitless escape attempt.

Tears glistening in her eyes and her voice trembling, Mrs. Jennie Downey, Bloomfield, Ia., was charged in Justice of the Peace Court with smuggling six hacksaw blades to David A. Downey, convicted slayer of his Czech war bride.

Asked if she were guilty, the small, gray-haired woman answered:

"I guess I am."

Justice of the Peace E. T. McGarry sentenced her to 30 days in jail and fined her $250. Assistant District Attorney Roy Foard asked for clemency. McGarry pointed out that conviction on the charge carries a maximum sentence of one year and a $1,000 fine.

Downey, 29-year-old San Francisco accountant, was convicted of strangling his war bride, Lolly Lila, on the Rampart Range Road near here. He is held here awaiting hearing of a motion for a new trial.

Selective Service Reserve Planned

Members of Local Draft Boards during World War II reported yesterday that they have been advised of plans to operate the boards on a peacetime reserve basis similar to that used by the armed forces.

The organization is headed by Col. Henry C. Stanwood and will follow closely the pattern of the now-defunct World War II Selective Service System which he directed in this state.

Local boards will be formed on a stand-by basis and it is planned to use as members the citizens who served during the war on the familiar draft boards.

Miss Truman's Concert At Kansas City Sellout

KANSAS CITY, Nov 18 — (AP) — Miss Margaret Truman's concert here, set for December 15, is a sellout.

Walter A. Fristachy, in charge of the concert, announced today that all tickets had been sold and arrangements had been made for Miss Truman to give a second concert here December 16.

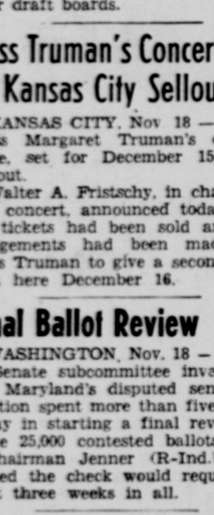

Final Ballot Review

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — (AP) — A Senate subcommittee investigating Maryland's disputed senatorial election spent more than five hours today in starting a final review of some 25,000 contested ballots.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) estimated the check would require about three weeks in all.

16,600 Jewish DPs Are Resettled

PARIS — (AP) — The American Joint Distribution Committee announces that it helped resettle 16,600 Jewish men, women and children in the first nine months of 1947.

The largest number—5,229, representing about 30 percent of the total—went to Palestine. Another 25 percent went to the U. S. Special children's projects helped 352 children to countries offering them refuge.

The AJDC said it had 75,000 applications for resettlement, mostly from displaced persons in Germany, Austria, and Italy, and is receiving 6,000 more every month.

Defendant Drops Suit Against Prosecutor

COPENHAGEN — (AP) — The first case in Denmark of a defendant suing his prosecutor collapsed when a former Nazi collaborator withdrew his appeal to a higher court charging violation of the constitution and abuse of official power.

Some time ago, the collaborator filed suit against the prosecutor maintaining that the latter had searched his prison cell without the court's permission. The judge ordered the prosecutor to take the stand as a defendant. When the prosecutor was acquitted, the collaborator appealed the verdict.

Now the plaintiff has withdrawn the appeal and it's the prosecutor's turn to make his charges.

Burma Inauguration Set By Astrologers

RANGOON — (AP) — Astrologers consulted by the Burmese government to select an "auspicious date" for the swearing-in ceremony of the president of the Union of Burma and the ministers of the new republic, named Jan. 15 for the ceremony government sources disclose.

According to these sources the ceremony scene probably will be the Government House, home of the former British governors.

During the ceremony seven Burmese boys and girls, bearing paddy shoots to symbolize prosperity's return to Burma, will encircle the ministers.

Dynamite Caps Keep Guardian Angels Busy

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—(AP)—Dynamite caps are notoriously touchy and dangerous articles but:

Some youngsters ripped the roof from an explosion dump and in the process a heavy timber fell five feet on to 8,000 caps. Then the boys took 200 of the caps, placed them in a hole and covered them by throwing rocks in on them. And there was no explosion.

Canadian Import Curbs To Hit U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP) — Canada's new restrictions on imports from the United States will mean a $300,000,000 blow to American exporters and manufacturers, government officials tentatively estimated today.

The emergency controls, suddenly applied by the dollar-short Ottawa government last night, promised to hit American business harder than the repeated reduction in buying by Great Britain. Despite its much smaller population, Canada this year was easily the United States' best customer, buying at the unprecedented rate of nearly $2,000,000,000.

These government officials said the United States regards the Canadian restrictions as a temporary "necessary evil" to be removed when Canada's financial position improves. The State Department was consulted in advance before the Canadians took the step, they said.

The American government offered no objection, they said, because Canada probably would be forced to take more drastic action later had it permitted the drain on its scanty dollar resources to go unchecked.

Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott disclosed in Ottawa that as of November 13, Canada's supply of gold and United States dollars had sunk to $500,000,000, a drop of $745,000,000 in less than 11 months.

Abbott said that the United States Export-Import Bank, besides promising Canada a credit of $300,000,000, had offered a bonus of $7 per ounce for increased gold production.

One bright spot in the picture, United States officials said, is that the Canadians may have to increase purchases of available American raw materials in order to counterbalance the reduction in purchases of finished American goods.

Holland Denies He Struck Wife

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) — State's Attorney Marvin I. Anderson called tonight for a verdict of first-degree murder against Joseph Henry Holland, Odenton, after the 43-year-old carpenter denied flatly that he had struck his wife on the head with a hammer.

In an hour-long summary of the state's case, Anderson told the Anne Arundel County Court it would be "almost humanly impossible" for Mrs. Holland to fall down her back-yard well to her death as her husband maintained, "even if she tried to."

Court was adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow when final arguments for the defense will be heard.

Anderson maintained the defendants wife "was dead when she went into that well. How long she was dead before that we cannot tell."

The state contends Holland beat 41-year-old Estelle M. Holland on the head with a hammer so he might some day marry Mrs. Audrey Hill, co-worker in a war plant.

Holland denied this on the stand.

"Did you hit your wife with anything?" asked defense counsel.

"I did not!"

Did you ever threaten your wife?"

"Never in the two years I was married to her."

Holland said he does not know how his wife pitched into the well, about two feet off the back porch of their home at nearby Odenton, Md., but he explained he had stretched an extension cord from a kitchen socket through the door, down the porch steps, and into the well.

Hitch-Hiking Boys Take Motorist For Ride

MANDAN, N. D. — (AP) — Their benefactor not only gave them a free 200-mile ride, but bought them beer at five points along the way, two teen-aged hitch-hikers said in justice court.

The motorist was jailed for having unsealed liquor in his car, three liquor dealers were fined for selling to minors, and the youths, who wound things up by taking the car at the end of the ride and smashing it up, are awaiting juvenile action.

Censorship "Irritates" Gen. Eisenhower, Too

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army Chief of Staff, told newspapermen today that "every kind of censorship irritates me as much as it does you."

He said he has instructed his staff that every possible piece of information relating to World War II be made available to interested persons, including correspondents, and that "every piece of paper" in possession of the Army be "downgraded" (removed from secret or other restricted category) as rapidly as possible.

In a ceremony, the General pinned on 10 former war correspondents today the Medal of Freedom, official government decoration for civilians who served their country with distinction overseas during the war.

PARIS — (AP) — The American Joint Distribution Committee announces that it helped resettle 16,600 Jewish men, women and children in the first nine months of 1947.

The largest number—5,229, representing about 30 percent of the total—went to Palestine. Another 25 percent went to the U. S. Special children's projects helped 352 children to countries offering them refuge.

The AJDC said it had 75,000 applications for resettlement, mostly from displaced persons in Germany, Austria, and Italy, and is receiving 6,000 more every month.

Defendant Drops Suit Against Prosecutor

COPENHAGEN — (AP) — The first case in Denmark of a defendant suing his prosecutor collapsed when a former Nazi collaborator withdrew his appeal to a higher court charging violation of the constitution and abuse of official power.

Some time ago, the collaborator filed suit against the prosecutor maintaining that the latter had searched his prison cell without the court's permission. The judge ordered the prosecutor to take the stand as a defendant. When the prosecutor was acquitted, the collaborator appealed the verdict.

Now the plaintiff has withdrawn the appeal and it's the prosecutor's turn to make his charges.

Burma Inauguration Set By Astrologers

RANGOON — (AP) — Astrologers consulted by the Burmese government to select an "auspicious date" for the swearing-in ceremony of the president of the Union of Burma and the ministers of the new republic, named Jan. 15 for the ceremony government sources disclose.

According to these sources the ceremony scene probably will be the Government House, home of the former British governors.

During the ceremony seven Burmese boys and girls, bearing paddy shoots to symbolize prosperity's return to Burma, will encircle the ministers.

Dynamite Caps Keep Guardian Angels Busy

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—(AP)—Dynamite caps are notoriously touchy and dangerous articles but:

Some youngsters ripped the roof from an explosion dump and in the process a heavy timber fell five feet on to 8,000 caps. Then the boys took 200 of the caps, placed them in a hole and covered them by throwing rocks in on them. And there was no explosion.

Swiss Charity Fund

BERNE, Switzerland — (AP) — The Swiss parliament has appropriated 20,000,000 Swiss francs ($4,700,000) for charity activities abroad up to June 30, 1948.

Canadian Import Curbs To Hit U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP) — Canada's new restrictions on imports from the United States will mean a $300,000,000 blow to American exporters and manufacturers, government officials tentatively estimated today.

The emergency controls, suddenly applied by the dollar-short Ottawa government last night, promised to hit American business harder than the repeated reduction in buying by Great Britain. Despite its much smaller population, Canada this year was easily the United States' best customer, buying at the unprecedented rate of nearly $2,000,000,000.

These government officials said the United States regards the Canadian restrictions as a temporary "necessary evil" to be removed when Canada's financial position improves. The State Department was consulted in advance before the Canadians took the step, they said.

The American government offered no objection, they said, because Canada probably would be forced to take more drastic action later had it permitted the drain on its scanty dollar resources to go unchecked.

Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott disclosed in Ottawa that as of November 13, Canada's supply of gold and United States dollars had sunk to $500,000,000, a drop of $745,000,000 in less than 11 months.

Abbott said that the United States Export-Import Bank, besides promising Canada a credit of $300,000,000, had offered a bonus of $7 per ounce for increased gold production.

One bright spot in the picture, United States officials said, is that the Canadians may have to increase purchases of available American raw materials in order to counterbalance the reduction in purchases of finished American goods.

Holland Denies He Struck Wife

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) — State's Attorney Marvin I. Anderson called tonight for a verdict of first-degree murder against Joseph Henry Holland, Odenton, after the 43-year-old carpenter denied flatly that he had struck his wife on the head with a hammer.

In an hour-long summary of the state's case, Anderson told the Anne Arundel County Court it would be "almost humanly impossible" for Mrs. Holland to fall down her back-yard well to her death as her husband maintained, "even if she tried to."

Court was adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow when final arguments for the defense will be heard.

Anderson maintained the defendants wife "was dead when she went into that well. How long she was dead before that we cannot tell."

The state contends Holland beat 41-year-old Estelle M. Holland on the head with a hammer so he might some day marry Mrs. Audrey Hill, co-worker in a war plant.

Holland denied this on the stand.

"Did you hit your wife with anything?" asked defense counsel.

"I did not!"

Did you ever threaten your wife?"

"Never in the two years I was married to her."

Holland said he does not know how his wife pitched into the well, about two feet off the back porch of their home at nearby Odenton, Md., but he explained he had stretched an extension cord from a kitchen socket through the door, down the porch steps, and into the well.

Hitch-Hiking Boys Take Motorist For Ride

MANDAN, N. D. — (AP) — Their benefactor not only gave them a free 200-mile ride, but bought them beer at five points along the way, two teen-aged hitch-hikers said in justice court.

The motorist was jailed for having unsealed liquor in his car three liquor dealers were fined for selling to minors, and the youths, who wound things up by taking the car at the end of the ride and smashing it up, are awaiting juvenile action.

Censorship "Irritates" Gen. Eisenhower, Too

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army Chief of Staff, told newspapermen today that "every kind of censorship irritates me as much as it does you."

He said he has instructed his staff that every possible piece of information relating to World War II be made available to interested persons, including correspondents, and that "every piece of paper" in possession of the Army be "downgraded" (removed from secret or other restricted category) as rapidly as possible.

In a ceremony, the General pinned on 10 former war correspondents today the Medal of Freedom, official government decoration for civilians who served their country with distinction overseas during the war.

Beall High To Play For State Soccer Title Today

Frostburg Tests Bladensburg On Boonsboro Field

Maryland Class "A" Final Set For 1:30

Undefeated in twelve starts this season, Beall High School's soccer team will play for the Class "A" championship of Maryland when it meets the booters of Bladensburg High School of Prince George's county today at 1:30 p. m. at Boonsboro, Washington county, Md.

Coach Edward Finzel and his squad will leave Frostburg at 10:30 o'clock this morning for the scene of the game—the same field on which the Mountain City eleven lost a heartbreaking 3-2 decision to a powerful Sparrows Point High School team in the finals of the 1946 Class "A" tournament.

Beall's 1947 record is similar to the one the 1946 team had when it met Sparrows Point in the tourney finale. Last year's game also was played on a Wednesday. That was Beall's only defeat in soccer over a stretch of four seasons.

Twenty-three Beall players will make the trip to Boonsboro.

Bruce High School of Westernport, Allegany county's representative in the Maryland Class "C" tournament, will battle it out with LaPlata High School of Charles County tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in Frederick for the western shore title. The victor will play the Eastern Shore's representatives for the state title.

LaPlata eliminated Elkridge of Howard county yesterday at Bladensbury by the score of 4 to 1.

Jeffra's Boxers Listed For Bouts In Royale Show

Former Champ Brings Four Here On Monday

A four-man amateur boxing team in charge of Harry Jeffra, one-time bantamweight and featherweight champion of the world, will swap punches with local leather pushers in the Royale Athletic Club's first show of the season on Monday, November 24, at 8 p. m., at the State Armory, Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk, announced last night.

Mauk said that the visiting team hails from Mt. Wilson, Md., and is trained and managed by Jeffra, Baltimorean, who won and lost the bantam title in bouts with Sixto Escobar and also won and lost the 126-pound crown in bouts with Joey Archibald.

Bobby Goss, R. A. C. bantam, is slated to meet Mike Bruno, Jimmie Catanese will oppose Jakie Pellone, Randall "Skeets" Starkey will face Jimmie Childress in three matches already arranged. Jeffra hopes to bring a middleweight here to fight Bill Frazier, who is now boxing for the Royale A. C.

A program of eight or more matches is planned.

Navy Tops Air Corps In Shuffleboard Loop

Capt. John Carney's Navy team defeated Lou Riehl's Air Corps team by the score of 126 to 102 last night in the Amvets' Shuffleboard League.

Danny Drew paced the winners with a score of 37 while Bob Washabaugh topped the losers with a 34.

Tonight the Infantry will play the Cavalry at 9 o'clock.

Pennino Halts Carkido

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Al Pennino, 134, Brooklyn, upset Joey Carkido, 136, Youngstown, Ohio, tonight, winning a unanimous decision in the feature eight-rounder at the Park Arena. Superior infighting won for Pennino over the Ohio lad who had won 46 of 49 previous pro scraps.

86-DAY SWAMP FEVER QUARANTINE IS LIFTED ON 900 RACE HORSES

SALEM, N. H., Nov. 18—(AP)—Lifting of an 86-day quarantine that kept 900 race horses confined to the grounds at Rockingham Park after an outbreak of "swamp fever" at the track was officially announced today.

Giving a clean bill of health to the thoroughbreds which survived the epidemic, Dr. R. W. Smith, New Hampshire state veterinarian, said all had passed a 40-day screening test.

The disease—a form of anemia nearly always fatal—claimed the lives of 44 horses valued at an estimated $250,000. Among those destroyed were two outstanding stake horses — Ted Darling's West Fleet, a $93,000 winner in two years, and Ray Metcalf's Spangled Gaine.

Still quarantined, however, are eight horses moved from Rockingham to Echo Farm. One is H. Guy Bedwell's Prognosis, valued at $40,000. These horses face sure death, veterinarians say, but their owners have refused to destroy them on the grounds they would lose insurance on them.

STARS FOR TERPS — Lou Gambino of the University of Maryland ranks among the country's leading scorers on the gridiron. He heads the Southern Conference point getters as well as the collegiate scorers in Maryland. Maryland has won six games and lost two this season.

Ed Dudley Named President Of PGA For Seventh Term

Smear Campaign Fails To Defeat "Old Guard"

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—(AP)—The latest insurrection against the "old guard" in the Professional Golfers' Association was squelched today as genial Ed Dudley unanimously was re-elected president for his seventh straight term.

The solid sweep in the balloting of some 70 delegates and officers from all sections of the country crushed the behind-the-scenes candidacy of Horton Smith and an alleged "smear campaign" against Dudley.

That left as the annual meeting's only controversial item the protest of golfer Vic Ghezzi of Leal, N. J., against his ommission from the 1947 American Ryder Cup squad which the executive committee planned to hear tonight.

Smith, veteran player from Detroit, was boomed by an unidentified faction said to be at odds with the Dudley regime, but he never got a call in the voting.

Contacted after the election, Smith said he still thought the presidential tenure should be limited to three years, but extended best wishes to Dudley, who gives both Augusta, Ga., and Colorado Springs, as his addresses.

Smith joined Ben Hogan in disclaiming any part of a "poison pen" attack against Dudley, an accusation which Hogan attributed to Freddie Corcoran, PGA promotion director. Hogan threatened to have a "personal" showdown with Corcoran, if the latter appeared at the meeting which closes tomorrow. Corcoran has denied from New York that he was responsible for any story linking Smith, Hogan and Dick Metz, who punched Corcoran in California last year, with the campaign against Dudley.

Louis Sends Out SOS For Sparring Partners

POMPTON, N. J., Nov. 18—(AP)—With his sparring partners all battered and bruised, world's heavyweight champion Joe Louis today sent out an SOS to New York and Chicago for help.

Joe, training here for his championship fight with Jersey Joe Walcott Decembr 5 at Madison Square Garden, has been extra rough with his sparring mates. As a result, Jimmy Bell is banged up quite a bit and Bob Garner and George Fitch have been nursing bruises.

BLUE BOLTS TO PLAY HAGERSTOWN SUNDAY

The Cumberland Blue Bolts football team is scheduled to play two games in three days.

The local independent eleven will meet the Crabtree Blue Devils in a game at Greensburg, Pa., Friday at 7 o'clock while on Sunday afternoon the Blue Bolts will play hosts to the South End Athletic Club of Hagerstown at 2:30 o'clock at Community Park.

Last Sunday's game between the Blue Bolts and Beaverdale (Pa.) at the latter place resulted in a scoreless tie.

Green Is Victor

BROOKLYN, Nov. 18—(AP)—Harold Green, 157, Brooklyn, won his third straight comeback victory tonight, earning a unanimous eight-round decision over Nick Kashuba, 161, Brooklyn at the Broadway arena.

Panthers Remain As Lone Obstacle In Path Of Lions

Pitt Has Been Jinx To Penn State Teams

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 18—(AP)—Jeff Durkota and his Penn State mates, boasting the nation's top offensive and defensive record, run into their old jinx—the University of Pittsburgh—Saturday in the Lions' final hurdle to an unbeaten-untied gridiron season.

Not since 1912 has a Penn State team gone through a season with an unsullied record and the team most destructive of Nittany Lion records over the years has been the once-mighty Pitt Panthers.

But this year the Panthers are somewhat less than mighty, winning only once in seven tries and yielding 221 points. But it was an equally deflated Pitt team that upset Penn State a year ago after the Nittany Lions had beaten Navy.

And it was that overconfidence that Coach Bob Higgins stressed today as he put his charges through their paces.

"I don't want to see a repeat of last year's performance," said the veteran mentor.

He recounted for his team the 1940 experience when Penn State, with a Rose Bowl bid riding on the game, found its unbeaten record snapped by an underdog Pitt eleven, 20-7.

Navy all but knocked away Penn State's chances of establishing a new modern defensive record as the Middies rolled up 112 yards on the ground and 105 in the air while losing 20-7 last Saturday.

Thus Penn State's defensive average climbed to an 81-yard yield per game. Tre record is held by the 1937 Santa Clara team on a yield of 69.9 yards.

But the Lions didn't hurt their offensive mark in the muddy battle with Navy. In eight unbeaten games, Penn State has averaged 371.2 yards.

Deer Checking Station Is OK'd At Westernport

Upper Potomac Club's Request Is Granted

Establishment of a deer checking station at Westernport for the six-day open season, December 1 to 6, was announced last night by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Request for the opening of a station at Westernport was made by the Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club of the Tri-Towns, one of the largest sportsmen's organizations in Maryland.

Minke said that the Westernport station will be located at the headquarters of the Maryland State Police.

Heretofore the nearest stations were at Swanton and LaVale.

The regional warden said that many deer killed in Garrett county will be registered at the new station.

There are now 10 checking stations in the three counties—Garrett, Washington and Allegany—which comprise District No. 1. They are located at the following places:

Garrett County

Sheriff's office, Oakland.

Matt Storey's Inn, Deep Creek Lake.

Quincy Murphy's garage, Friendsville.

William Biddington's residence, Grantsville.

Post office at Swanton, Md.

Allegany County

Maryland State Police barracks, LaVale.

Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge.

Lewis' Store, Oldtown.

Police headquarters, Westernport.

Washington County

Sensel's Restaurant, off Route 40 near the bridge at Hancock.

LOST TO YANKS — Joe Domnanovich, Boston Yanks' center who suffered a concussion in the neck area, lies in Temple University Hospital with Nurse Dorothy Nanovic in attendance. The big center was injured in a game with the Philadelphia Eagles Nov. 16 and will be lost to the team indefinitely.

Baltimore Sportsman Seeks St. Louis Browns' Franchise

Bob Rodenberg Would Transfer Major Club

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18—(AP)—Bob Rodenberg, Washington sportsman and president of the Baltimore professional football Colts, disclosed today that he was endeavoring to purchase controlling interest in the St. Louis Browns and transfer the American League baseball franchise to this city.

The head of the Baltimore All-America Football Conference club said he had discussed the matter with a representative of Dick Muckerman, principal owner of the Browns, but that no definite offer had yet been made.

Ripe For Major Baseball

"Baltimore is ripe and ready for big league baseball," Rodenberg said, adding that he had talked with American League officials, as well as with representatives of the Baltimore Orioles, members of the International Baseball League.

"I don't think St. Louis is big enough to support two major league clubs, and transfer of the Browns to Baltimore would be to the advantage of both the National and American leagues, he said.

"I've gone over the St. Louis figures and the deal can be made," Rodenberg added.

But in St. Louis Muckerman was emphatic in a denial that there was any deal pending with Rodenberg.

"I never have met Rodenberg," he said. "In fact, I've never even heard of him. I have not had any correspondence with him or any of his representatives and so far as I know neither have any of my representatives.

"Before there are any more rumors about my selling the Browns, let these parties back them up with dollars.

Chief drawback to the plan is lack of a suitable baseball park, but construction of a new Baltimore stadium is expected to get under way by January 1.

Will Seat 74,000

Announcement was made today at a meeting of the city board of recreation and parks that the proposed new stadium ultimately will seat 74,000 for baseball and 84,000 for football.

L. P. Kooken, member of an engineering firm working on preliminary drawings for the stadium, told the board that during the construction period the park would be usable for baseball and football, although the temporary centerfield wall would be only 400 feet from home plate.

The Orioles now play in the 33rd street municipal stadium, which can seat 60,000 for football and is used by the Colts, Navy and other football teams. It is an open stadium without roof.

"It would be a great thing for the city," said Manager Tommy Thomas of the Orioles, who recalled that the Baltimore Baseball Club voted at the minor league meeting in Los Angeles last year to allow the majors to take over the Baltimore Territory.

Navy Team Starts Work For Army Game Nov. 29

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) — Navy's football team got down to fundamentals today in its preparation for the grid go with Army November 29 at Philadelphia.

Coach Capt. Tom Hamilton stressed individual blocking for his Middies. It was mostly work on the offensive side, but some passing and reception were thrown in.

Hamilton has been grooming the second string as a mythical Army team to be thrown against the varsity with all the plays that Navy scouts have garnered in watching the Cadets.

KINDER, HITCHCOCK TRADED BY ST. LOUIS TO BOSTON RED SOX

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (INS)—The Boston Red Sox announced tonight the second player deal in 48 hours with the St. Louis Browns.

The Sox acquired the services of pitcher Ellis Kinder and infielder Bill Hitchcock in exchange for Infielder Sam Dente, southpaw pitcher Clem Driesewerd, an undisclosed amount of cash and a player to be named at a later date.

The Browns and Sox completed Monday a huge trade in which Boston acquired shortstop Vern Stephens and pitcher Jack Kramer for seven players and cash.

Change Proposed For Middies' Grid Coaching System

Comment Is Refused On Paper Editorial

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) — A proposal to change the football coaching system at the Naval Academy is something officials would rather not talk about.

Comment was refused today on an editorial in the Annapolis Evening Capital advocating a change in the system of using officers as coaches, usually in three-year duty tours.

The Evening Capital asked the change "to give the players, and the coaches, at least an even break in competition in the future."

"Any person familiar with the records of Navy football teams the last few years realizes that some change is essential in the coaching system, especially if Navy is to continue to meet the leading teams of the nation week after week."

"To continue the present system, under which the midshipmen, although fighting splendidly, are beaten and mauled week-end after week-end, is simply tossing the players to the Lions for the amusement of crowded stadiums."

The newspaper said it was not critical of Capt. Tom Hamilton, Navy's present coach, under whom Navy won one game last year—with Villanova — defeated Cornell this year, tied Duke and lost the rest.

It added, "in these days, when football is big business, coaching is a profession, and it is not fair to expect a man to be an efficient naval officer and at the same time be an efficient football coach. Each is a career in itself."

TEMPLE WILL PLAY 23 CAGE CONTESTS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 (AP) — A 23-game basketball schedule that reads like a who's who in the court game was released today by Temple University.

Dec. 3 at Bloomsburg Teachers, 6—Muhlenberg, 10 Delaware at Newark, Nel., 13 Oklahoma A. & M., 20 Kentucky, 27 Dartmouth, 30 New York University at Newark, Jan. 1 Santa Clara, 3 Colorado, 10 Duke, 13 North Carolina, 21 Muhlenberg at Allentown, 24 LaSalle, 31 St. John's, Feb. 4 at Syracuse, 7 New York University, 10 Holy Cross at Boston, 14 West Virginia, 17 St. Joseph's, 21 Penn State, 24 Kentucky at Louisville, March 2 West Virginia at Morgantown and 6 Penn State at State College.

Braves Trade Murtaugh And Hopp To Corsairs

Pirates Swap Lyons, Russell And Salkeld

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Boston Braves tonight traded Outfielder Johnny Hopp and Infielder Danny Murtaugh to the Pittsburgh Pirates for outfielder Jim Russell, pitcher Al Lyons and catcher Bill Salkeld.

Russell, who at 28 is three years younger than the fleet Hopp, has played all three outfield positions.

Lyons, a hefty right hander, went to the Pirates last season from the Yankee chain for infielder Eddie Basinsky and cash.

Salkeld, 30, has been with the Pirates since 1945 after breaking in the Pacific League with San Diego and San Francisco. He is a left handed batter.

Earlier the Tribe announced the purchase of left handed pitcher Jim Prendergast from the International League's Syracuse Chiefs.

Prendergast, equipped with a curve and a sinker, won 20 and lost 15 last season with the Chiefs and the previous season, his first after army service, he had a 17-10 record with the same club.

BECOMES PIRATE — Johnny Hopp, former Boston outfielder, became a Pittsburgh Pirate yesterday when he and Infielder Danny Murtaugh were traded by the Braves to the Buccaneers for Jim Russell, outfielder; Al Lyons, pitcher, and Bill Salkeld, catcher. Hopp went to Boston from the St. Louis Cardinals and is regarded as being a good hitter.

LaMotta's Story Is Contradicted By His Physician

Says Jake Was Sound Before Ring Fiasco

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(INS)—Jake La Motta's story that poor condition caused his fourth-round knockout by Billy Fox last Friday night was flatly contradicted today by La Motta's personal physician, Dr. Nicholas Salerno.

The medical man, saying he was "misunderstood" in previous statements attributed to him, more than challenged the fighter's version of the $100,000 fiasco at Madison Square Garden. He definitely repudiated it.

Dr. Salerno stated that, far from being a victim of physical disability on that occasion, La Motta was sound in every respect when examined by him 24 hours before the presumed contest of skill.

Whatever it actually became, its dubious ending brought it a weekend of unwelcome attention, including that of the district attorney's office.

Says La Motta Was Fit

La Motta's further contention that he had entered the ring against th advice of his physician also was denied today by Dr. Salerno, who said:

"Having found the patient physically fit the day before the fight, I had no reason to advise him against taking part in it. That advice was given more than a month ago when La Motta first consulted me about his condition. (Blood clot of the spleen).

"It responded to treatment in the meantime and was entirely cleared up Thursday when I gave La Motta a final check-up."

The physician said he had reported these findings to Boxing Commission Chairman Eddie Eagan, who has withheld the fighter's purses of $23,910.22 each pending an official inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the event.

For one thing, New York writers at the ringside were virtually unanimous in openly condemning the actual developments in the ring.

Betting Odds Gyrated

For another, betting odds gyrated so alarmingly, from 6-5 to 12-5 on Fox the day of the fight, the Broadway "books" at length refused to accept further bets on the Philadelphian.

Chairman Eagan, unofficially said to have been prompted by Albany, has announced a formal hearing on Friday next. He was first quoted as having seen "nothing wrong" the night of the fight.

District Attorney Frank Hogan, meanwhile, is proposing to present the matter to the grand jury next week to discover if a felony has been committed under section 382 of the state penal code. It is punishable by one to five years in jail, or a fine of $10,000—or both.

The grand jury in question is the same panel which heard testimony in the Rocky Graziano case, as an indirect result of which, the world's middleweight champion had his New York license revoked.

Renaissance Five Will Battle Dukes Here On Sunday

Locals To Practice Tomorrow At Y.M.C.A.

Coach Bobby Cavanaugh will send the Cumberland Dukes through their final practice session tomorrow night on the YMCA court in preparation for the next Sunday's game with the Renaissance Big Five, famous Negro quint from New York City.

Drills are being held at the "Y" because the state armory floor, scene of Sunday's game at 3:30 p. m., is being refinished. Tomorrow's practice session is set for 7:30 p. m.

The Rens are featuring Capt. William "Pop" Gates, who is touted as being one of the greatest players in the game. The visiting team's lineup also will include Bill "Dolly" King, 6-foot-5 giant who formerly played with Long Island University; Eddie "Rabbit" Younger, Robert "Sonny" Wood, George Crowe, Jim Usry, Tom Sealy, Hank DeZonie and "Vic" Hansen. Hansen is 6-foot-2, Crowe 6-3, Usry 6-4 and DeZonie, 6-6.

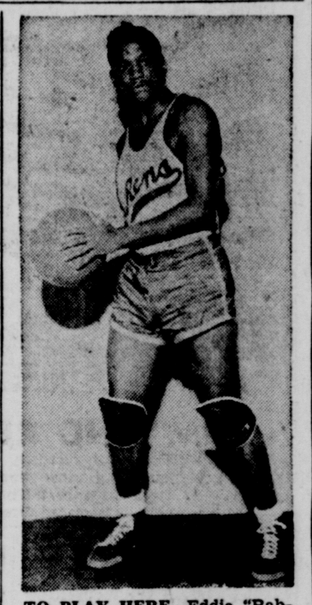

During the past 25 years, Renaissance teams have played to over two million fans all over the country and have traveled thousands of miles in their own streamlined bus and by rail and air. The Rens also are said to hold the all-time consecutive games won record of 88.

Last season the Rens gave a brilliant exhibition in defeating the Amvets here.

Terps To Play Vandy

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) —Coach Jim Tatum put his University of Maryland football squad through one of its longest and toughest practice sessions of the season today in preparation for Saturday's game with Vanderbilt at Nashville.

The squad elected center Gene Kinney, a junior from Louisville, Ky., game captain.

TO PLAY HERE—Eddie "Rabbit" Younger, who is said to run like his nickname, will be seen in action at the State Armory Sunday afternoon when the Renaissance Big Five, famous negro basketball team from New York, comes here to do battle with the Cumberland Dukes. Younger is 5-feet-5 and weighs 140 pounds. The game is set for 3:30 o'clock.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — The original "man with wings" still likes those wings, and if he were coaching football today he'd ignore the revived "T" and stick with his inventions of nearly four decades ago.

Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, who virtually revolutionized offensive play with his single and double wingback formations back in 1910 and 1911, is in town to receive a long-due tribute from the Touchdown Club for his part in the advancement of the game.

He's well up in his 70s now, is Pop, but he follows the sport as avidly as in the days when he was out-foxing the best of his rivals while coaching at Cornell, from where he was graduated in 1894; Carlisle, Pittsburgh, Stanford and Temple.

He's enjoying his retirement now at this home in Palo Alto, Calif., where he does a little oil painting and makes canes, the latter because he "likes to putter around in a shop." Square-jawed and with bushy, Ed Barrowish eyebrows, he presents a formidable appearance which is offset by twinkling eyes and a grand sense of humor.

His invention of the wingback formations was fathered by necessity, he recalls.

"When they made the rule prohibiting the pushing of the ball carrier by his teammates," he explains, "I devised the single wing to get the most out of the backfield men. That was in 1910."

He devised the double wing in 1911, the same year he invented the reverse play. He points out that many of the better teams still use the wingback style of attack, and says it has its advantages over the "T".

"There is more and more forward passing," he says, "and I don't think the "T" quarterback is in as good a position to throw as the man in the wingback who takes the ball. The 'T' man must run back and turn."

Mr. Warner is against the unlimited substitution rules for college players, as he thinks it tends to "take the game away from the boys," although he thinks it is okay for the pros.

"Players today are trained differently than they used to be," he added. "When games consisted of two 35 minute halves, with few substitutions, the boys had to be trained to play for longer periods. Naturally they slowed up late in the game, so it became a little slower in the late stages than it is today with fresh men going in."

Concerning the ability of the players of today, he thinks that on the whole the players who make today's teams are better, as there are more boys playing football and consequently more to choose from, with the best boys making the team.

He stands by his often-repeated assertion that he would rather have Ernie Nevers on his team than Jim Thorpe, even in the last 10 minutes of a crucial game.

"Nevers always was dependable," he explains. "Thorpe had great natural ability but he was a happy-go-lucky fellow who played his best only when he felt like it."

Pop grins slyly when the story is brought up about sewing leather in the shape of footballs on the jersies of his Carlisle team so it would be difficult to tell who really had the ball.

"For one game I bought cheap footballs and cut them in two and sewed the halves on the front of the jersies," he recalls. "I heard that Percy Haughton, the Harvard coach, said he wouldn't play us if we did that, so we ripped them off."

His greatest Carlisle team, incidentally, averaged only 174 pounds. Practically flyweights alongside today's giants.

There is a group of fish called "flatfish," but the "rays," which are the flattest of all known fishes, do not belong to this group.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

A bad series of fumbles at crucial moments in the ball game stopped the LaSalle High Explorers in their final home contest of the season as the Romney (W. Va.) High Pioneers eked out a slim one-point 14-13 decision over the Cumberlanders last night at Fort Hill stadium.

Probably the smallest crowd of the season, approximately 1,500 persons, witnessed the mid-week fray at the Greenway Avenue bowl.

The butter-fingered, blue-shirted warriors from North Centre Street fumbled no less than nine times and the alert white-clad Pioneers recovered six of the miscues.

Fumble Nets Score

Several of the bobbles played very important roles in the final outcome of the hard-fought battle. The second Explorer fumble in the first period was recovered by Bill Manross of the visitors on the LaSalle 14 and led directly to the final Pioneer touchdown.

Bob Sirk, hard-running left halfback of Coach Dick McElwee's West Virginians picked up eight yards through tackle and Mike Ansel added three more for a first down on the Explorer 4-yard stripe.

Bob Sirk then made three more yards and Ansel cracked over for the second Romney score from one yard out just as the first period came to a close. Bill Baird, Romney quarterback and captain, tacked on the extra point from placement that meant the ball game with the score reading 14-0 in favor of the Hampshire Countians.

An Explorer threat in the second stanza was stopped on the Romney 15 when Dick Leo took Mickey Clark's pass for a nine-yard gain but fumbled when hit and the Pioneers recovered.

Miscue Again Costly

Moments later in the same quarter LaSalle again was knocking at the Romney touchdown door after a sensational 24-yard run by Jim Collins had placed the ball on the Pioneer 19. But Joe Collins bobbled the pigskin again and the elusive ball once more nestled in the arms of Bill Manross of the McElweemen to stop the drive.

Mentor Johnny Long's scrappy Explorers came bouncing back in the third period to tally two quick touchdowns and climb right back in the ball game.

A 61-yard drive was capped by Jim Collins when the LaSalle halfback circled right end for the initial Explorer score from the six.

Louis Arnone, diminutive right half, added the point on a plunge and LaSalle trailed 14-7.

Leo Scores Touchdown

Taking a Romney punt later in the period on their own 39 the Explorers once more marched the length of the field for a six-pointer. Dick Leo featured the drive with a sparkling catch of a Clark-tossed aerial good for 10 yards and then romping around the left side of the line on an end-around play for the final 20 yards and the touchdown. Joe Collins was stopped on a plunge for the point.

The losers picked up six first downs in the fourth quarter as they moved the ball at will in mid-field but again when the chips were down and a score looked eminent a flubbed ball robbed them of their chance.

Louie Arnone fumbled on the Romney 19 early in the final stanza and Grover Hott fell on the ball for the Pioneers. Moments later Joe Collins let the pigskin get away from him on the West Virginia nine-yard stripe. This time Ferman Shingleton was the lad who saved the day for Romney with his timely recovery.

LaSalle Passes Desperately

The game ended with LaSalle desperately trying to pull the contest out of the fire with long passes. Joe Collins snatched a 15-yard aerial shot on the Romney 32 as the final gun went off.

A 78-yard drive opened the fray as Romney took the opening kickoff and without relinquishing the ball capped the spurt with Bob Sirk plunging over from the one. Frank "Apie" Tutwiller added the point on a plunge.

Bob Sirk, Bill Baird, Leo Everett, Bill Manross and Sid Roach were the outstanding Romney players while Mickey Clark, Jim Collins, Dick Leo and Jim Dorsey looked best for LaSalle. The lineups:

Beall High To Play For State Soccer Title Today

Frostburg Tests Bladensburg On Boonsboro Field

Maryland Class "A" Final Set For 1:30

Undefeated in twelve starts this season, Beall High School's soccer team will play for the Class "A" championship of Maryland when it meets the booters of Bladensburg High School of Prince George's county today at 1:30 p. m. at Boonsboro, Washington county, Md.

Coach Edward Finzel and his squad will leave Frostburg at 10:30 o'clock this morning for the scene of the game—the same field on which the Mountain City eleven lost a heartbreaking 3-2 decision to a powerful Sparrows Point High School team in the finals of the 1946 Class "A" tournament.

Beall's 1947 record is similar to the one the 1946 team had when it met Sparrows Point in the tourney finale. Last year's game also was played on a Wednesday. That was Beall's only defeat in soccer over a stretch of four seasons.

Twenty-three Beall players will make the trip to Boonsboro.

Bruce High School of Westernport, Allegany county's representative in the Maryland Class "C" tournament, will battle it out with LaPlata High School of Charles County tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in Frederick for the western shore title. The victor will play the Eastern Shore's representatives for the state title.

LaPlata eliminated Elkridge of Howard county yesterday at Bladensbury by the score of 4 to 1.

Jeffra's Boxers Listed For Bouts In Royale Show

Former Champ Brings Four Here On Monday

A four-man amateur boxing team in charge of Harry Jeffra, one-time bantamweight and featherweight champion of the world, will swap punches with local leather pushers in the Royale Athletic Club's first show of the season on Monday, November 24, at 8 p. m., at the State Armory, Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk, announced last night.

Mauk said that the visiting team hails from Mt. Wilson, Md., and is trained and managed by Jeffra, Baltimorean, who won and lost the bantam title in bouts with Sixto Escobar and also won and lost the 126-pound crown in bouts with Joey Archibald.

Bobby Goss, R. A. C. bantam, is slated to meet Mike Bruno, Jimmie Catanese will oppose Jakie Pellone, Randall "Skeets" Starkey will face Jimmie Childress in three matches already arranged. Jeffra hopes to bring a middleweight here to fight Bill Frazier, who is now boxing for the Royale A. C.

A program of eight or more matches is planned.

Navy Tops Air Corps In Shuffleboard Loop

Capt. John Carney's Navy team defeated Lou Riehl's Air Corps team by the score of 126 to 102 last night in the Amvets' Shuffleboard League.

Danny Drew paced the winners with a score of 37 while Bob Washabaugh topped the losers with a 34.

Tonight the Infantry will play the Cavalry at 9 o'clock.

Pennino Halts Carkido

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Al Pennino, 134, Brooklyn, upset Joey Carkido, 136, Youngstown, Ohio, tonight, winning a unanimous decision in the feature eight-rounder at the Park Arena. Superior infighting won for Pennino over the Ohio lad who had won 46 of 49 previous pro scraps.

86-DAY SWAMP FEVER QUARANTINE IS LIFTED ON 900 RACE HORSES

SALEM, N. H., Nov. 18—(AP)—Lifting of an 86-day quarantine that kept 900 race horses confined to the grounds at Rockingham Park after an outbreak of "swamp fever" at the track was officially announced today.

Giving a clean bill of health to the thoroughbreds which survived the epidemic, Dr. R. W. Smith, New Hampshire state veterinarian, said all had passed a 40-day screening test.

The disease—a form of anemia nearly always fatal—claimed the lives of 44 horses valued at an estimated $250,000. Among those destroyed were two outstanding stake horses — Ted Darling's West Fleet, a $93,000 winner in two years, and Ray Metcalf's Spangled Game.

Still quarantined, however, are eight horses moved from Rockingham to Echo Farm. One is H. Guy Bedwell's Prognosis, valued at $40,000. These horses face sure death, veterinarians say, but their owners have refused to destroy them on the grounds they would lose insurance on them.

STARS FOR TERPS — Lou Gambino of the University of Maryland ranks among the country's leading scorers on the gridiron. He heads the Southern Conference point getters as well as the collegiate scorers in Maryland. Maryland has won six games and lost two this season.

Ed Dudley Named President Of PGA For Seventh Term

Smear Campaign Fails To Defeat "Old Guard"

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—(AP)—The latest insurrection against the "old guard" in the Professional Golfers' Association was squelched today as genial Ed Dudley unanimously was re-elected president for his seventh straight term.

The solid sweep in the balloting of some 70 delegates and officers from all sections of the country crushed the behind-the-scenes candidacy of Horton Smith and an alleged "smear campaign" against Dudley.

That left as the annual meeting's only controversial item the protest of golfer Vic Ghezzi of Leal, N. J., against his ommission from the 1947 American Ryder Cup squad which the executive committee planned to hear tonight.

Smith, veteran player from Detroit, was boomed by an unidentified faction said to be at odds with the Dudley regime, but he never got a call in the voting.

Contacted after the election, Smith said he still thought the presidential tenure should be limited to three years, but extended best wishes to Dudley, who gives both Augusta, Ga., and Colorado Springs, as his addresses.

Smith joined Ben Hogan in disclaiming any part of a "poison pen" attack against Dudley, an accusation which Hogan attributed to Freddie Corcoran, PGA promotion director. Hogan threatened to have a "personal" showdown with Corcoran, if the latter appeared at the meeting which closes tomorrow. Corcoran has denied from New York that he was responsible for any story linking Smith, Hogan and Dick Metz, who punched Corcoran in California last year, with the campaign against Dudley.

Louis Sends Out SOS For Sparring Partners

POMPTON, N. J., Nov. 18—(AP)—With his sparring partners all battered and bruised, world's heavyweight champion Joe Louis today sent out an SOS to New York and Chicago for help.

Joe, training here for his championship fight with Jersey Joe Walcott Decembr 5 at Madison Square Garden, has been extra rough with his sparring mates. As a result, Jimmy Bell is banged up quite a bit and Bob Garner and George Fitch have been nursing bruises.

BLUE BOLTS TO PLAY HAGERSTOWN SUNDAY

The Cumberland Blue Bolts football team is scheduled to play two games in three days.

The local independent eleven will meet the Crabtree Blue Devils in a game at Greensburg, Pa., Friday at 7 o'clock while on Sunday afternoon the Blue Bolts will play hosts to the South End Athletic Club of Hagerstown at 2:30 o'clock at Community Park.

Last Sunday's game between the Blue Bolts and Beaverdale (Pa.) at the latter place resulted in a scoreless tie.

Green Is Victor

BROOKLYN, Nov. 18—(AP)—Harold Green, 157, Brooklyn, won his third straight comeback victory tonight, earning a unanimous eight-round decision over Nick Kashuba, 161, Brooklyn at the Broadway arena.

Panthers Remain As Lone Obstacle In Path Of Lions

Pitt Has Been Jinx To Penn State Teams

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 18—(AP)—Jeff Durkota and his Penn State mates, boasting the nation's top offensive and defensive record, run into their old jinx—the University of Pittsburgh—Saturday in the Lions' final hurdle to an unbeaten-untied gridiron season.

Not since 1912 has a Penn State team gone through a season with an unsullied record and the team most destructive of Nittany Lion records over the years has been the once-mighty Pitt Panthers.

But this year the Panthers are somewhat less than mighty, winning only once in seven tries and yielding 221 points. But it was an equally deflated Pitt team that upset Penn State a year ago after the Nittany Lions had beaten Navy.

And it was that overconfidence that Coach Bob Higgins stressed today as he put his charges through their paces.

"I don't want to see a repeat of last year's performance," said the veteran mentor.

He recounted for his team the 1940 experience when Penn State, with a Rose Bowl bid riding on the game, found its unbeaten record snapped by an underdog Pitt eleven, 20-7.

Navy all but knocked away Penn State's chances of establishing a new modern defensive record as the Middies rolled up 112 yards on the ground and 105 in the air while losing 20-7 last Saturday.

Thus Penn State's defensive average climbed to an 81-yard yield per game. Tre record is held by the 1937 Santa Clara team on a yield of 69.9 yards.

But the Lions didn't hurt their offensive mark in the muddy battle with Navy. In eight unbeaten games, Penn State has averaged 371.2 yards.

Deer Checking Station Is OK'd At Westernport

Upper Potomac Club's Request Is Granted

Establishment of a deer checking station at Westernport for the six-day open season, December 1 to 6, was announced last night by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Request for the opening of a station at Westernport was made by the Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club of the Tri-Towns, one of the largest sportsmen's organizations in Maryland.

Minke said that the Westernport station will be located at the headquarters of the Maryland State Police.

Heretofore the nearest stations were at Swanton and LaVale.

The regional warden said that many deer killed in Garrett county will be registered at the new station.

There are now 10 checking stations in the three counties—Garrett, Washington and Allegany—which comprise District No. 1. They are located at the following places:

Garrett County

Sheriff's office, Oakland.
Matt Storey's Inn, Deep Creek Lake.
Quincy Murphy's garage, Friendsville.
William Biddington's residence, Grantsville.
Post office at Swanton, Md.

Allegany County

Maryland State Police barracks, LaVale.
Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge.
Lewis' Store, Oldtown.
Police headquarters, Westernport.

Washington County

Sensel's Restaurant, off Route 40 near the bridge at Hancock.

LOST TO YANKS — Joe Domnanovich, Boston Yanks' center who suffered a concussion in the neck area, lies in Temple University Hospital with Nurse Dorothy Nanovic in attendance. The big center was injured in a game with the Philadelphia Eagles Nov. 16 and will be lost to the team indefinitely.

Navy Team Starts Work For Army Game Nov. 29

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) — Navy's football team got down to fundamentals today in its preparation for the grid go with Army November 29 at Philadelphia.

Coach Capt. Tom Hamilton stressed individual blocking for his Middies. It was mostly work on the offensive side, but some passing and reception were thrown in.

Hamilton has been grooming the second string as a mythical Army team to be thrown against the varsity with all the plays that Navy scouts have garnered in watching the Cadets.

Baltimore Sportsman Seeks St. Louis Browns' Franchise

Bob Rodenberg Would Transfer Major Club

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18—(AP)—Bob Rodenberg, Washington sportsman and president of the Baltimore professional football Colts, disclosed today that he was endeavoring to purchase controlling interest in the St. Louis Browns and transfer the American League baseball franchise to this city.

The head of the Baltimore All-America Football Conference club said he had discussed the matter with a representative of Dick Muckerman, principal owner of the Browns, but that no definite offer had yet been made.

Ripe For Major Baseball

"Baltimore is ripe and ready for big league baseball," Rodenberg said, adding that he had talked with American League officials, as well as with representatives of the Baltimore Orioles, members of the International Baseball League.

"I don't think St. Louis is big enough to support two major league clubs, and transfer of the Browns to Baltimore would be to the advantage of both the National and American leagues, he said.

"I've gone over the St. Louis figures and the deal can be made," Rodenberg added.

But in St. Louis Muckerman was emphatic in a denial that there was any deal pending with Rodenberg.

"I never have met Rodenberg," he said. "In fact, I've never even heard of him. I have not had any correspondence with him or any of his representatives and so far as I know neither have any of my representatives.

"Before there are any more rumors about my selling the Browns, let these parties back them up with dollars.

Chief drawback to the plan is lack of a suitable baseball park, but construction of a new Baltimore stadium is expected to get under way by January 1.

Will Seat 74,000

Announcement was made today at a meeting of the city board of recreation and parks that the proposed new stadium ultimately will seat 74,000 for baseball and 84,000 for football.

L. P. Kooken, member of an engineering firm working on preliminary drawings for the stadium, told the board that during the construction period the park would be usable for baseball and football, although the temporary centerfield wall would be only 400 feet from home plate.

The Orioles now play in the 33rd street municipal stadium, which can seat 60,000 for football and is used by the Colts, Navy and other football teams. It is an open stadium without roof.

"It would be a great thing for the city," said Manager Tommy Thomas of the Orioles, who recalled that the Baltimore Baseball Club voted at the minor league meeting in Los Angeles last year to allow the majors to take over the Baltimore Territory.

KINDER, HITCHCOCK TRADED BY ST. LOUIS TO BOSTON RED SOX

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (INS)—The Boston Red Sox announced tonight the second player deal in 48 hours with the St. Louis Browns.

The Sox acquired the services of pitcher Ellis Kinder and infielder Bill Hitchcock in exchange for Infielder Sam Dente, southpaw pitcher Clem Driesewerd, an undisclosed amount of cash and a player to be named at a later date.

The Browns and Sox completed Monday a huge trade in which Boston acquired shortstop Vern Stephens and pitcher Jack Kramer for seven players and cash.

Change Proposed For Middies' Grid Coaching System

Comment Is Refused On Paper Editorial

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) — A proposal to change the football coaching system at the Naval Academy is something officials would rather not talk about.

Comment was refused today on an editorial in the Annapolis Evening Capital advocating a change in the system of using officers as coaches, usually in three-year duty tours.

The Evening Capital asked the change "to give the players, and the coaches, at least an even break in competition in the future."

"Any person familiar with the records of Navy football teams the last few years realizes that some change is essential in the coaching system, especially if Navy is to continue to meet the leading teams of the nation week after week."

"To continue the present system, under which the midshipmen, although fighting splendidly, are beaten and mauled week-end after week-end, is simply tossing the players to the Lions for the amusement of crowded stadiums."

The newspaper said it was not critical of Capt. Tom Hamilton, Navy's present coach, under whom Navy won one game last year—with Villanova — defeated Cornell this year, tied Duke and lost the rest.

It added, "in these days, when football is big business, coaching is a profession, and it is not fair to expect a man to be an efficient naval officer and at the same time be an efficient football coach. Each is a career in itself."

TEMPLE WILL PLAY 23 CAGE CONTESTS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 (AP) — A 23-game basketball schedule that reads like a who's who in the court game was released today by Temple University.

Dec. 3 at Bloomsburg Teachers, 6—Muhlenberg, 10 Delaware at Newark, Nel., 13 Oklahoma A. & M., 20 Kentucky, 27 Dartmouth, 30 New York University at Newark, Jan. 1 Santa Clara, 3 Colorado, 10 Duke, 13 North Carolina, 21 Muhlenberg at Allentown, 24 LaSalle, 31 St. John's, Feb. 4 at Syracuse, 7 New York University, 10 Holy Cross at Boston, 14 West Virginia, 17 St. Joseph's, 21 Penn State, 24 Kentucky at Louisville, March 2 West Virginia at Morgantown and 6 Penn State at State College.

Braves Trade Murtaugh And Hopp To Corsairs

Pirates Swap Lyons, Russell And Salkeld

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Boston Braves tonight traded Outfielder Johnny Hopp and Infielder Danny Murtaugh to the Pittsburgh Pirates for outfielder Jim Russell, pitcher Al Lyons and catcher Bill Salkeld.

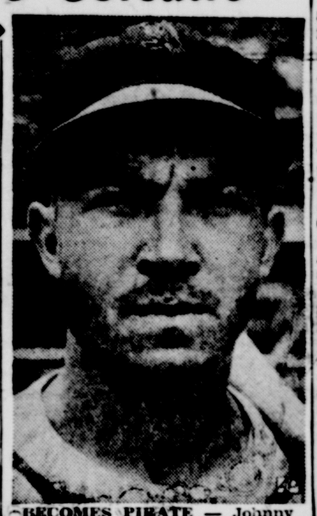

Russell, who at 28 is three years younger than the fleet Hopp, has played all three outfield positions.

Lyons, a hefty right hander, went to the Pirates last season from the Yankee chain for infielder Eddie Basinsky and cash.

Salkeld, 30, has been with the Pirates since 1945 after breaking in the Pacific League with San Diego and San Francisco. He is a left handed batter.

Earlier the Tribe announced the purchase of left handed pitcher Jim Prendergast from the International League's Syracuse Chiefs.

Prendergast, equipped with a curve and a sinker, won 20 and lost 15 last season with the Chiefs and the previous season, his first after army service, he had a 17-10 record with the same club.

BECOMES PIRATE — Johnny Hopp, former Boston outfielder, became a Pittsburgh Pirate yesterday when he and Infielder Danny Murtaugh were traded by the Braves to the Buccaneers for Jim Russell, outfielder; Al Lyons, pitcher, and Bill Salkeld, catcher. Hopp went to Boston from the St. Louis Cardinals and is regarded as being a good hitter.

LaMotta's Story Is Contradicted By His Physician

Says Jake Was Sound Before Ring Fiasco

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(INS)—Jake La Motta's story that poor condition caused his fourth-round knockout by Billy Fox last Friday night was flatly contradicted today by La Motta's personal physician, Dr. Nicholas Salerno.

The medical man, saying he was "misunderstood" in previous statements attributed to him, more than challenged the fighter's version of the $100,000 fiasco at Madison Square Garden. He definitely repudiated it.

Dr. Salerno stated that, far from being a victim of physical disability on that occasion, La Motta was sound in every respect when examined by him 24 hours before the presumed contest of skill.

Whatever it actually became, its dubious ending brought it a weekend of unwelcome attention, including that of the district attorney's office.

Says La Motta Was Fit

La Motta's further contention that he had entered the ring against th advice of his physician also was denied today by Dr. Salerno, who said:

"Having found the patient physically fit the day before the fight, I had no reason to advise him against taking part in it. That advice was given more than a month ago when La Motta first consulted me about his condition. (Blood clot of the spleen).

"It responded to treatment in the meantime and was entirely cleared up Thursday when I gave La Motta a final check-up."

The physician said he had reported these findings to Boxing Commission Chairman Eddie Eagan, who has withheld the fighter's purses of $23,910.22 each pending an official inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the event.

For one thing, New York writers at the ringside were virtually unanimous in openly condemning the actual developments in the ring.

Betting Odds Gyrated

For another, betting odds gyrated so alarmingly, from 6-5 to 12-5 on Fox the day of the fight, the Broadway "books" at length refused to accept further bets on the Philadelphian.

Chairman Eagan, unofficially said to have been prompted by Albany, has announced a formal hearing on Friday next. He was first quoted as having seen "nothing wrong" the night of the fight.

District Attorney Frank Hogan, meanwhile, is proposing to present the matter to the grand jury next week to discover if a felony has been committed under section 382 of the state penal code. It is punishable by one to five years in jail, or a fine of $10,000—or both.

The grand jury in question is the same panel which heard testimony in the Rocky Graziano case, as an indirect result of which, the world's middleweight champion had his New York license revoked.

Renaissance Five Will Battle Dukes Here On Sunday

Locals To Practice Tomorrow At Y.M.C.A.

Coach Bobby Cavanaugh will send the Cumberland Dukes through their final practice session tomorrow night on the YMCA court in preparation for the next Sunday's game with the Renaissance Big Five, famous Negro quint from New York City.

Drills are being held at the "Y" because the state armory floor, scene of Sunday's game at 3:30 p. m., is being refinished. Tomorrow's practice session is set for 7:30 p. m.

The Rens are featuring Capt. William "Pop" Gates, who is touted as being one of the greatest players in the game. The visiting team's lineup also will include Bill "Dolly" King, 6-foot-5 giant who formerly played with Long Island University; Eddie "Rabbit" Younger, Robert "Sonny" Wood, George Crowe, Jim Usry, Tom Sealy, Hank DeZonie and "Vic" Hansen. Hansen is 6-foot-2, Crowe 6-3, Usry 6-4 and DeZonie, 6-6.

During the past 25 years, Renaissance teams have played to over two million fans all over the country and have traveled thousands of miles in their own streamlined bus and by rail and air. The Rens also are said to hold the all-time consecutive games won record of 88.

Last season the Rens gave a brilliant exhibition in defeating the Amvets here.

Terps To Play Vandy

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 18 (AP) —Coach Jim Tatum put his University of Maryland football squad through one of its longest and toughest practice sessions of the season today in preparation for Saturday's game with Vanderbilt at Nashville.

The squad elected center Gene Kinney, a junior from Louisville, Ky., game captain.

TO PLAY HERE—Eddie "Rabbit" Younger, who is said to run like his nickname, will be seen in action at the State Armory Sunday afternoon when the Renaissance Big Five, famous negro basketball team from New York, comes here to do battle with the Cumberland Dukes. Younger is 5-feet-5 and weighs 140 pounds. The game is set for 3:30 o'clock.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — The original "man with wings" still likes those wings, and if he were coaching football today he'd ignore the revived "T" and stick with his inventions of nearly four decades ago.

Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, who virtually revolutionized offensive play with his single and double wingback formations back in 1910 and 1911, is in town to receive a long-due tribute from the Touchdown Club for his part in the advancement of the game.

He's well up in his 70s now, is Pop, but he follows the sport as avidly as in the days when he was out-foxing the best of his rivals while coaching at Cornell, from where he was graduated in 1894; Carlisle, Pittsburgh, Stanford and Temple.

He's enjoying his retirement now at this home in Palo Alto, Calif., where he does a little oil painting and makes canes, the latter because he "likes to putter around in a shop." Square-jawed and with bushy, Ed Barrowish eyebrows, he presents a formidable appearance which is offset by twinkling eyes and a grand sense of humor.

His invention of the wingback formations was fathered by necessity, he recalls.

"When they made the rule prohibiting the pushing of the ball carrier by his teammates," he explains, "I devised the single wing to get the most out of the backfield men. That was in 1910."

He devised the double wing in 1911, the same year he invented the reverse play. He points out that many of the better teams still use the wingback style of attack, and says it has its advantages over the "T".

"There is more and more forward passing," he says, "and I don't think the "T" quarterback is in as good a position to throw as the man in the wingback who takes the ball. The 'T' man must run back and turn."

Mr. Warner is against the unlimited substitution rules for college players, as he thinks it tends to "take the game away from the boys," although he thinks it is okay for the pros.

"Players today are trained differently than they used to be," he added. "When games consisted of two 35 minute halves, with few substitutions, the boys had to be trained to play for longer periods. Naturally they slowed up late in the game, so it became a little slower in the late stages than it is today with fresh men going in."

Concerning the ability of the players of today, he thinks that on the whole the players who make today's teams are better, as there are more boys playing football and consequently more to choose from, with the best boys making the team.

He stands by his often-repeated assertion that he would rather have Ernie Nevers on his team than Jim Thorpe, even in the last 10 minutes of a crucial game.

"Nevers always was dependable," he explains. "Thorpe had great natural ability but he was a happy-go-lucky fellow who played his best only when he felt like it."

Pop grins slyly when the story is brought up about sewing leather in the shape of footballs on the jersies of his Carlisle team so it would be difficult to tell who really had the ball.

"For one game I bought cheap footballs and cut them in two and sewed the halves on the front of the jersies," he recalls. "I heard that Percy Haughton, the Harvard coach, said he wouldn't play us if we did that, so we ripped them off."

His greatest Carlisle team, incidentally, averaged only 174 pounds. Practically flyweights alongside today's giants.

There is a group of fish called "flatfish," but the "rays," which are the flattest of all known fishes, do not belong to this group.

A bad series of fumbles at crucial moments in the ball game stopped the LaSalle High Explorers in their final home contest of the season as the Romney (W. Va.) High Pioneers eked out a slim one-point 14-13 decision over the Cumberlanders last night at Fort Hill stadium.

Probably the smallest crowd of the season, approximately 1,500 persons, witnessed the mid-week fray at the Greenway Avenue bowl.

The butter-fingered, blue-shirted warriors from North Centre Street fumbled no less than nine times and the alert white-clad Pioneers recovered six of the miscues.

Fumble Nets Score

Several of the bobbles played very important roles in the final outcome of the hard-fought battle. The second Explorer fumble in the first period was recovered by Bill Manross of the visitors on the LaSalle 14 and led directly to the final Pioneer touchdown.

Bob Sirk, hard-running left halfback of Coach Dick McElwee's West Virginians picked up eight yards through tackle and Mike Ansel added three more for a first down on the Explorer 4-yard stripe.

Bob Sirk then made three more yards and Ansel cracked over for the second Romney score from one yard out just as the first period came to a close. Bill Baird, Romney quarterback and captain, tacked on the extra point from placement that meant the ball game with the score reading 14-0 in favor of the Hampshire Countians.

An Explorer threat in the second stanza was stopped on the Romney 15 when Dick Leo took Mickey Clark's pass for a nine-yard gain but fumbled when hit and the Pioneers recovered.

Miscue Again Costly

Moments later in the same quarter LaSalle again was knocking at the Romney touchdown door after a sensational 24-yard run by Jim Collins had placed the ball on the Pioneer 19. But Joe Collins bobbled the pigskin again and the elusive ball once more nestled in the arms of Bill Manross of the McElweemen to stop the drive.

Mentor Johnny Long's scrappy Explorers came bouncing back in the third period to tally two quick touchdowns and climb right back in the ball game.

A 61-yard drive was capped by Jim Collins when the LaSalle halfback circled right end for the initial Explorer score from the six.

Louis Arnone, diminutive right half, added the point on a plunge and LaSalle trailed 14-7.

Leo Scores Touchdown

Taking a Romney punt later in the period on their own 39 the Explorers once more marched the length of the field for a six-pointer. Dick Leo featured the drive with a sparkling catch of a Clark-tossed aerial good for 10 yards and then romping around the left side of the line on an end-around play for the final 20 yards and the touchdown. Joe Collins was stopped on a plunge for the point.

The losers picked up six first downs in the fourth quarter as they moved the ball at will in mid-field but again when the chips were down and a score looked eminent a flubbed ball robbed them of their chance.

Louie Arnone fumbled on the Romney 19 early in the final stanza and Grover Hott fell on the ball for the Pioneers. Moments later Joe Collins let the pigskin get away from him on the West Virginia nine-yard stripe. This time Fermar Shingleton was the lad who saved the day for Romney with his timely recovery.

LaSalle Passes Desperately

The game ended with LaSalle desperately trying to pull the contest out of the fire with long passes. Joe Collins snatched a 15-yard aerial shot on the Romney 32 as the final gun went off.

A 78-yard drive opened the fray as Romney took the opening kickoff and without relinquishing the ball capped the spurt with Bob Sirk plunging over from the one. Frank "Apie" Tutwiller added the point on a plunge.

Bob Sirk, Bill Baird, Leo Everett, Bill Manross and Sid Roach were the outstanding Romney players while Mickey Clark, Jim Collins Dick Leo and Jim Dorsey looked best for LaSalle. The lineups:

Michigan Rated Top Team By 140 Of 246 Writers

87 Pick Notre Dame, S. M. U. Named By Nine

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—The largest number of football writers ever to participate in an Associated Press Poll—246—have plunked for Coach Fritz Crisler's Michigan Wolverines as the nation's greatest grid machine, with Notre Dame second and Southern Methodist University third.

Having soared to the top at this late stage of the game, the Wolverines appear almost certain to remain there through their regular season finale against Ohio State this week and to carry a proud record into the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Of the bumper crop of voters, 140 chose Michigan as the country's No. 1 outfit, while 87 stuck with Notre Dame as the best and nine picked Southern Methodist. Penn State (6), Southern California (3) and North Carolina (1) were the only other teams to gain a vote for first place. The first five are undefeated and untied.

Alabama's Crimson tide made the greatest spurt of the week, jumping from 14th up to eighth place on the strength of its victory over previously unbeaten and untied Georgia Tech. Though idle last week, U. S. C. moved up a notch to fourth place, and Penn State, off its impressive 20-7 win over Navy, climbed from eighth to fifth. Penn dropped from third to sixth after tying Army 7-7. Texas, licking Texas Christian, 20-0, was voted seventh place.

By a rather remarkable happenstance, two of the first 10 teams were from the midwest, two from the coast, two from the southwest, two from the south and two from the east. It might never occur again.

Barring major upsets, the standing should not be greatly altered by games this weekend. No two of the top 10 teams meet each other. Probably the week's top attraction is the coast duel between Southern California and U.C.L.A. Southern Cal, by winning that one, can clinch a Rose Bowl date with Michigan. Notre Dame plays Tulane, Southern Methodist meets Baylor, Alabama plays L.S.U., California plays Stanford, Georgia Tech plays Furman, and Pennn State takes on Pittsburgh. Texas and Penn will be idle.

Temple Owls Prepare For West Virginians

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18—(AP)—Temple University today went back to practicing defensives for "T" powered attack after two straight weeks of opponents who used the single wing.

Unlike Penn State and Michigan State, both of whom beat the Owls, next Saturday's opposition, rugged West Virginia, runs from a "T."

In addition to reviewing their "T" defenses, Temple mapped out some new offensive measures designed to help finish the 1947 season on a victory note. Coach Ray Morrison's team came out of the Michigan State game in good physical condition and is hopeful of making its third visit to Morgantown a winning one.

Shipkey, Hein Named Co-Coaches Of Rams

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 18—(AP)—Ted Shipkey said today that he and Mel Hein have been appointed co-coaches of the All-American Football Conference's Los Angeles Dons for the remainder of this season.

Shipkey told a reporter the action was taken by the Don management of Dudley De Groot as head coach, and ownership after the resignation Shipkey and Hein served as assistant coaches under De Groot.

The Dons squad has made its headquarters at Hershey for the last two weeks. The squad has practiced all week preparing for Sunday's game with the Brooklyn Dodgers at Brooklyn.

Boxer Fined $2,000

LONDON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Cliff Anderson, British Guiana featherweight, was fined £500 ($2,000) today and suspended for three months by the southern council of the British Boxing Board of Control after a hearing on his fight with Hal Bagwell November 3, when he was disqualified in the seventh round for avoiding action.

CHARLEY CONERLY IS CALLED THE "OLE HIT" OF "OLE MISS"

Nears Passing Record Set By Davey O'Brien

By GAIL FOWLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Down south they're calling Charlie Conerly the "Ole Hit" of "Ole Miss" since his spectacular performance of last Saturday when he completed 20 out of 32 passes to set a new collegiate record of 120 completions for Mississippi.

Conerly, playing about half the game against outclassed Chattanooga, picked up 159 aerial yards with his tosses and added 83 ground yards to take over the nation's total offense and forward passing leadership for the fifth straight week, figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed.

His passing proclivities shattered a six-year mark of 114 completions set in 1941 by Bud Schwenk for Washington University of St. Louis, the same Schwenk who holds prolific passing records in both major pro grid leagues now.

Needs 20 To Top O'Brien

Conerly, with the traditional Mississippi State game remaining on his team's schedule, will be shooting at two more records in his final outing. He needs 20 more passes attempts to top the total of 234 flung by Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian back in 1937. And if he can keep up his percentage of accuracy, he'll pass O'Brien's record of 1938 of completing 55.7 percent of his throws. To date Conerly already has O'Brien bettered, having hit with 55.8 percent accuracy.

A couple of other Southeastern Conference stars also figured in last weekend's passing parade. Johnny Rauch of Georgia moved into second place behind Conerly with his 80 completions in 148 attempts. Harry Gilmer of Alabama, who completed 11 of 13 against Georgia Tech, replaced Bob "Tex" Furse of Yale as the most efficient flinger, having completed 63.8 percent of his 80 attempts.

This week's top ten in total offense includes only two players who finished in the select group last year—Bob Chappuis of Michigan, and Bobby Layne of Texas, 6th and 7th respectively.

Of players accounting for 800 or more yards rushing and passing, those averaging the highest per play were Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame, 8.02 yards per play; Frank Burns, Rutgers, 7.26; Chappuis, 7.06 and Layne, 7.02.

Texan Leads Rushers

Among the rushers, Wilton Davis of Hardin-Simmons held the leadership the second straight week, with his 944 yards, which also placed him 8th in total defense, although he's done no passing. Bobby Forbes of Florida, long-time leader, dropped to fourth while Harry Szulboroski of Purdue moved to second with 803 yards.

Shipkey, Hein Named Co-Coaches Of Rams

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 18—(AP)—Ted Shipkey said today that he and Mel Hein have been appointed co-coaches of the All-American Football Conference's Los Angeles Dons for the remainder of this season.

Shipkey told a reporter the action was taken by the Don management of Dudley De Groot as head coach, and ownership after the resignation Shipkey and Hein served as assistant coaches under De Groot.

The Dons squad has made its headquarters at Hershey for the last two weeks. The squad has practiced all week preparing for Sunday's game with the Brooklyn Dodgers at Brooklyn.

Boxer Fined $2,000

LONDON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Cliff Anderson, British Guiana featherweight, was fined £500 ($2,000) today and suspended for three months by the southern council of the British Boxing Board of Control after a hearing on his fight with Hal Bagwell November 3, when he was disqualified in the seventh round for avoiding action.

CHARLEY CONERLY IS CALLED THE "OLE HIT" OF "OLE MISS"

Nears Passing Record Set By Davey O'Brien

By GAIL FOWLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Down south they're calling Charlie Conerly the "Ole Hit" of "Ole Miss" since his spectacular performance of last Saturday when he completed 20 out of 32 passes to set a new collegiate record of 120 completions for Mississippi.

Conerly, playing about half the game against outclassed Chattanooga, picked up 159 aerial yards with his tosses and added 83 ground yards to take over the nation's total offense and forward passing leadership for the fifth straight week, figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed.

His passing proclivities shattered a six-year mark of 114 completions set in 1941 by Bud Schwenk for Washington University of St. Louis, the same Schwenk who holds prolific passing records in both major pro grid leagues now.

Needs 20 To Top O'Brien

Conerly, with the traditional Mississippi State game remaining on his team's schedule, will be shooting at two more records in his final outing. He needs 20 more passes attempts to top the total of 234 flung by Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian back in 1937. And if he can keep up his percentage of accuracy, he'll pass O'Brien's record of 1938 of completing 55.7 percent of his throws. To date Conerly already has O'Brien bettered, having hit with 55.8 percent accuracy.

A couple of other Southeastern Conference stars also figured in last weekend's passing parade. Johnny Rauch of Georgia moved into second place behind Conerly with his 80 completions in 148 attempts. Harry Gilmer of Alabama, who completed 11 of 13 against Georgia Tech, replaced Bob "Tex" Purse of Yale as the most efficient flinger, having completed 63.8 percent of his 80 attempts.

This week's top ten in total offense includes only two players who finished in the select group last year—Bob Chappuis of Michigan, and Bobby Layne of Texas, 6th and 7th respectively.

Of players accounting for 800 or more yards rushing and passing, those averaging the highest per play were Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame, 8.02 yards per play; Frank Burns, Rutgers, 7.26; Chappuis, 7.06 and Layne, 7.02.

Texan Leads Rushers

Among the rushers, Wilton Davis of Hardin-Simmons held the leadership the second straight week, with his 944 yards, which also placed him 8th in total defense, although he's done no passing. Bobby Forbes of Florida, long-time leader, dropped to fourth while Harry Szulboroski of Purdue moved to second with 803 yards.

Montserrat is one of the Leeward islands, British West Indies, situated 34 miles northwest of Guadeloupe. It is of volcanic origin, and its surface is mountainous, reaching a height of 3,000 feet in the volcano of Souffriere. Plymouth is the capital.

DECISION IS FINAL, RACE CHAIRMAN SAYS

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18 —(AP)— Chairman Stuart S. Janney, Jr., of The Maryland Racing Commission told counsel for Baltimore Trotting Races, Inc., today that denial of its license application was the commission's "final decision."

Janney said the granting of harness racing licenses to three other applicants in the state was the final decision on such licenses for 1948, "in order that there may be no misunderstanding on this point."

Baltimore trotting races had said it would ask a new hearing on its application for a license to operate a track at Pimlico airport.

Last week the commission tentatively granted three licenses for 60 days of harness racing in 1948. One went to the Ocean Downs Racing Association, near Ocean City; The Rosecroft Trotting and Pacing Association in Prince George's County at Oxon Hill; and the Laurel Harness Racing Association near Laurel. Each was awarded 20 days. The Legislature has authorized 100 days of harness racing with wagering.

Leahy Is Reported As Rams New Coach

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (INS)—WGN Sports Director Frank Korch and announcer Jack Brickhouse broadcast tonight that "those in the know on the west coast say Frank Leahy will become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams shortly after the first of the year."

Korch and Brickhouse added that their west coast informants relayed the information in a "positive tone."

Leahy, head football coach at Notre Dame, denied the report. He said recently when there was a report he would resign that he wanted to stay at the South Bend, Ind., school as long as they wanted him.

Bob Snyder presently is head coach of the Los Angeles entry in the National Football League.

DECISION IS FINAL, RACE CHAIRMAN SAYS

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18 —(AP)— Chairman Stuart S. Janney, Jr., of The Maryland Racing Commission told counsel for Baltimore Trotting Races, Inc., today that denial of its license application was the commission's "final decision."

Janney said the granting of harness racing licenses to three other applicants in the state was the final decision on such licenses for 1948, "in order that there may be no misunderstanding on this point."

Baltimore trotting races had said it would ask a new hearing on its application for a license to operate a track at Pimlico airport.

Last week the commission tentatively granted three licenses for 60 days of harness racing in 1948. One went to the Ocean Downs Racing Association, near Ocean City; The Rosecroft Trotting and Pacing Association in Prince George's County at Oxon Hill; and the Laurel Harness Racing Association near Laurel. Each was awarded 20 days. The Legislature has authorized 100 days of harness racing with wagering.

MONTREAL—(AP)—The average age of players in the National Hockey League is 25.7 years. The oldest player in the circuit is Hector (Toe) Blake of Montreal at 35, while Ed Sandford, Boston rookie, is the youngest at 19.

Reynolds was the father of Jimmy Reynolds, Clemson College fullback.

Leahy Is Reported As Rams New Coach

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (INS)—WGN Sports Director Frank Korch and announcer Jack Brickhouse broadcast tonight that "those in the know on the west coast say Frank Leahy will become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams shortly after the first of the year."

Korch and Brickhouse added that their west coast informants relayed the information in a "positive tone."

Leahy, head football coach at Notre Dame, denied the report. He said recently when there was a report he would resign that he wanted to stay at the South Bend, Ind., school as long as they wanted him.

Bob Snyder presently is head coach of the Los Angeles entry in the National Football League.

Davidson Given $5,000 Verdict Against Railroad

Jury Awards Veteran Half Of His Claim

Charles Davidson, 22-year-old veteran of World War II, was awarded a verdict of $5,000 yesterday afternoon by a Circuit Court jury in his $10,000 damage claim against the Western Maryland Railway Company, for injuries sustained when a train struck his automobile on the Virginia Avenue grade crossing October 20, 1946.

The case began in Circuit Court Monday morning before a jury with Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson presiding. Walter C. Capper, this city, and Paul Parsons, Baltimore, attorneys for the company, called the train crew and other Western Maryland personnel to the stand.

Thomas Lohr Richards and William H. Geppert, attorneys for Davidson, produced several witnesses who testified that the crossing is unprotected by automatic signal devices or watchman, and that the train failed to give proper warning.

The jury was told Davidson, who is employed as an apprentice machinist at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops said he has suffered loss of memory and has "fading out spells" since the mishap, following which he was unconscious for three days of the 1" spent in Memorial Hospital. He also claims he suffered injuries which has made it difficult for him to do overhead work, because he has difficulty raising one arm.

The case attracted considerable attention, with aerial photographs of the scene, weather reports, measurements, and other exhibits presented. A move by the defense to take the case from the jury was over-ruled by the Court, and the verdict was returned after deliberation of about half an hour.

Meningitis Fatal To Bedford Youth

While nearing the end of a 300-mile trip, Russell Banner, 19, Bedford, died of meningitis, after being brought from Lorain, Ohio, where he was employed by the National Tube Company.

The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Municipal Isolation Hospital, Johnstown, Pa., and Dr. N. A. Timmins, medical director of Bedford County, took immediate steps to prevent any possible spread of the contagious disease.

All persons with whom Banner came in contact were placed under "observation quarantine."

You Can Always Tell An Oyster-- But You Can't Tell It Much

AP Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—The Fish and Wildlife Service says that one way to tell whether any oyster is edible is to check it pH.

Small p and capital H, that is—and it's not pronounced ffuh, just pea-aitch. It means "hydrogen pressure," H being the chemist's symbol for hydrogen. It's a measure of relative "sourness" or acidity.

If your oyster's pH is 6.39 for instance, the chances are it's fresh and tasty—provided it's a Pacific variety. For Atlantic oysters the score is different.

With a pH of 6.27 a western oyster's likely to be good, but at 6.14 it may become slightly strong. Around 6 it's stale, 5.88 barely edible, 5.74 very stale. Anything below that, says chemist Frank T. Piskur, is putrid.

Piskur, an employe of the Seattle Fishery Technological Laboratory, discovered the correlation between pH and the quality of shucked Pacific oysters in a series of tests at a west coast packing plant.

He packed some oysters in ice, ground others to bits and warmed them, and also examined the juices. He found that the pH of the oyster liquor increased during the spoilage process regardless of the temperature or bacterial count.

Oysters with a pH of 7 or more are alkaline, he said. Below that point they become increasingly acid.

Other pH scores:

Potomac River oysters—pH 6.1 to 5.6 good to stale, 5.3 to 4.9 stale to sour, less than pH 5 advanced stage of putrefaction.

East coast oysters—pH 6.2 to 5.9 good, 5.8 "off" condition, 5.7 to 5.5 musty, less than 5.2 sour.

Poland Files Big Gold Claim

WARSAW—(AP)—Poland has entered a claim for the return of approximately 268,000 pounds of gold which was looted in this country by the Germans during the war.

The tripartite gold commission, sitting in Brussels, already has made some distributions of gold to Allied countries, including $28,000,000 to the Bank of Italy.

Polish newspapers complain that the commission has been slow in acting upon Poland's demand for her share.

Edward W. Athey Dies In Hospital

Edward W. "Cap" Athey, 78-year-old famed former United States deputy marshal of Fairmont, W. Va., and father of S. N. and E. W. Athey, Jr., this city, died unexpectedly Sunday in Kings Daughters Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., following a minor operation.

Mr. Athey gained nationwide publicity in 1917 for participating in the recapture of Henry Grady Webb, convicted of robbing a B. and O. passenger and express train near Pennsboro, W. Va., in 1915.

A native of Jefferson county, Mr. Athey had been a resident of Marion county (West Virginia) nearly 30 years. He also served as a deputy under Sheriff Andrew West, and at the time of his death, held a position with the State Roads Commission.

Mr. Athey, as a deputy marshal, was an interpid officer during a period when enforcement of the laws dealing with narcotics, white slavery, prohibition and the Espionage Act was largely in the hands of United States marshals.

He was seriously wounded by a blast from a shotgun while attempting to arrest a man here on a white slavery charge.

In government circles, Mr. Athey was regarded as a top notch officer. He retired a number of years ago.

Mr. Athey, who displayed a deep concern in religious work, took an active interest in the Sunday School of the Baptist Church for many years. A former resident of Barrackville, W. Va., he resided with his daughter, Mrs. Rose B. Skinner, 1103 Gladden Street, Fairmont.

Besides his two sons and daughter, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Lillian L. Athey; another daughter, Mrs. George T. Sisler, Memphis, Tenn.; 11 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

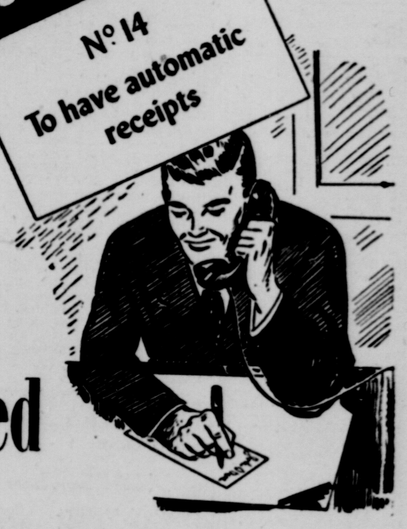

Germans 'De-poison' Mushrooms For Food

BERLIN—(AP)—The former I. G. Farben factory at Bitterfeld intends to make poisonous mushrooms edible by extracting the poison, says the German press. The report adds that the factory expects to be able to de-poison about 600 hundredweights of mushrooms monthly.

Church Group Will Hold Dinner Today

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING—The Men's Association of the First Presbyterian Church held a dinner in the church annex this evening at 6:30 p. m.

Dr. Earl S. McColley of the research department of the Celanese was the speaker for the occasion.

Events In Brief

Ladies' night was held by the Lonaconing Lions' Club Monday evening at a dinner in the Knights of Pythias Hall.

A traffic light was installed at the intersection of Main and Bridge Streets in front of Central High School by the Potomac Edison Company.

A movie of "Albert Tangora," a champion typist, was shown to the Commercial Club Monday at Central High School. A constitution was read by Kathleen Cunningham of the constitution committee and accepted by the club.

Personal

Seaman First Class Robert C. Barnard has been transferred from the battleship USS New Jersey to the USS ittle Rock, a light cruiser.

Seaman Barnard telephoned his mother, Mrs. Sarah Barnard, to inform her that he would take an eight months cruise in Atlantic waters.

Marriage Licenses

A marriage license was issued at the Court House here Monday to a young Butler, Pa., man to marry a young woman from England. They gave their names as John Howard Roxley, RFD No. 2, Butler, Pa., and Gladys May Mitchinson, Thetford, Norfolk, England.

Other licenses issued include:

Victor Thomas Metz, Barton, and Verna Martha Humphrey, Lonaconing.

Arthur Blank, and Regina Elton Sweene, both of Zihlman.

George William Shaw, Grafton, W. Va., and Helen Elizabeth Hanawalt, Keyser, W. Va.

Lloyd Wesley Springs, Jr., Grafton, W. Va., and Evangeline Genevieve Helmick, Keyser, W. Va.

William Harvey Wilkes, and Mildred Edith Metz, both of Barton.

Gerald Flatterman, and Ada Marie Kaufman, 123 Roberts Street.

Carroll Thomas Clark, Louisa, Va., and Martha Rose Farrel, 420 North Mechanic Street.

Thomas Aloysius O'Brien, Piedmont, W. Va., and Alice Elizabeth Bell, Luke.

Wayne Sherman, and Helen Weese, Moorefield, W. Va.

Charles Irvin Bullett, Paw Paw, W. Va., and Evelyn Gales, Arlington, W. Va.

Donald Emery Perdew, and Charlotte Marie Nelson, both of Flintstone.

Edsel Lee Kelley, Flats, W. Va., and Janice Rebecca Webb, Burlington, W. Va.

VETS COMMISSION MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

Several thousand Maryland veterans received assistance of various forms from the Maryland Veterans' Commission during the year gending June 30, according to a report just completed, Thomas F. Conlon, assistant state service officer said last night.

Funds obtained for veterans for compensation and pensions, back pay, burial allowances and insurance totaled $693,419.07, the report shows.

Among the various forms of services were the following: 1,212 claims for disability pensions; 1,306 claims for death pensions; 137 claims for dependent parent pensions; 1,721 insurance claims and general information on conversion; 610 hospital care; 738 vocational rehabilitation applications; 400 duplicate discharges furnished; 929 veterans placed in jobs; 1,135 burial allowance claims; 155 placed in on the job training; 19,093 terminal leave forms completed: 210 applications completed for return of war dead at request of next of kin.

In addition, 20,873 veterans appeared for consultation and guidance; 2,440 were assisted with housing problems; 11 dishonorable discharges were reviewed; 26 court cases were handled; and 7,850 family contacts, etc., were reported.

Members of the commission included Joseph A. Cantrel, chairman, Godfrey Child, James A. Haley, Frank T. Powers and Charles M. Sinclair, with Richard C. Manning, state service and executive officer.

Kempton Veteran Dies At Elkins

By BURNETTA ARNOLD

KEMPTON, W. Va.—A funeral service will be held this afternoon at the Texas Methodist Church for Walter James, 25, World War II veteran, who died at Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins, Sunday.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur James, Silver Lake, he resided all of his life in Kempton until a few months ago when his family moved to Silver Lake.

Surviving are his parents, a daughter, Nancy, two brothers, Junior and William, at home, and a sister, Mrs. Walter Repetsky, Kempton. Another brother, Herbert, drowned while serving overseas a year ago.

Personals

Lonnie Lipscomb returned Sunday from Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins.

Mrs. Alene Matter, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Turner, for about a week, has returned to her home in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgell Wilson entertained their daughter, Tiny, with a party on her fifth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Evans visited Mrs. Raymond Rice in Morgantown Sunday.

Miss Burnetta Arnold visited Mr. and Mrs. John Grow in Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Smith visited the latter's sister, Mrs. G. P. Smith, Davis.

The Kempton P-TA met last night.

The WSCS of Kempton will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Guy Wilson Thursday night.

The fastest trip made by the famous "Pony Express" between St. Joseph, Mo., and the Pacific coast, was seven days and 17 hours, when Lincoln's first inaugural address was carried. The regular schedule was 10 days—about 24 days faster than the schedule of Butterfield's Overland Stage Line traveling on the southern route.

Skyway Signs Being Sought In Cumberland

The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors will discuss the possibility of erecting markers to designate Cumberland as one of the cities on Skyway No. 1 at the meeting Thursday night.

Special markings should be placed in the city to indicate the route which extends from Los Angeles to New York, Harold W. Smith, secretary of the C. of C., said.

Metal figures and letters may be secured for the purpose, according to Smith, or the proper identification may be painted on top of buildings.

Skyway air markings should conform with CA specifications, with letters at least 10 feet high spelling the name of the city. A circle with an arrow pointer will indicate the nearest good airport with distance in miles at the head of the arrow.

The Palace of the Governors in Santa Fe, N. M., is the oldest public building in the United States. It was built in 1610.

Bowman Sentenced For Hitting Mother

Held on an assault charge which grew out of a disorderly conduct case heard last week in Police Court, William Edward Bowman, 428 South Street, former city policeman and World War II veteran, was given a 60-day jail sentence when tried before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew.

Bowman was arrested on a warrant obtained by his mother, Mrs. Melvin E. Bowman, who said the defendant struck her in the face during an altercation at home November 10.

Magistrate Perdew suspended the sentence on condition Rowman keep the peace and go to work. He also was paroled for one year. Bowman was fined $20 on a disorderly conduct charge last Tuesday in Police Court, resulting from the family fracas.

About 90 pounds of cottonseed are produced to every 500-pound bale of cotton. About 640 pounds of stock feed are produced from the cottonseed per bale.

There are more than 20,000 motion picture theaters in the United States.

Thomas Jefferson was a "leftist" leader in early American development.

VETS COMMISSION MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

Several thousand Maryland veterans received assistance of various forms from the Maryland Veterans' Commission during the year gending June 30, according to a report just completed, Thomas F. Conlon, assistant state service officer said last night.

Funds obtained for veterans for compensation and pensions, back pay, burial allowances and insurance totaled $693,419.07, the report shows.

Among the various forms of services were the following: 1,212 claims for disability pensions; 1,306 claims for death pensions; 137 claims for dependent parent pensions; 1,721 insurance claims and general information on conversion; 610 hospital care; 738 vocational rehabilitation applications; 400 duplicate discharges furnished; 929 veterans placed in jobs; 1,135 burial allowance claims; 155 placed in on the job training; 19,093 terminal leave forms completed: 210 applications completed for return of war dead at request of next of kin.

In addition, 20,873 veterans appeared for consultation and guidance; 2,440 were assisted with housing problems; 11 dishonorable discharges were reviewed; 26 court cases were handled; and 7,850 family contacts, etc., were reported.

Members of the commission included Joseph A. Cantrel, chairman, Godfrey Child, James A. Haley, Frank T. Powers and Charles M. Sinclair, with Richard C. Manning, state service and executive officer.

Kempton Veteran Dies At Elkins

By BURNETTA ARNOLD

KEMPTON, W. Va.—A funeral service will be held this afternoon at the Texas Methodist Church for Walter James, 25, World War II veteran, who died at Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins, Sunday.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur James, Silver Lake, he resided all of his life in Kempton until a few months ago when his family moved to Silver Lake.

Surviving are his parents, a daughter, Nancy, two brothers, Junior and William, at home, and a sister, Mrs. Walter Repetsky, Kempton. Another brother, Herbert, drowned while serving overseas a year ago.

Personals

Lonnie Lipscomb returned Sunday from Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins.

Mrs. Alene Matter, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Turner, for about a week, has returned to her home in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgell Wilson entertained their daughter, Tiny, with a party on her fifth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Evans visited Mrs. Raymond Rice in Morgantown Sunday.

Miss Burnetta Arnold visited Mr. and Mrs. John Grow in Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Smith visited the latter's sister, Mrs. G. P. Smith, Davis.

The Kempton P-TA met last night.

Betty Wilson Is Named To Appear In Concert Series

Will Sing With Vinaver Chorus

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Miss Betty Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson, 136 Hill Street, a student of voice in New York City, was auditioned early this month by Chemjo Vinaver and selected to appear in a series of choral concerts to be given in Town Hall. Miss Wilson, a lyric soprano, was chosen as the soloist in the first concert, which will be given Monday, December 15.

The singers will be presented by Friends of Choral Art, and will appear as "The Vinaver Chorus," singing under Vinaver's direction. The chorus, consisting of 30 mixed voices, will give three series of concerts during the season. The Monday series will be on December 15, February 2 and March 8. The Saturday series will be on January 10, February 21 and March 20. Each program will feature synagogue and Hasidic music, "The Bible in Music" and new music from Palestine.

The Vinaver Chorus will concentrate on Jewish contributions to the choral repertory. Chemjo Vinaver, the director, came to this country from Germany in 1938 and has conducted a number of choruses in New York in recent years.

Miss Wilson attended the Juilliard School of Music in New York for two years and is now studying voice under Lucia Dunham, a faculty member of the Juilliard School. She graduated from Frostburg State Teachers' College in 1944. While a student at the college she studied music under Prof. and Mrs. Maurice Matteson.

P-TA Discussed

A meeting was held recently in Beall Elementary School to organize a Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Stanley Buckley, county chairman of Parent-Teacher Associations, explained organizational steps to the group.

Earl F. Brain, principal, acted as temporary chairman and appointed a nominating committee and a by-laws committee. The nominating committee is as follows:

George Kennedy, chairman, Miss Anne Thomas, and Mrs. Myron Lehr. Serving on the by-laws committee are Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold, chairman; Gurney Beeman, Mrs. Pinkney Holmes, Miss Virginia Neff, and Mrs. Margaret H. Layman.

At the next meeting on Monday, December 1, these committees will make their reports and the election of officers will be held.

Conducting Services

Miss Mabel Willetts, Midlothian, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willetts, Sr., is in Dallas, Tex., conducting revival services at the First Assembly of God Church. Her Sunday night sermons are broadcast over station KRLD from midnight until 12:30. The program was heard last Sunday by local friends and relatives.

Miss Willetts spent part of the summer here and spoke frequently at services in the Assembly of God Church, Midlothian. She has conducted services in many sections of the country since she took up evangelistic work.

Walters Service

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home here for Milton L. Walters, 52, a former Frostburg resident, who died Monday morning at his home in Grant Town, W. Va., from a heart attack.

Rev. Watson E. Holley, pastor of First Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Frostburg Briefs

The Van Dyke Bible class of First Methodist Church will meet tomorrow evening in the Sunday School room of the church. The hostesses will be Mrs. David Griffith, Mrs. Elmer S. Kight and Miss Eva Rodda. A Turkish towel and wash cloth shower will be given at the meeting for the Strawbridge Home for Boys.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church will go to Layman's Farm tonight for a chicken dinner. A business meeting will follow the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lavin, 105 Mt. Pleasant Street, announce the birth of a son Monday morning in Miners Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Myers, 140 Bowery Street, announce the birth of a son Saturday in Miners Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nolan, Lonaconing, announce the birth of a daughter Sunday in Miners Hospital.

The seventh grade of Beall Elementary School presented a program Friday afternoon, under direction of Miss Harriett Bradley, carrying out the Armistice Day theme.

Frostburg Personals

Mrs. Sue Kreider, a member of the Beall Elementary School faculty, has been ill for several days.

Mrs. Myron Lehr, Frost Avenue, is substituting at Beall Elementary School for Mrs. Minnie Pearce, who is absent due to the death of her brother.

Frank Flannagan, East Main Street, is reported seriously ill in Miners Hospital.

James A. Waln, Washington, D. C., a former resident of Frostburg while teaching at Beall High School, visited friends here Monday evening. He left Frostburg 10 years ago.

J. C. Spindler, a retired minister of Grace M. E. Church, South, this city, is reported seriously ill in Miners Hospital.

JOINS CHORUS — Miss Betty Wilson, Frostburg, a student of voice in New York City, has been selected to appear in a series of concerts with a choral group directed by Chemjo Vinaver. The choral concerts will be presented in Town Hall, New York.

Tri-Town Clubs Plan Christmas Food For Needy

Westernport Plans Holiday Decorations

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — The Methodist Men's Club of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, will sponsor a campaign for Christmas food baskets for underprivileged families in the Tri-Towns.

It was decided Monday night at the business meeting of the club, following a turkey dinner held in the reception hall of the church, that Sunday, December 14, be designated for the members of the church and Sunday school to bring non-perishable food to the church.

John E. Grindle, Harry Foreman, William McGee and Okey Michael, were named a committee by J. Harold Baker, president of the club, to ask other Tri-Town organizations to provide Christmas baskets for their members so there would be no duplication and to make sure that no needy person will be overlooked.

All persons knowing of needy families are requested to contact the Piedmont Herald by telephoning 8221 or calling the Times-News office at Westernport by dialing 4241. These names will be reported to the proper persons for investigation.

A special meeting of the club will be held Monday night, December 15, for receiving reports of food and financial donations.

It was decided at the meeting of Mayor J. Milton McIntyre and Commissioners Monday night that colored lights be strung on Washington and Main Street. The work will begin about the first of December. The streets will be lighted every night two weeks before Christmas and continuing through New Year's Day.

Rotary Will Meet

Dr. Burritt C. Harrington, of the extension staff of West Virginia University, Morgantown, will be the guest speaker today at the luncheon of the Tri-Town Rotary Club at 12:15 o'clock at the Westernport Service Center. His theme will be "Clouds Over India."

Joint Meeting Planned

The Westernport Homemakers Club will meet with the Lonaconing Homemakers Club tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Odd Fellows' Hall, Lonaconing.

The clubs will celebrate Achievement Day with a display of articles made by the members of the clubs during the year. Yearly reports of the clubs will be given by the club which will include the nominating committee. Mrs. Winnie Bosley is chairman of the program committee of the Westernport Club.

Tri-Towns Briefs

The First Grade Mothers of the Hammond Street School will hold their November study hour this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Miss Margaret Neuman, Westernport, state health nurse, will conduct the meeting.

Mrs. Ida Bobo, Philos Avenue, who fractured her right hip in a fall Monday night at her home, was admitted to the Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, yesterday afternoon.

Officers of the Young Ladies Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont will be elected at a meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Okey Michael, 222 Spruce Street, Westernport.

Dr. P. E. Gillespie, superintendent of home missions in North Carolina, will present a full color film tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church, Piedmont. The picture, a travel presentation in North Carolina from the mountains to the sea, shows the work that the contributions to the home mission accomplish.

Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Piedmont, is recovering from an operation in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Keyser Negro Is Freed On Bond In Assault Case

Brown To Appear In Circuit Court

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER, W. Va. — Linwood "Buck" Brown, 35, local negro, was released on $1,000 bond for appearance before the next term of Circuit Court, at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle yesterday afternoon.

Brown was charged with felonious and malicious assault with intent to kill W. M. Smith, an aged negro resident. Brown and Smith engaged in an argument Monday afternoon over repairs to a house that Smith rents from Brown, and Smith was badly cut about the arm by a nail-studded club, authorities said.

The injured man's son, Hugh Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., who was visiting his father at the time of the alleged assault, pursued Brown into the home of Attorney and Mrs. Emory L. Tyler on Hawthorne Road, police said. Mrs. Tyler, who was alone in the house, called police.

Brown was lodged in the county jail until the hearing yesterday.

Special Meeting Planned

The results of a conference between City Attorney James Swadley and Fire Chief Wade Thomas with officials of the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company of Cumberland, Md., in an effort to "break" the contract let the Cumberland firm for the construction of a new fire hall for the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company of Keyser, will not be known until tomorrow night when a special meeting of the City Council, Citizen's Committee and the Firemen has been called for 7 o'clock.

An emergency meeting of the Council, Citizen's Committee and Firemen's Committee was held Monday night after members of the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company had appealed to Mayor John C. Freeland for immediate action, stating they were not getting enough for their money in the contract let to Hazelwood Company. The contract was awarded to the Cumberland firm when their bid of $37,261 was the lowest submitted for the work.

It was suggested that in the event the contract is broken, the city would do the work under the supervision of a local contractor. The committees said a better building could be erected for the money on hand if done under local supervision. The city has $37,500 on hand for the work.

Classes Underway

Forty persons have enrolled in the leadership training classes being conducted in the new basement room of the Keyser Presbyterian Church, Monday through Friday, 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. John L. Fairly, Richmond, Va., who is accredited for the course in "Ways of Teaching" with the International Council of Religious Education, is giving practical help to teachers of the Bible for more effective instruction.

Sunday Schools of the Church of the Brethren, Lutheran Church, First Methodist, Grace Methodist, Jane's Methodist, Presbyterian and the Presbyterian sponsored community Sunday School of McCoole, Md. are represented in the enrollment.

Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin is pastor of the host church. Any person may enroll for the remainder of the classes.

WSCS Names Officers

Approximately 50 women attended the November meeting of the WSCS of First Methodist Church held in the social room of the church Monday night.

Mrs. John Aldrich had charge of the worship service. The theme of the program was "An Orderly World for Children". Miss Myra Nefflen was chairman of the program and was assisted by Mrs. R. R. Lowe and Mrs. J. E. Prettyman.

Officers elected for 1948 at the business session were Mrs. Hazel Martin, president; Mrs. Charles Steiding, vice president; Mrs. Irma Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. Fay Edwards, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William McFarland, treasurer.

Members voted unanimously to pay for robes for the church's children's choir. The cost was estimated at $50.

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held at the next regular meeting on the third Monday in December.

Concluding the program and business session a social hour was held, with Group No. 1 as hostess.

Appeals Verdict, Fine

Roland Davis, Blaine, was found guilty on a charge of intoxication at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, Monday evening. Davis was charged with being drunk on August 10, 1947, at which time a warrant was sworn out by Justice of the Peace Lee Ellifritz of Blaine. He is reported to have returned recently to West Virginia.

Davis appealed the verdict and the fine of $500 assessed by Miss Bazzle and was released on $500 bond for his appearance at the next term of Circuit Court.

The defendant was represented by Attorneys H. G. Shores and Howard P. Shores. Attorney Donald C. Hott acted as special prosecutor in the case.

Firemen Receive Check

A check for $368.85, to complete payment on the new fire truck recently received, was formally presented to James G. Briley, president of the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company, by members of the Loyal Order of Moose last night.

The decision to pay the remaining balance of the fire truck was made at a meeting of the board of governors of the Keyser Moose lodge Monday night.

Moorefield Fire Company Plans Amateur Show

Event To Feature Cumberland Girl

By MRS. KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Plans are being made to hold an amateur show December 5 in Firemen's Hall under the sponsorship of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company and Auxiliary.

A feature of the program will be tap dancing by Marilyn Miley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miley, Cumberland, Md.

Play Is Presented

A play ,"A Good American" was presented by members of the upper grades of the Moorefield Graded School at the regular Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday night. Miss Edna Bauserman, Miss Blanche Hinkle and Mrs. H. M. Calhoun were in charge.

Stanley Hawse reported that during the past week 115 parents had visited the school. A special service was held in the Presbyterian Church, attended by 150 pupils, with Rev. Charles Kernan officiating.

At the business session which followed, it was announced that the plans for an operetta have been postponed.

Clyde Shanholtzer presented the budget as prepared by the finance committee, calling for $550 to be raised by the organization during the year. The high school needs $250 for the band and the graded school needs $100 for the hot lunch, $100 for library books and $50 for outlets for the hot lunch room. Twenty-seven dollars will be needed to take care of the monthly prizes of $3 for attendance and the $23 left will be used for miscellaneous needs, the committee said.

The organization will hold an oyster supper December 5, in the graded school lunch room. John Mathias and Stanley Hawse will have charge of the ticket sale and it was decided that meals would be served only to those having tickets by Wednesday, December 3. Mrs. Sager was appointed chairman of the dining room committee, Mrs. Stalnaker, of the kitchen committee and Miss Edna Bauserman, of soliciting.

Mrs. Rebecca Stickley's room won the attendance prize, having 22 parents present.

Color Films Shown

E. A. Leatherman Jr., entertained the Moorefield Lions Club Monday night at the Airport Inn, showing color films of the Grand Canyon, Glacier National Park, the Hood and Columbia River valley orchards and groves and many western peaks.

The Lions Club wheel chair has been returned to the club by Miss Alice Ruth Hines, the first patient to use the traveling wheel chair, who has recovered. The board of directors of the club recommended nine eye examinations for qualified children.

Harold Dodd was named acting secretary in the absence of Robert Hott. R. J. Bean was named chairman of a committee to prepare an article explaining the proposed new water system for Moorefield. The report will be published.

A "Citizen of the Year" will be named by the club, selecting the person who served the community most during the past year. John T. St. Clair, president, announced that 23 members have perfect attendance records so far this year.

Addresses Farm Women

Judge H. M. Calhoun addressed the Capon Farm Women's Club at Wardensville High School recently in a talk on "Training the Child For Good Citizenship". The program in charge of the club's citizenship committee. The faculty and student body of the high school attended.

Mrs. Maurice Beall, Mrs. C. E. Hott and Mrs. J. V. Warden are members of the sponsoring committee. A tea was held for the faculty of the Wardensville graded school and the high school in charge of Mrs. C. J. Cunningham and Mrs. R. C. Hott. The December meeting will be held in the home of the club president, Mrs. J. T. Frye, with a special Christmas program.

Movies To Be Shown

Mrs. W. J. Teets, captain of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society, announces that free movies will be shown at the Hardy County Court House Monday evening, November 24, at 8 o'clock

The three movies will be "Miracle Life", "Time Is Money" and "Choose To Live". The cancer movies were produced by major Hollywood studios starring well known actors. The public is invited.

4-H Elects Officers

Joe Calhoun was elected president of the Moorefield Wildcats 4-H Club at an organization meeting held recently. Other officers are Dorothy Vance, vice president; John T. St. Clair, Jr., secretary; Kathleen Kemp, treasurer; Sam Fisher, reporter; Donna Dasher, song leader, and Bonnie Arnold, game leader.

Miss Blanche Hinkle is the club leader, and Irvin Sherman is assistant leader.

Brief Item

The Bowman 4-H Club chose a community project, the testing of drinking water, at their November meeting held at the home of Donald Wilson. Mary Joe Miller gave a demonstration on the proper way to vote.

Betty Wilson Is Named To Appear In Concert Series

Will Sing With Vinaver Chorus

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Miss Betty Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson, 136 Hill Street, a student of voice in New York City, was auditioned early this month by Chemjo Vinaver and selected to appear in a series of choral concerts to be given in Town Hall. Miss Wilson, a lyric soprano, was chosen as the soloist in the first concert, which will be given Monday, December 15.

The singers will be presented by Friends of Choral Art, and will appear as "The Vinaver Chorus," singing under Vinaver's direction. The chorus, consisting of 30 mixed voices, will give three series of concerts during the season. The Monday series will be on December 15, February 2 and March 8. The Saturday series will be on January 10, February 21 and March 20. Each program will feature synagogue and Hasidic music, "The Bible in Music" and new music from Palestine.

The Vinaver Chorus will concentrate on Jewish contributions to the choral repertory. Chemjo Vinaver, the director, came to this country from Germany in 1938 and has conducted a number of choruses in New York in recent years.

Miss Wilson attended the Juilliard School of Music in New York for two years and is now studying voice under Lucia Dunham, a faculty member of the Juilliard School. She graduated from Frostburg State Teachers' College in 1944. While a student at the college she studied music under Prof. and Mrs. Maurice Matteson.

P-TA Discussed

A meeting was held recently in Beall Elementary School to organize a Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Stanley Buckley, county chairman of Parent-Teacher Associations, explained organizational steps to the group.

Earl F. Brain, principal, acted as temporary chairman and appointed a nominating committee and a by-laws committee. The nominating committee is as follows:

George Kennedy, chairman, Miss Anne Thomas, and Mrs. Myron Lehr. Serving on the by-laws committee are Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold, chairman; Gurney Beeman, Mrs. Pinkney Holmes, Miss Virginia Neff, and Mrs. Margaret H. Layman.

At the next meeting on Monday, December 1, these committees will make their reports and the election of officers will be held.

Conducting Services

Miss Mabel Willetts, Midlothian, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willetts, Sr., is in Dallas, Tex., conducting revival services at the First Assembly of God Church. Her Sunday night sermons are broadcast over station KRLD from midnight until 12:30. The program was heard last Sunday by local friends and relatives.

Miss Willetts spent part of the summer here and spoke frequently at services in the Assembly of God Church, Midlothian. She has conducted services in many sections of the country since she took up evangelistic work.

Walters Service

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home here for Milton L. Walters, 52, a former Frostburg resident, who died Monday morning at his home in Grant Town, W. Va., from a heart attack.

Rev. Watson E. Holley, pastor of First Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Frostburg Briefs

The Van Dyke Bible class of First Methodist Church will meet tomorrow evening in the Sunday School room of the church. The hostesses will be Mrs. David Griffith, Mrs. Elmer S. Kight and Miss Eva Rodda. A Turkish towel and wash cloth shower will be given at the meeting for the Strawbridge Home for Boys.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church will go to Layman's Farm tonight for a chicken dinner. A business meeting will follow the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lavin, 105 Mt. Pleasant Street, announce the birth of a son Monday morning in Miners Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Myers, 140 Bowery Street, announce the birth of a son Saturday in Miners Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nolan, Lonaconing, announce the birth of a daughter Sunday in Miners Hospital.

The seventh grade of Beall Elementary School presented a program Friday afternoon, under direction of Miss Harriett Bradley, carrying out the Armistice Day theme.

Frostburg Personals

Mrs. Sue Kreider, a member of the Beall Elementary School faculty, has been ill for several days.

Mrs. Myron Lehr, Frost Avenue, is substituting at Beall Elementary School for Mrs. Minnie Pearce, who is absent due to the death of her brother.

Frank Flannagan, East Main Street, is reported seriously ill in Miners Hospital.

James A. Waln, Washington, D. C., a former resident of Frostburg while teaching at Beall High School, visited friends here Monday evening. He left Frostburg 10 years ago.

J. C. Spindler, a retired minister of Grace M. E. Church, South, this city, is reported seriously ill in Miners Hospital.

JOINS CHORUS — Miss Betty Wilson, Frostburg, a student of voice in New York City, has been selected to appear in a series of concerts with a choral group directed by Chemjo Vinaver. The choral concerts will be presented in Town Hall, New York.

Tri-Town Clubs Plan Christmas Food For Needy

Westernport Plans Holiday Decorations

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — The Methodist Men's Club of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, will sponsor a campaign for Christmas food baskets for underprivileged families in the Tri-Towns.

It was decided Monday night at the business meeting of the club, following a turkey dinner held in the reception hall of the church, that Sunday, December 14, be designated for the members of the church and Sunday school to bring non-perishable food to the church.

John E. Grindle, Harry Foreman, William McGee and Okey Michael, were named a committee by J. Harold Baker, president of the club, to ask other Tri-Town organizations to provide Christmas baskets for their members so there would be no duplication and to make sure that no needy person will be overlooked.

All persons knowing of needy families are requested to contact the Piedmont Herald by telephoning 8221 or calling the Times-News office at Westernport by dialing 4241. These names will be reported to the proper persons for investigation.

A special meeting of the club will be held Monday night, December 15, for receiving reports of food and financial donations.

It was decided at the meeting of Mayor J. Milton McIntyre and Commissioners Monday night that colored lights be strung on Washington and Main Street. The work will begin about the first of December. The streets will be lighted every night two weeks before Christmas and continuing through New Year's Day.

Rotary Will Meet

Dr. Burritt C. Harrington, of the extension staff of West Virginia University, Morgantown, will be the guest speaker today at the luncheon of the Tri-Town Rotary Club at 12:15 o'clock at the Westernport Service Center. His theme will be "Clouds Over India."

Joint Meeting Planned

The Westernport Homemakers Club will meet with the Lonaconing Homemakers Club tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Odd Fellows' Hall, Lonaconing.

The clubs will celebrate Achievement Day with a display of articles made by the members of the clubs during the year. Yearly reports of the clubs will be given by the club which will include the nominating committee. Mrs. Winnie Bosley is chairman of the program committee of the Westernport Club.

Tri-Towns Briefs

The First Grade Mothers of the Hammond Street School will hold their November study hour this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Miss Margaret Neuman, Westernport, state health nurse, will conduct the meeting.

Mrs. Ida Bobo, Philos Avenue, who fractured her right hip in a fall Monday night at her home, was admitted to the Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, yesterday afternoon.

Officers of the Young Ladies Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont will be elected at a meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Okey Michael, 222 Spruce Street, Westernport.

Dr. P. E. Gillespie, superintendent of home missions in North Carolina, will present a full color film tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church, Piedmont. The picture, a travel presentation in North Carolina from the mountains to the sea, shows the work that the contributions to the home mission accomplish.

Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Piedmont, is recovering from an operation in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Keyser Negro Is Freed On Bond In Assault Case

Brown To Appear In Circuit Court

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER, W. Va. — Linwood "Buck" Brown, 35, local negro, was released on $1,000 bond for appearance before the next term of Circuit Court, at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle yesterday afternoon.

Brown was charged with felonious and malicious assault with intent to kill W. M. Smith, an aged negro resident. Brown and Smith engaged in an argument Monday afternoon over repairs to a house that Smith rents from Brown, and Smith was badly cut about the arm by a nail-studded club, authorities said.

The injured man's son, Hugh Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., who was visiting his father at the time of the alleged assault, pursued Brown into the home of Attorney and Mrs. Emory L. Tyler on Hawthorne Road, police said. Mrs. Tyler, who was alone in the house, called police.

Brown was lodged in the county jail until the hearing yesterday.

Special Meeting Planned

The results of a conference between City Attorney James Swadley and Fire Chief Wade Thomas with officials of the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company of Cumberland, Md., in an effort to "break" the contract let the Cumberland firm for the construction of a new fire hall for the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company of Keyser, will not be known until tomorrow night when a special meeting of the City Council, Citizen's Committee and the Firemen has been called for 7 o'clock.

An emergency meeting of the Council, Citizen's Committee and Firemen's Committee was held Monday night after members of the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company had appealed to Mayor John C. Freeland for immediate action, stating they were not getting enough for their money in the contract let to Hazelwood Company. The contract was awarded to the Cumberland firm when their bid of $37,261 was the lowest submitted for the work.

It was suggested that in the event the contract is broken, the city would do the work under the supervision of a local contractor. The committees said a better building could be erected for the money on hand if done under local supervision. The city has $37,500 on hand for the work.

Classes Underway

Forty persons have enrolled in the leadership training classes being conducted in the new basement room of the Keyser Presbyterian Church, Monday through Friday, 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. John L. Fairly, Richmond, Va., who is accredited for the course in "Ways of Teaching" with the International Council of Religious Education, is giving practical help to teachers of the Bible for more effective instruction.

Sunday Schools of the Church of the Brethren, Lutheran Church, First Methodist, Grace Methodist, Jane's Methodist, Presbyterian and the Presbyterian sponsored community Sunday School of McCoole, Md. are represented in the enrollment.

Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin is pastor of the host church. Any person may enroll for the remainder of the classes.

WSCS Names Officers

Approximately 50 women attended the November meeting of the WSCS of First Methodist Church held in the social room of the church Monday night.

Mrs. John Aldrich had charge of the worship service. The theme of the program was "An Orderly World for Children". Miss Myra Nefflen was chairman of the program and was assisted by Mrs. R. R. Lowe and Mrs. J. E. Prettyman.

Officers elected for 1948 at the business session were Mrs. Hazel Martin, president; Mrs. Charles Steiding, vice president; Mrs. Irma Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. Fay Edwards, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William McFarland, treasurer.

Members voted unanimously to pay for robes for the church's children's choir. The cost was estimated at $50.

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held at the next regular meeting on the third Monday in December.

Concluding the program and business session a social hour was held, with Group No. 1 as hostess.

Appeals Verdict, Fine

Roland Davis, Blaine, was found guilty on a charge of intoxication at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, Monday evening. Davis was charged with being drunk on August 10, 1947, at which time a warrant was sworn out by Justice of the Peace Lee Ellifritz of Blaine. He is reported to have returned recently to West Virginia.

Davis appealed the verdict and the fine of $500 assessed by Miss Bazzle and was released on $500 bond for his appearance at the next term of Circuit Court.

The defendant was represented by Attorneys H. G. Shores and Howard P. Shores. Attorney Donald C. Hott acted as special prosecutor in the case.

Firemen Receive Check

A check for $368.85, to complete payment on the new fire truck recently received, was formally presented to James G. Briley, president of the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company, by members of the Loyal Order of Moose last night.

The decision to pay the remaining balance of the fire truck was made at a meeting of the board of governors of the Keyser Moose lodge Monday night.

Royal Wedding To Be Broadcast Early tomorrow

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Last of the ABC series in preview of the royal wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Mountbatten is on the Wednesday afternoon schedule at 4:45. It comes from London with the cooperation of Mrs. Cobina Wright and Blevins Davis.

Broadcast of the wedding itself to this country has been all arranged for early Thursday morning, which means the networks will go on the air at 6 a. m. that day to carry the two-hour program. Included is to be a direct pickup of the wedding ceremony. Each network will carry the original program, with some of them planning additional recorded features.

The MBS 9:30 p. m. drama series that is reviving scripts of the past and had a little difficulty in deciding upon a title has gone back to the original name of Encore Theater. It's piece this time is "Alibi for Murder."

Henry Morgan, who since his sponsor announced he would not renew the program upon the December expiration of contract has been going on other programs to let folks know his show is "for sale," is billed for Duffy's Tavern of NBC at 9. This will be in addition to his own ABC-er at 10:30 . . . .Also up for guesting on NBC is Carmen Miranda, due with Jimmy Durante at 10:30, who happens to be the H. Morgan competition.

Third of the You and the Russians series on CBS at 6:15 is to consider "Aspirations." . . . . The Vox Poppers of ABC at 8:30 will be Burbank, Calif., and a sound movie stage for their questions after guesting in the a. m. at 11 on the Breneman program, same network.

Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Nothing Important Today

The best description of "Hollywood Theater," a transcribed program heard Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m. E.S.T. on WNBC in New York and on lots of other stations around the country, is a synopsis of a few of the plots which have a strong almost acrid, odor of celluloid. Well, sir, in one of these programs a doctor, who had been unfrocked for some sort of medical malpractice, met a blind girl who had undergone several dozen operations, none successful, in her eyes.

Ginger Rogers

A few moments after these star-crossed individuals had collied, the narrator informed us: "The days were sunlit with his laughter —then a shadow fell." The shadow was, of course, love. "I'll be your eyes," said the unfrocked doctor, who wants to marry the girl. Naturally, being blind, she couldn't accept such a sacrifice. "I'm going away," she said simply. That's as far as I got, but I bet she didn't go away. I'm willing to bet my whole file of Red Skelton jokes she stayed there and the doctor put that frock back on long enough to perform the operation that restored her sight.

Want to hear another? Well, in this one a young girl (Ginger Rogers with an accent) was sitting in a hashhouse eating a hamburger when a holdup man came in, stuck up the joint up, made off with $12 and also, for dim reasons never clearly explained, took along the girl. Miss Rogers then snorted, and snuffled and sniffed her way through a speech about America, the land of opportunity, which transformed the bad man into a model citizen in just ten minutes. Miss Rogers, who usually has more sense and who certainly doesn't need the money, got involved in this nonsense, I gathered, solely because her mother, Lela Rogers, has something or other to do with "Hollywood Theater."

In the third one, Ben Lyon and his wife, Bebe Daniels, assisted by a couple of thir children, romped through a little confection about Halloween in which the parents landed in jail for ringing doorbells. It wasn't a comedy, it wasn't drama and it certainly wasn't Superman.

About the only attraction to "Hollywood Theater" are the great names in the cast. That's all you get, just the names; the talent is left at home. Before the show starts, the names are interviewed or more specifically drenched with compliments by the master of ceremonies. The responses of the actors are masterpieces of modesty and confusion, usually accompanied by small, nervous giggles which are the only authentic sounds heard on this show.

Apparently, these expensive actors pretty well swallow the budget, thus leaving little money for the writers. Or maybe there aren't any writers. It's conceivable the actors make it all up as they go along.

The disc jockey profession, about which I feel duty bound to report as a historic rather than an artistic phenomenon in radio, has taken another small stride toward wherever it's going. (Oblivion, if Petrillo has his way.) Jim Backus, one of the newer disk jockeys (Mutual 9:30 p. m. E.S.T. Sundays), is unusual in this game because he has talent, something which was never before considered necessary among disk jockeys.

Backus is a comedian; his contribution to the disk jockey art consists of comedy monologues between records; it's not the aimless chatter of most disk jockeys, but regular comedy that has been written and rehearsed. Backus is the man who played Hubert Updike III, the richest man in the world, on the old Alan Young show, and is still playing him on this one. Hubert is a young man whose enthusiasm for his own wealth is boundless. When some one reminded that there were things money wouldn't buy, his reaction was:

"Father will be furious."

Backus has a number of other voices and personalities and employs them all to poke fun at wrestlers, sports announcers, other disc jockeys and anything else that bobs into his mind. It's an intimate performance of no great importance except for its possibly revolutionary effect on other disk jockeys. If talent is allowed to get its foot in the door, the listeners may demand that disk jockeys have some other gift besides the ability to read the titles of records.

Backup, by the way, is a very promising young comedian who could develop into a very good one, given something a little more spacious in which to exercise his talents.

Professional Short Covering, Other Buying Raises Majority Of Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Professional short covering, in addition to other buying, lifted stocks generally in today's market on the idea, mainly, that the list was oversold and due for a technical rally.

Steels, selected rails and industrials came to the fore after mildly firm opening dealings turned active around midday with favorites up two or more points. Trends hardened in the final hour and a number of favorites finished at the day's best although many pivotals failed to do much and numerous minus signs persisted. Transfers expanded to 930,000 shares compared with 750,000 the day before and were a top since November 5.

International Business Machines jumped 7½ points to 221. Universal Leaf Tobacco was up 6¾. Coca-Cola tacked on 3½ at 188½; ahead one to two or so were United States Steel at 76¼, Bethlehem Steel 99¼, Youngstown Sheet 78, Chrysler 62⅝, Goodyear 45¾, J. I. Case 45, Sante Fe 82⅞, Southern Pacific 45¼, Southern Railway 36, Nickel Plate Railway preferred 123, Union Pacific 143¾, Warren Foundry 35, Mission Corporation 50¾ and Cooper-Bessemer 23¾. Several of the foregoing were at 1947 highs.

Recently wavering tendencies of high grade securities was exemplified by Eastern Kodak preferred which dropped 14 points at 166 on the first two sales since November 10. Consolidated Edison was off one-fourth at 21, a low for the year. Phillips Petroleum yielded 1¼ at 57⅞ on a stock offering to shareholders. Alleghany prior preferred was off one at 75. Small declines were shown for Pennsylvania Railroad, J. C. Penny and United States Gypsum.

In the Curb Clinchfield Coal climbed six points on restricted trades. Lesser improvement was retained by Hollinger Gold, Bell Telephone of Canada, Le Tourneau, Bridgeport Oil and Noma Electric. Stumblers were Mead Johnson and Consolidated Steel. Turnover here was 270,000 shares versus 240,000 yesterday.

A sizeable group of low priced rails moved ahead major fractions to more than a point in the otherwise quiet and trendless bond market.

United States governments were unchanged to down 9-32 of a point in outside markets. Treasury 2½s of December, 1967-72, eased 1:32 to 101.2

Sales totaled $5,201,000 compared with $4,210,000 on Monday.

Norse Scientists On Way To Antarctic

OSLO—(AP)—A Norwegian scientific expedition has left for the Antarctic on board the 500-ton seal hunter Bratteg.

The ship, carrying five scientists headed by the zoologist Holger Holgersen of Bergen, is skippered by Capt. Nils Larsen, who previously participated in 18 Antarctic expeditions.

The party will land on Peter I Island visited by man only once before. The scientists will make meteorological observations, examine currents as well as flora and fauna.

The expedition, which is financed and equipped by the Norwegian Whaling Association, expects to return to Oslo in May, 1948.

Radio In Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Nothing Important Today

The best description of "Hollywood Theater," a transcribed program heard Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m. E.S.T. on WNBC in New York and on lots of other stations around the country, is a synopsis of a few of the plots which have a strong almost acrid, odor of celluloid. Well, air, in one of these programs a doctor, who had been unfrocked for some sort of medical malpractice, met a blind girl who had undergone several dozen operations, none successful, in her eyes.

Ginger Rogers

A few moments after these star-crossed individuals had collied, the narrator informed us: "The days were sunlit with his laughter—then a shadow fell." The shadow was, of course, love. "I'll be your eyes," said the unfrocked doctor, who wants to marry the girl. Naturally, being blind, she couldn't accept such a sacrifice. "I'm going away," she said simply. That's as far as I got, but I bet she didn't go away. I'm willing to bet my whole file of Red Skelton jokes she stayed there and the doctor put that frock back on long enough to perform the operation that restored her sight.

Want to hear another? Well, in this one a young girl (Ginger Rogers with an accent) was sitting in a hashhouse eating a hamburger when a holdup man came in, stuck up the joint up, made off with $12 and also, for dim reasons never clearly explained, took along the girl. Miss Rogers then snorted, and snuffled and sniffed her way through a speech about America, the land of opportunity, which transformed the bad man into a model citizen in just ten minutes. Miss Rogers, who usually has more sense and who certainly doesn't need the money, got involved in this nonsense, I gathered, solely because her mother, Lela Rogers, has something or other to do with "Hollywood Theater."

In the third one, Ben Lyon and his wife, Bebe Daniels, assisted by a couple of thir children, romped through a little confection about Halloween in which the parents landed in jail for ringing doorbells. It wasn't a comedy, it wasn't drama and it certainly wasn't Superman.

About the only attraction to "Hollywood Theater" are the great names in the cast. That's all you get, just the names; the talent is left at home. Before the show starts, the names are interviewed or more specifically drenched with compliments by the master of ceremonies. The responses of the actors are masterpieces of modesty and confusion, usually accompanied by small, nervous giggles which are the only authentic sounds heard on this show.

Apparently, these expensive actors pretty well swallow the budget, thus leaving little money for the writers. Or maybe there aren't any writers. It's conceivable the actors make it all up as they go along.

The disc jockey profession, about which I feel duty bound to report as a historic rather than an artistic phenomenon in radio, has taken another small stride toward wherever it's going. (Oblivion, if Petrillo has his way.) Jim Backus, one of the newer disk jockeys (Mutual 9:30 p. m. E.S.T. Sundays), is unusual in this game because he has talent, something which was never before considered necessary among disk jockeys.

Backus is a comedian; his contribution to the disk jockey art consists of comedy monologues between records; it's not the aimless chatter of most disk jockeys, but regular comedy that has been written and rehearsed. Backus is the man who played Hubert Updike III, the richest man in the world, on the old Alan Young show, and is still playing him on this one. Hubert is a young man whose enthusiasm for his own wealth is boundless. When some one reminded that there were things money wouldn't buy, his reaction was:

"Father will be furious."

Backus has a number of other voices and personalities and employs them all to poke fun at wrestlers, sports announcers, other disc jockeys and anything else that bobs into his mind. It's an intimate performance of no great importance except for its possibly revolutionary effect on other disk jockeys. If talent is allowed to get its foot in the door, the listeners may demand that disk jockeys have some other gift besides the ability to read the titles of records.

Backup, by the way, is a very promising young comedian who could develop into a very good one, given something a little more spacious in which to exercise his talents.

Professional Short Covering, Other Buying Raises Majority Of Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Professional short covering, in addition to other buying, lifted stocks generally in today's market on the idea, mainly, that the list was oversold and due for a technical rally.

Steels, selected rails and industrials came to the fore after mildly firm opening dealings turned active around midday with favorites up two or more points. Trends hardened in the final hour and a number of favorites finished at the day's best although many pivotals failed to do much and numerous minus signs persisted. Transfers expanded to 930,000 shares compared with 750,000 the day before and were a top since November 5.

International Business Machines jumped 7¼ points to 221. Universal Leaf Tobacco was up 6¾. Coca-Cola tacked on 3½ at 188½; ahead one to two or so were United States Steel at 76¼, Bethlehem Steel 99¼, Youngstown Sheet 78, Chrysler 82⅛, Goodyear 45¾, J. I. Case 45, Sante Fe 82⅞, Southern Pacific 45¼, Southern Railway 36, Nickel Plate Railway preferred 123, Union Pacific 143¾, Warren Foundry 35, Mission Corporation 50¾ and Cooper-Bessemer 23¾. Several of the foregoing were at 1947 highs.

Recently wavering tendencies of high grade securities was exemplified by Eastern Kodak preferred which dropped 14 points at 166 on the first two sales since November 10. Consolidated Edison was off one-fourth at 21, a low for the year. Phillips Petroleum yielded 1⅛ at 57⅞ on a stock offering to shareholders. Alleghany prior preferred was off one at 75. Small declines were shown for Pennsylvania Railroad, J. C. Penny and United States Gypsum.

In the Curb Clinchfield Coal climbed six points on restricted trades. Lesser improvement was retained by Hollinger Gold, Bell Telephone of Canada, Le Tourneau, Bridgeport Oil and Noma Electric. Stumblers were Mead Johnson and Consolidated Steel. Turnover here was 270,000 shares versus 240,000 yesterday.

A sizeable group of low priced rails moved ahead major fractions to more than a point in the otherwise quiet and trendless bond market.

United States governments were unchanged to down 9-32 of a point in outside markets. Treasury 2½s of December, 1967-72, eased 1:32 to 101.2

Sales totaled $5,201,000 compared with $4,210,000 on Monday.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(INS)—Joan Fontaine and Bill Dozier plane tomorrow to Bermuda to spend the weekend with the very social Lakin Baldredes.

Joan Crawford

Bill doesn't know, I am sure, that I know he made many calls to the Pacific coast to the Hakim Brothers who will star Joan in "Mayerling."

I am reliably informed that instead of making the picture at RKO with Louis Jourdan, it will be made at MGM with Robert Taylor in the male lead opposite Joan.

This will be one of the few pictures MGM will release outside of their own production. They almost made a deal for Ingrid Bergman for "Joan" but that fell through at the last minute when Walter Wanger signed with RKO.

The lucky hero who will make love to Joan Crawford in "Until Proven Guilty" is Robert Douglas, the English actor who is coming along by leaps and bounds at Warners.

He's the brother-in-law of the Countess of Warrick. Judging from the way Jack Warner is putting him in good pictures—"Christopher Blake" and "Adventures of Don Juan"—it's obvious he thinks Warners have something in Douglas.

As for Joan—her cook's broken foot may be keeping her in the kitchen cooking and washing dishes for her brood—but they tell me there was no trace of dishpan hands when she swept into L'Aiglon with Greg Bautzer (who else?) wearing an off-the-shoulder dress and one of the new "side" hats dripping white feathers.

Tony Martin pulls a switcheroo when he goes to Broadway to star in a stage version of "Casbah" the minute he finishes the movie on the U-I lot.

Usually the stage version comes before the picture, but Nat Goldstone, the producer, has decided that the script and songs are so perfectly set up for a show that he's moving on to Broadway and taking Tony with him.

The two screen leading ladies, Yvonne De Carlo and Marta Toren remain in Hollywood—their soles being taken over by New York actresses.

I can very easily see why Virginia Leigh is named the top deb of the year, the girl to succeed Lorraine Dresselhuys and Brenda Frazier. She is soooo pretty, fresh looking and well mannered.

I was invited to the dinner dance the Bradford Walkers gave for "Ginny" and she was easily the prettiest girl there in spite of strong competition from this year's lovely crop of debs.

Yes, I danced with the boys from Yale and Princeton and learned plenty of new steps. The first 12 dances were wonderful—but then I sat down before I fell down. The youthful whirl is marvelous—but I ain't that rugged!

Marlene Dietrich's courtesy and her unfailing good manners are wonderful. Marlene was in the champagne room at El Morocco when Mrs. Frank Henderson rushed up to her and said she didn't mean any offense by comparing her legs to Marlene's.

The average star would have turned away . . . not Marlene. She told Mrs Henderson that she understood and wasn't offended.

Night after night, the Henderson gal, who is 72, is seen around town dancing at the night spots—without the diamond tiara, however, which created such a fuss in operatic and social circles the first night of the Metropolitan opera.

Chatted with Maria Montez who was in New York just two days before heading for the coast. Maria tells me that Jean Pierre Aumont will be back from France the first of January to make a movie in Hollywood.

The lady, by the way, is very indignant over the report, printed elsewhere, that she and Jean Pierre are separating. "Would I have gone to Paris to be with him and left our child if there was trouble?" she asks.

Fred De Cordova long-distanced me that Jack Warner has given him permission to take time out to direct a stage play, "The Master's Chair," between pictures. Rehearsals start in two weeks with the play opening in Santa Barbara Christmas night.

Fred plans to take it to San Francisco for three weeks and then on to New York.

There's a possibility that Lynn Bari may accept the starring role. The only hitch is that she hates to leave Hollywood for any length of time so soon after reconciling with Sid Luft.

That's all today.

Funeral Service Held For Former Policeman

A funeral service was conducted November 10 in Fort Myer Chapel, Arlington, Va., for Harry Rossiter "Ross" Fayman, 75, Spanish-American War veteran and former Cumberland police officer, who lived a number of years on the South Branch of the Potomac near Springfield, W. Va., after leaving the force.

Faymah was a policeman here from 1921 until 1928 and later went into the restaurant business. Older residents recall Fayman as an excellent baseball player in his younger days when he played in the old Tri-State League. At one time he was a bartender in a local establishment. He was well-known to campers along the South Branch.

Fire flies are members of the large beetle family.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(INS)—Joan Fontaine and Bill Dozier plane tomorrow to Bermuda to spend the weekend with the very social Lakin Baldredes.

Joan Crawford

Bill doesn't know, I am sure, that I know he made many calls to the Pacific coast to the Hakim Brothers who will star Joan in "Mayerling."

I am reliably informed that instead of making the picture at RKO with Louis Jourdan, it will be made at MGM with Robert Taylor in the male lead opposite Joan.

This will be one of the few pictures MGM will release outside of their own production. They almost made a deal for Ingrid Bergman for "Joan" but that fell through at the last minute when Walter Wanger signed with RKO.

The lucky hero who will make love to Joan Crawford in "Until Proven Guilty" is Robert Douglas, the English actor who is coming along by leaps and bounds at Warners.

He's the brother-in-law of the Countess of Warrick. Judging from the way Jack Warner is putting him in good pictures—"Christopher Blake" and "Adventures of Don Juan"—it's obvious he thinks Warners have something in Douglas.

As for Joan—her cook's broken foot may be keeping her in the kitchen cooking and washing dishes for her brood—but they tell me there was no trace of dishpan hands when she swept into L'Aiglon with Greg Bautzer (who else?) wearing an off-the-shoulder dress and one of the new "side" hats dripping white feathers.

Tony Martin pulls a switcheroo when he goes to Broadway to star in a stage version of "Casbah" the minute he finishes the movie on the U-I lot.

Usually the stage version comes before the picture, but Nat Goldstone, the producer, has decided that the script and songs are so perfectly set up for a show that he's moving on to Broadway and taking Tony with him.

The two screen leading ladies, Yvonne De Carlo and Marta Toren remain in Hollywood—their soles being taken over by New York actresses.

I can very easily see why Virginia Leigh is named the top deb of the year, the girl to succeed Lorraine Dresselhuys and Brenda Frazier. She is soooo pretty, fresh looking and well mannered.

I was invited to the dinner dance the Bradford Walkers gave for "Ginny" and she was easily the prettiest girl there in spite of strong competition from this year's lovely crop of debs.

Yes, I danced with the boys from Yale and Princeton and learned plenty of new steps. The first 12 dances were wonderful—but then I sat down before I fell down. The youthful whirl is marvelous—but I ain't that rugged!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and bereavement of our beloved mother, Mrs. Phoebe Robey. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, those who loaned cars, the minister, pallbearers and those who sent sympathy.

THE FAMILY.

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind and helpful to us during our recent bereavement, the illness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Mary Jo Wolfe. We wish to thank the members of the LaSalle High School Glee Club who sang at the Mass. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and Mass cards and those who donated cars for the funeral.

The Family of MRS. MARY JO WOLFE

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Frances (Bone) Hunter, who died ten years ago, November 18, 1937.

There is a home not made by hands;
Beyond Its Golden Door
Awaits the one who's now away,
Not lost . . . just gone before.
And in that home not made by hands
The Master will prepare
A place for us, and when He calls
We'll meet our loved one there.

MOTHER, FATHER and CHILDREN.

In memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Porter, who died 2 years ago today, November 19, 1945.

There is a home not made by hands;
Beyond its golden door
Awaits the one who's now away,
Not lost . . . just gone before.
And in that home not made by hands
The Master will prepare
A place for us, and when He calls
We'll meet our loved one there.

THE FAMILY.

FRAMING
You will be pleased with this fine pine and hemlock framing. It is surfaced 4 sides — Full thickness — None better.

SHEATHING
We can surely accommodate you when it comes to sheathing. We have it in High Grade pine — Lower grades of pine and hemlock. Also, oak sheathing, surfaced 2 sides.

GERMAN SIDING
1" x 6", tongue and grooved. The best kind if you are not going to use storm sheathing.

ROOFERS
The regular grade in stock. Well-manufactured.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and bereavement of our beloved mother, Mrs. Phoebe Robey. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, those who loaned cars, the minister, pallbearers and those who sent sympathy.

THE FAMILY.

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind and helpful to us during our recent bereavement, the illness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Mary Jo Wolfe. We wish to thank the members of the LaSalle High School Glee Club who sang at the Mass. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and Mass cards and those who donated cars for the funeral.

The Family of MRS. MARY JO WOLFE.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Frances (Bone) Hunter, who died ten years ago, November 18, 1937.

There is a home not made by hands;
Beyond Its Golden Door
Awaits the one who's now away,
Not lost . . . just gone before.
And in that home not made by hands
The Master will prepare
A place for us, and when He calls
We'll meet our loved one there.

MOTHER, FATHER and CHILDREN.

In memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Porter, who died 2 years ago today, November 19, 1945.

There is a home not made by hands;
Beyond its golden door
Awaits the one who's now away,
Not lost . . . just gone before.
And in that home not made by hands
The Master will prepare
A place for us, and when He calls
We'll meet our loved one there.

THE FAMILY.

Applications Open For Postmaster Vacancy

Applicants for the position of postmaster at Cresaptown must submit their applications before December 18, Postoffice officials said yesterday. Date of the competitive examination for the office, to be held in Cumberland, will be announced later.

The position pays $2,500 yearly. Applicants must have been residents of Cresaptown for the past year and must be between 21 and 63 years of aga and in good health. Preference will be shown to war veterans, who must submit documentary proof of military service.

Applications may be obtained from the Cresaptown Postoffice or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Law Office of Estel C. Kelley,
12 Greene Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Gertrude Jane Shearer vs. William John Shearer, No. 18942 Equity.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the defendant and the custody of the child born of the parties hereto. The Bill of Complaint states that the parties were married in New York on the 26th day of April, 1944, and that on or about the 31st day of October, 1945, the defendant, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and that said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months before the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this case and was deliberate and final on the part of said defendant, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation; that the plaintiff and defendant have both been residents of Allegany County, Maryland for more than one year before the filing of this suit, and that the said defendant has been twice returned NON EST and is now without the jurisdiction of the State of Maryland; that one child, now two years of age past, was born as a result of the marriage, and the said infant is now in the custody of the plaintiff, and that the plaintiff seeks the permanent custody of said infant child.

It is thereupon ordered this 4th day of November, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 7th day of December, 1947, giving notice of the object and substance of this Bill to the said William John Shearer, as provided by law in the case of non-residents, warning him to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 23rd day of December, 1947, to show cause, if any he may have, why a Decree should not be granted as prayed.

TELEVISION? It's electricity all the way—from stage or stadium to your home.

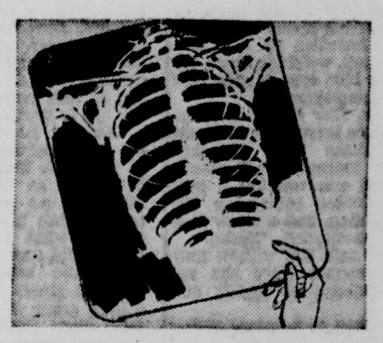

RADIO? No comedians, news, symphonies, dance bands, no radio—without electricity.

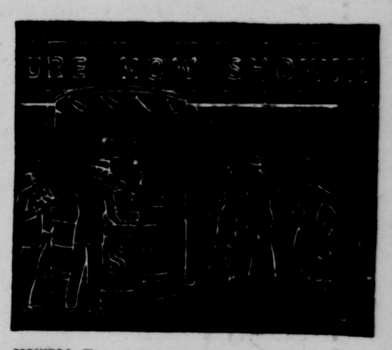

TELEPHONE? Electricity carries your voice along the wires and rings the bell.

TROLLEY CARS? Horses pulled 'em once. Electric horsepower does it far better.

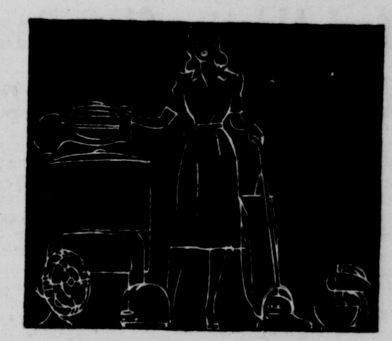

X-RAY? The X-ray itself is actually a special kind of electricity—and that's no rib!

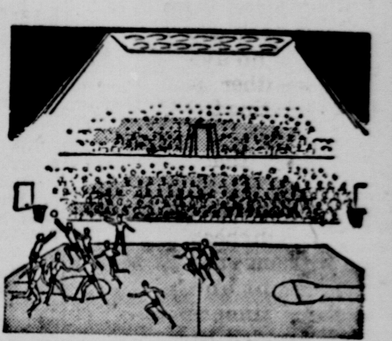

MOVIES? Electricity makes 'em move and talk, and even keeps the customers cool!

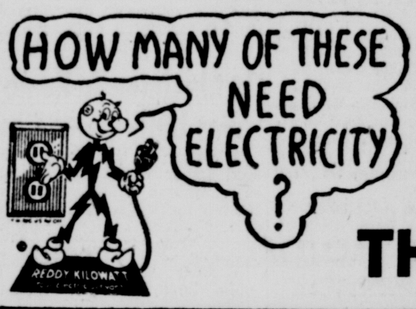

RADAR? Only electricity can safely find a field or a fleet through fog or clouds.

HOME APPLIANCES? Electricity heats, cools, freezes, lights, sews, cleans and entertains.

NIGHT SPORTS? No night basketball, football, baseball, hockey—without electricity.

You're right. All these—and many other good things of modern life. That's one reason why, in a recent Gallup poll, Americans named electricity as the most important invention of all time. Another reason: good electric service is available to almost everybody, at low cost.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Gertrude Jane Shearer vs. William John Shearer, No. 18942 Equity.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the defendant and the custody of the child born of the parties hereto. The Bill of Complaint states that the parties were married in New York on the 26th day of April, 1944, and that on or about the 31st day of October, 1945, the defendant, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and that said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months before the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this case and was deliberate and final on the part of said defendant, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation; that the plaintiff and defendant have both been residents of Allegany County, Maryland for more than one year before the filing of this suit, and that the said defendant has been twice returned NON EST and is now without the jurisdiction of the State of Maryland; that one child, now two years of age past, was born as a result of the marriage, and the said infant is now in the custody of the plaintiff, and that the plaintiff seeks the permanent custody of said infant child.

It is thereupon ordered this 4th day of November, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 7th day of December, 1947, giving notice of the object and substance of this Bill to the said William John Shearer, as provided by law in the case of non-residents, warning him to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 23rd day of December, 1947, to show cause, if any he may have, why a Decree should not be granted as prayed.

TELEVISION? It's electricity all the way—from stage or stadium to your home.

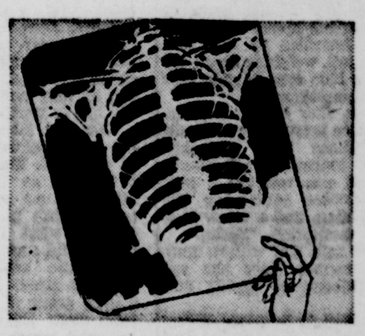

RADIO? No comedians, news, symphonies, dance bands, no radio—without electricity.

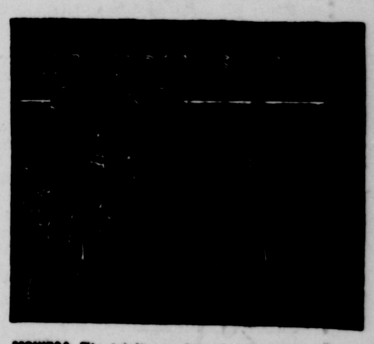

TELEPHONE? Electricity carries your voice along the wires and rings the bell.

TROLLEY CARS? Horses pulled 'em once. Electric horsepower does it far better.

X-RAY? The X-ray itself is actually a special kind of electricity—and that's no rib!

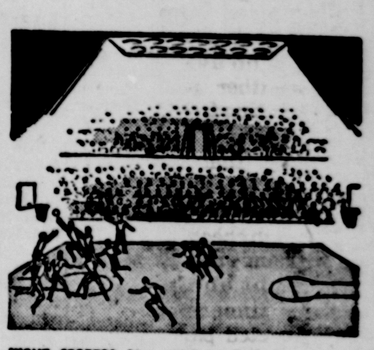

MOVIES? Electricity makes 'em move and talk, and even keeps the customers cool!

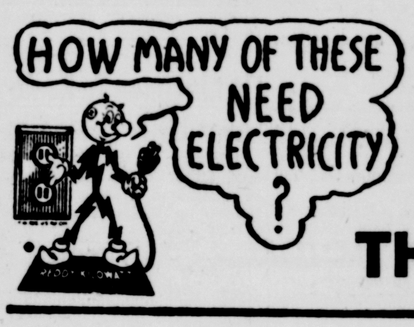

RADAR? Only electricity can safely find a field or a fleet through fog or clouds.

HOME APPLIANCES? Electricity heats, cools, freezes, lights, sews, cleans and entertains.

NIGHT SPORTS? No night basketball, football, baseball, hockey—without electricity.

You're right. All these—and many other good things of modern life. That's one reason why, in a recent Gallup poll, Americans named electricity as the most important invention of all time. Another reason: good electric service is available to almost everybody, at low cost.

Police Hold Man Who Enters Home With Toy Pistol

Prisoner Declares It Was For "Fun"

A 27-year-old father was being held in City Jail last night and police said he confessed to breaking into the home of Mrs. Grace Grant, 310 Pennsylvania Avenue, wearing a black mask and carrying a toy pistol, "just for the fun of it."

Identified as Ezra Dorsey, 434 East Laing Avenue, Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney said he will be held for further questioning in the office of the State's Attorney this morning.

Police said they received a call to the Grant home yesterday morning at 3:50 o'clock after Harry Grant, 19, a son, had surprised the man in a bedroom and was forced at the point of what lately developed to be a toy pistol to lead Dorsey to the street.

Met In Restaurant

Dorsey, according to his statement, met Mrs. Grant in Jack's Restaurant, Virginia Avenue, Monday night, and later rode home with her in a taxi cab. Mrs. Grant got out at her home, and Dorsey left the cab at that point, police said, intending to walk home.

Mrs. Grant told police that Dorsey, whom she didn't know, had come to a booth where she was sitting with another couple and became engaged in the conversation. When she called a cab, Dorsey offered to accompany her home, but she refused. The prisoner, however, according to her, did get in the cab and ride to her home. Mrs. Grant said she paid the driver, and saw Dorsey walking down the street.

At 3:40 a. m. Mrs. Grant's son heard a noise in the upstairs hallway, he told police, and got out of bed to see if his mother was ill. As he opened the door to a vacant bedroom, a man he identified as Dorsey, stepped from behind the door, and said "I'm in the wrong house, show me how to get out of here."

Grant said the man was wearing a black face mask and declared he "jammed something into my ribs" which frightened him. Dorsey was shown to the door and ran down the street after being left out of the house, Grant told police.

Entered Through Window

Arrested last night at his home, Dorsey admitted the breaking and entering, police said, and told them he gained access to the house by climbing a tree in the back yard and forcing a bathroom window.

Dorsey, according to police, denied that he intended to steal anything, and declared he had been drinking and broke into the house to see if he could get in and out for the fun of it.

The prisoner told police that he had been in the country with his wife and child earlier in the day, and explained that he stuck the child's toy pistol and a mask into his pocket after the baby was through playing.

Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya, who made the arrest after investigating the case, said Dorsey will be taken to the office of the State's Attorney this morning.

Camera Club Will Elect Thursday

Officers of the Cumberland Camera Club will be elected at the meeting to be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in Knights of Malta Hall, when the monthly black and white print and color slide competition also will be held.

Candidates for office were selected from cards mailed by members to the nominating committee. They are:

Sam Dooley and J. C. Warden, president; Thomas Cumiskey and John R. King, vice president; Miss Dorothy Willison and William Price, secretary, and Morris D. Fram and Jack Hershiser, treasurer. Candidates for board of directors, two to be elected, are Warden, Dooley, Randolph Millholland and King.

Pictures for the black and white print contest and the color slide competition can be presented Thursday night. A judge will be selected at the meeting.

Between 75 and 100 persons attended the club's recent skating party at Crystal Park. Pictures taken on that occasion will be presented at the December meeting of the club.

This month's meeting was scheduled for next Wednesday night but the date was changed because of Thanksgiving.

School Buses Will Be Inspected Soon

Buses carrying children to eight Allegany County public schools will undergo the second inspection of the school year beginning Monday, November 24, Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel, announced yesterday.

Ramey said he was informed yesterday that Ray O. Horn, supervisor of school buses of the Commission of Motor Vehicles office, will be present for at least part of the inspection which will begin at Flintstone.

The schedule for inspection, according to Ramey, follows:

Monday, November 24—Flintstone at 8:30 a. m.; Piney Plains, 11 a. m.; Oldtown, 1:30 p. m..

Tuesday, November 25—Fort Hill, 8:30 a. m.; Bruce, 12 p. m.; Barton, 1 p. m.; Central, Lonaconing, 1:15 p. m.; and Beall High, Frostburg, 1:45 p. m.

Ramey said he will make the inspection along with a mechanic.

TEMPERATURE READING

The temperature reached a maximum here yesterday of 42 degrees and by 9:30 p. m. had dropped to 37, two degrees higher than yesterday's overnight low of 35. Cloudy and not so cold weather is forecast for today along with occasional light rain.

Marine Building To Cost $90,000

Cumberland's Company D, United States Marine Corps, has received an allotment of $90,000 from headquarters to build an additional wing and headhouse space on the United States Naval armory here, officers announced yesterday.

The Marine section, which is expected to be completed in early summer, will consist of a 60 by 100 feet Butler type building and a second story to the headhouse which is being erected by the Naval unit.

The structure will have a basement which will contain showers and storage space for members of the unit to use while the space in the headhouse will be used for administrative offices.

The headhouse, which will be of stone and concrete, will front Baltimore Street from McKaig Hill and the Butler building will be erected in the rear of the administrative building.

The Marine unit will be erected on the southeast side of the present building being erected for the Navy and while it will be controlled exclusively by the Marine unit, it will technically be a part of the Navy building.

Last Of Escaped W. Va. Convicts Are Recaptured

One Man Surrenders To Prison Officials

West Virginia State Police last night reported the capture of the last of 14 convicts who escaped from Huttonsville Medium Security Prison, near Elkins, W. Va., less than 48 hours earlier.

Police said the last of the escaped prisoners were taken into custody without trouble, in the wooded area near Huttonsville within a 20-mile radius of the scene of the break.

Eight of the men, all serving short terms, were arrested Monday, and one man, Howard Anderson, who had been hiding in the wooded area, surrendered to prison authorities yesterday afternoon because of cold weather.

Police said the last two men, Paul Herb Patterson, 19, and William Arnold McMillan, 19, were captured by a squad of West Virginia State troopers who were patrolling the Huttonville area.

Police were tipped off to the location, Capt. J. H. Fillinger said, when the two men attempted to form a road block by pushing a big log into the path of the car, with the hope of stopping a passing motorist and stealing his car.

Two others, not identified, were taken into custody yesterday afternoon as police combed the wooded area. None of the prisoners offered any resistance when they were surrounded by the patrols, according to police officials.

Police said the escaped prisoners apparently were living on short rations and candy bars that they carried with them when they escaped.

The prisoners escaped from the security prison during a religious service Sunday night after they forced bars from the dormitory window. The convicts ranged in age from 16 to 23 years, prison officials said.

Amnesia Victim Is Taken To Hospital

West Virginia State Police at Romney were seeking last night to establish the identity of a 22-year-old attractive young woman apparently suffering from amnesia who was taken off a Washington, D. C., bound Greyhound bus there yesterday morning.

State Police said the woman remembered that she had come from Cincinnati, Ohio, and that she had been in Columbus, Ohio, before that. She was unable, however, to give troopers any idea of her name or the location of her home.

She was described as five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 135 pounds, with blue eyes, blonde hair and a fair complexion.

The woman, they said, was wearing a two piece lavender suit, black, open-toed shoes with two-inch heels, black topcoat, black classic handbag and was wearing a gold chain and locket containing the picture of a man, and a silver ring bearing the inscription, "Berlin."

Authorities said the woman may be a stenographer since she exhibited knowledge of typing and shorthand.

She was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, last night and was admitted for observation and treatment.

Little And Alderton Close Deal For Lichtenstein Liquor Company

The Lichtenstein Company, 122 Henry Street, wholesale liquor distributors, has been sold by Mrs. Elsa L. Lichtenstein, 12 South Lee Street, to Harry Little, 647 Bedford Street, and Walter R. Alderton, LaVale, it was disclosed last night.

The sale had been negotiated several weeks ago, but was not finally closed until inventories had been completed, and federal and state licenses and permits had been finally approved, Little explained last night.

The new owners said they plan no changes in the business. Their franchises for the two products they will handle include Allegany and Washington counties for one and Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties for the other.

Little, who has been associated with several enterprises here is a life-long resident, and was until recently, actively engaged in the Southern Hotel and club business with Frank Vandegrift. Prior to that time he was in the wholesale poultry business here for a number of years.

Alderton is also a life-long resident and has worked variously as a salesman for the Queen City Candy Company, F. A. Davis Tobacco Company and was at one time operator of the Braddock Liquor Store on Baltimore Street. He sold that business a couple of years ago and went to Miami, Fla. where he engaged in a cocktail lounge and restaurant business until recently, when he returned to enter this busines here.

Mrs. Lichtenstein said recently she plans to retire from business, and that Little and Alderton had negotiated for the purchase of the stock, equipment, goodwill and company name. Little said last night the name and location will be unchanged at present.

The business was founded by the late Reuben Lichtenstein, a native of Germany who came here as a small boy. He served in the Confederate army in Pickett's Division during the Civil War and participated in the battle of Bull Run and fought at Gettysburg. For a time he located in Harrisburg, Pa., but returned here in 1867.

When Lichtenstein established the business, he built a large distillery and for years he operated the company as distiller, rectifier, wholesaler and retailer. He was recognized here as a substantial citizen and always took an active interest in civic af-

I SPEAK FOR DEMOCRACY

By BARBEE SUE MANSFIELD
Allegany High School

EDITOR'S NOTE—The second in a series of four "I Speak For Democracy" orations, is that of Miss Barbee Sue Mansfield, 801 Fayette Street, Allegany High School senior, who was awarded second place in the contest sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce and the National Association of Broadcasters. Miss Mansfield was awarded second place for this oration, in the county competition.

"In these times of turmoil and trouble, when millions, hungry and homeless, are ready to trade their liberty for a crust of bread, I speak for democracy.

"The need for a democratic form of government—that is, a government of self rule—developed back in the Garden of Eden. At that time the important thing was NOT that man was tempted, but that he discovered that he could choose—that he had a self-will which he could exercise.

"It was this self-will, this ability to think, which made him superior to an animal and which has since led him to great heights of inspiration and achievement.

"Down through the ages, as man has exercised his right of choice, he has learned, as Thomas Huxely put it, 'that it were better for him to be wrong in freedom, than for him to go right in chains.'

"He has realized through experience that it is only under a democracy that he can preserve his personality—the outgrowth of his will—and keep from sinking to animal levels.

"Man reached some of his highest peaks of achievement during the "Golden Age" of Greece, a time when democracy first attained its pure form.

"And those who wonder at the inhuman and beastlike actions of Germans during the last World War, need only reflect that they were the offspring of two generations which had not been allowed to think or govern themselves, but had lived under harsh militaristic rule.

"To those who point out the efficiency of a dictatorship, telling of how Germany recovered from a depression more easily than America, and of the rapid advances Russia has made, I say that man is not an animal or a machine to be satisfied with material things, but a human being with a divine spark of self-will. Even though he is living in luxury, unless a man is allowed to think and is able to exercise his self-will—which he can do only under a democracy his life is worth nothing.

"Genghis Khan was one of the most ruthless and efficient of dictators. Thinking in terms of horses as contrasted with airplanes, no modern dictator could match his empire which covered what is now Russia, China, and most of Europe.

"In the same century as Genghis Khan rode over Asia, a little group of barons wrested from their English king, what we know as the Magna Carta. No one at that time would have

VFW Commends Celanese For Co-Operation

Company Excuses Men For Reburial Details

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, adopted a resolution at their regular meeting last night commending the Celanese Corporation of America for its patriotic and co-operative attitude in excusing men to attend funeral services for reburial of World War II dead.

According to Commander James L. Thrasher, the Celanese has voluntarily issued a notice that men who are members of veterans' organization funeral details such as firing squads, color guards, etc., shall be excused to participate in these reburial ceremonies. The men are paid during this absence, and no reduction in pay is made, it was explained.

The post went on record commending this action of the company, and it was agreed that the men would return to work as soon as funeral ceremonies are completed. The company has been using company service cars to transport the veterans to the city, and the post decided it would provide transportation to return them to the plant.

Membership also approved an order to purchase all new uniforms and new bugles for the post drum and bugle corps.

James E. Stemple called a meeting of the house committee and trustees for Thursday at 8 p. m.

Verner Winner was named chairman of a membership committee of 25 members, and a meeting of this group was called for next Tuesday at 8 p. m. Three new members, veterans of World War II were admitted last night.

Thrasher said two members are patients in the hospitals here. Kenneth Valentine is in the Allegany and Elwood Sollars is in the Memorial.

Dick Re-Elected President Of Potomac Park

J. Milton Dick was re-elected president of the Potomac Park Improvement Association last night at a meeting held in the United Brethren Community Church. Elected to serve with him were Edward H. Shaffer, vice president; Mildred H. Thomas, secretary; Ronald H. Kaske, financial secretary; Charles F. Pfeiffer, treasurer; Bruce Thompson, Wilmer Nunamaker, George Alden and Charles Osborne, directors.

The membership discussed plans for their proposed Christmas lighting celebration tentatively scheduled for the night of December 19. Newly installed street lights will be illuminated officially and a Christmas treat is being arranged for the children of the community.

Three Cumberland musical groups have been invited to participate. They are Loyal Order of Moose band, Allegany High School Choral Club and the Elks Male Chorus. The ceremonies will take place on the Potomac Park playground. The event will not include a speaking program and will consist mainly of music.

The playground will be decorated with a 25-foot Christmas tree and a Biblical scene showing the birth of Christ in the stable. The layout will be illuminated by indirect lighting. The Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, is in charge of the Biblical arrangements.

Textile Union To Name Labor Unity Delegates

Delegates to the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will be nominated and elected at membership meetings scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock and tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock, William Boyd Coleman, president, announced.

Posted notices of the meetings added that the regular order of business will also be taken up at the meeting.

Railroad's Service Is Greatest Asset, Hoskins Tells CTP

Cites City's Place As Freight Terminal

The service the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad renders is its greatest asset, F. G. Hoskins, Baltimore, general manager of the Eastern region of the B. and O., told guests at the annual "Friendship Dinner" given by last night the Women's Division of the Co-operative Traffic Program, at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Hoskins stressed the importance of all railroad work, but particularly the volunteer work of members of the CTP, which in many cases is more helpful than that of the actual railroad worker, in creating friendly feelings between customers and the railroad.

The speaker pointed out the importance of Cumberland as a freight terminal, for, he said, all freight going east comes to Cumberland to be separated, and the majority of freight from the east comes to Cumberland to be shipped to western points.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is not emphasising the work it did during the war, but is looking to the future, the general manager pointed out, since he said, the railroad itself, its employes and volunteer organizations in years to come will make the railroad bigger and better by their combined efforts.

Many Guests Present

Mrs. Elsie Kilroy, president of the Women's Division of the CTP, presided, extended the welcome and introduced O. J. Hale, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland News, who served as toastmaster and represented the Times and Alleganian Company at the dinner. There were 185 guests including Baltimore and Ohio officials from Baltimore, Keyser, Martinsburg, and Cumberland, in addition to members of the CTP and representatives from every line of business in town, the City Council and County Commissioners.

The program opened with the group singing of the National Anthem, led by Mrs. William Brinkman, accompanied by her daughter, Dorothy. Dinner music was played by Mrs. W. Loren Ranck, who also accompanied the group singing. Mrs. Hallie Tracie, chaplain of the Women's Division, offered the invocation.

Tribute To Longwell

In memory of the late William H. Longwell, superintendent of the shops here, the entire assembly stood and observed 30 seconds of silence.

The B and O colors of blue and white were carried out in the decorations with arrangements of white pompoms centering the tables and the blue and white programs engraved with the B and O insigna. The Deisel blue was also repeated in the miniature engines, passenger, freight and coal cars used as favors at the speakers table. Miniature signals bore the names of the guests.

The Men's Division assisted with arrangements for the dance which with music by the Aristocrats, concluded the evening.

Mrs. Virginia Brant was general chairman of arrangements; Mrs. Mary Conn and Mrs. Emily Miller, co-chairmen of decorations; Mrs. Mary Nave and Mrs. Pauline Shaffer, tickets, and Mrs. Alva Davis, entertainment.

Nominating Group Named By Grocers

E. L. Beightol was named chairman of a committee to nominate officers for the annual election next month, at the monthly meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, held last night in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Other members of the committee, appointed by Albert E. Windish, president, are H. F. Bowman and Robert F. Rizer.

After urging members to attend meetings regularly, Windish led a general discussion on remodeling and improvement of store buildings.

News Briefs

The public health lay committee of Bowman's Addition will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Fire Hall.

A child hygiene clinic is scheduled Friday at 10 a. m. at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

A child hygiene clinic will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at East Side School.

Referendum On LaVale Sanitary Bill Discussed

January 20 Cited As Possible Date

Plans were made last night at a meeting in the LaVale Fire Hall to request the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors to consider Tuesday, January 20, as a tentative date for holding a referendum on the bill to establish a sanitary district in LaVale.

The board of directors and the water committee of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, sponsors of the measure which was approved during the recent special session of the Maryland General Assembly and signed by Gov. Lane on November 10, decided to send a copy of the bill to the board of election supervisors along with the request.

Plans were also made to conduct an intensive canvass among LaVale residents to acquaint them with the provisions of the bill, which authorizes the creation of a three-man commission to provide for a water supply and sewage and drainage system for the community.

Meeting Set December 2

A public meeting has been scheduled for December 2 in the LaVale Fire Hall, when the bill will be analyzed thoroughly. George Hall, chief engineer of the State Department of Health, will be invited to speak at the meeting, association members said.

The bill provides that a referendum must be held within 90 days from the date it was signed by the governor, which sets the deadline at February 10.

Miles G. Thompson, chairman of the board of directors, pointed out that the group plans an intensive campaign of information regarding the measure because it is a "sensible solution" to the community's water, sewage and sanitary problems.

The water committee, headed by William Douglas, expects to contact D. Clifford Goodfellow, president of the LaVale Water Company, regarding his possible support of the measure. Goodfellow said last night, however, that he has not given the bill sufficient study to form an opinion. He added that his company will continue to do everything it can to supply the community with water.

Other members of the water committee are Charles R. Wherritt and Harry Kauffman.

The bill calls for the appointment of a three-man commission by the Board of County Commissioners, with the commission to be incorporated so that it will have power to enter into necessary contracts.

Expenses To Be Estimated

Bonds to finance the installation and operation of equipment would be issued against the credit of the County Commissioners, with interest rates up to four per cent yearly. Maturity of the bonds would not exceed 30 years, and the sanitary district would be responsible for redeeming them.

The commission would be authorized to fix water charges and rates as a means of financing operation of the system.

Building Permits Total $12,800

Four building permits with estimated construction costs totaling $12,800 were granted in the city engineer's office yesterday.

Two of the permits were granted to Marie K. Holzshu for construction of two one-story brick houses, each to cost $6,000. One of the buildings, to measure 36 by 38 feet, will be located on part of Lot 15 and Lots 16 and 17, Fayette Street. It will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof.

The other house, to be located on part of Lot 13, Lot 14 and part of Lot 15, Fayette Street, will measure 37 by 26 feet, with concrete block foundation and composition roof.

Mrs. Mary E. Nave, 923 Bedford Street, secured a permit to build a garage at the rear of her home along an alley. The one-story building will measure 20 by 12 feet, with a concrete block foundation and walls, and a tarpaper roof. Work will be done by the owner and cost is estimated at $600.

A permit was granted to James F. Scarpelli, 131 West Second Street, to build a one-story 20 by 28-foot addition to a garage at the rear of 108 Virginia Avenue. The addition will have a concrete block foundation and walls, and a composition roof. Work is estimated to cost $200.

Va., who was awarded the Congressional Medal posthumously for valor and bravery in action, during the war in Germany, is to be honored again, according to Maj. Gen. Edmund H. Leavey, chief of the Army Transportation Corps, Washington, D. C. Twenty-nine cargo ships have been obtained by the Corps from the Maritime Commission, and each is to be named for a Congressional Medal winner. The "Link Splicer," a veteran ship of World War II, is to be rechristened the "Sgt. Jonah E. Kelley."

Mt. Savage Man Given 80 Per Cent Disability Rating

Jury Hears Appeal In Accident Case

A Circuit Court jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict awarding John Del Signore, 65, Mt. Savage, 80 per cent disability, in an appeal from the State Industrial Accident Commission.

The case was the culmination of a series of hearings and investigations, and attorneys said the verdict means that the plaintiff will be awarded around $4,000 compensation.

Del Signore, according to his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, was injured when he fell while pushing a wheel barrow load of ashes at the brick yard in Mt. Savage December 13, 1941. He suffered injuries to his leg, neck and back, and had been unable to work over a long period of time.

John T. Fey, attorney for the Union Mining Company, and the State Industrial Accident Commission attempted to show that at least part of the claimant's physical difficulty was due to his advancing age.

It was also shown that the man received compensation amounting to about $18 per week until November 29, 1943, when it was discontinued. A hearing was held before the Commission December 31, 1943, in an effort to have the compensation continued, but the Board ruled against the claimant.

Testimony showed the man's condition grew gradually worse, and he said he was unable to do simple tasks about the small farm near Mt. Savage where he lives. Additional hearings were held June 2, 1944, and March 1, 1946, after which the case was appealed to Court.

Witnesses called in the case included Dr. F. A. G. Murray, Robert Clark, John Pratt, Frank Del Signore, Eugene Del Signore, Mrs. John Del Signore, Margaret Douglas, Dr. W. A. Gracie and Dr. R. R. Rathbone.

Following the return of the verdict after an hour of deliberation, Court instructed the veniremen to return for duty at 9:15 a. m. today.

Efforts Continue To Fill Smoke Position

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday he has communicated with Herbert S. Scruggs, smoke commissioner of Jefferson City, Mo., as a possible applicant for the position of smoke abatement engineer in Cumberland.

Scruggs' name was suggested in a letter which the mayor received Monday from J. H. Carter, commissioner of smoke regulation in St. Louis, Mo.

Carter was one of nine smoke control authorities to whom Mayor Post sent letters last week asking for assistance in filling the local post. The St. Louis official said he believes Scruggs may be interested in making a change from his present position.

The mayor invited Scruggs to state his qualifications for the Cumberland post and to give any other pertinent information, including the salary which he would expect.

Mayor Post said he understands Celanese officials are continuing their efforts to secure other candidates for the position here, following the withdrawal of Robert Emerick, North Charleston, S. C., who had previously expressed interest in the post.

Hagerstown Meeting Will Be Held To Discuss Disease Of Alcoholism

Ten or 15 Cumberland residents are planning to attend a public meeting to be held in Hagerstown on Sunday, November 23, at 3 p. m. at the Franklin Court Auditorium, sponsored by the Hagerstown group of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Featuring an educational program on alcoholism, the meeting will be addressed by representatives of the Yale School of Alcoholism; the Research Council for the Study of Problems on Alcoholism; the C. Dudley Saul Alcoholic Clinic of St. Luke's Hospital, Philadelphia, and the Women's Hospital Committee, Philadelphia Group.

Stress will be placed on the treatment of alcoholism as a disease and on the need for public cooperation in aiding alcoholics toward recovery so that they can be restored to the status of respected citizens.

The citizens' committee arranging the meeting includes Thomas W. Pangborn, chairman; Judge Joseph D. Mish, Mayor Richard H. Sweeney, Rev. C. M. LeFew, president of the Hagerstown Ministerial Association; Rev. Simon T. Kenny, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Hagerstown; and Dr. P. F. Prather, director of the Washington County Health Department.

Since Alcoholics Anonymous was founded in 1935 with three members, the organization has grown until today there are 1,650 branches throughout the country with 48,613 members.

The Hagerstown group was organized in 1946.

Garret Man Held In Case Involving High School Girl

Mother Accuses Avilton Laborer

Leroy Swauger, 33, Avilton, accused by a crippled Grantsville mother of having relations with her 13-year-old daughter in her presence while she was unable to prevent it, is being held in Garrett County Jail for investigation, according to Maryland State Police.

Police said Mrs. Minnie McKenzie, the mother, obtained a warrant for Swauger's arrest Sunday after she told Magistrate J. U. Stanton that the prisoner had stayed at her home from November 10 to 14 and the affairs involving her daughter occurred nightly.

Ordered From Home

Mrs. McKenzie, according to police, said that when she ordered Swauger from her home after discovering the action on November 12, he threatened to "cut me up with an ax and throw me to the dogs." Police said the mother is crippled, suffering from a fractured hip that did not heal properly.

Swauger, an unemployed laborer, was arrested in Avilton, Garrett County, Sunday night but denied the charges, police said. He was ordered held in Garrett County jail for investigation pending the return of State's Attorney Walter Dawson, who is in Baltimore.

The victim, a Grantsville High School student, told police, they said, that Swauger had had affairs with her prior to the most recent incident. Police said they have not determined if the child consented to the action at her home, but explained that Swauger can be held on a charge of statutory rape since Maryland law places the age of consent at 14.

According to officers, Mrs. Mckenzie was in the room at the time Swauger became familiar with her daughter on the night of November 12, but her demands that he leave the home were not heeded. Police said Mrs. McKenzie feared the prisoner and could do little to protect her daughter while he was present.

Served In Army

Swauger was taken into custody at the home of relatives, where he and the older McKenzie girl have been residing recently, according to police, who said he told them that he is a veteran of World War II and spent two and one-half years overseas.

Arresting officers said formal charges will be preferred against Swauger Thursday morning and he will be given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch in Oakland.

The girl was described as a model student in school and held in high esteem by her companions.

Woman Is Burned By Hot Grease

Mrs. Etta Jenkins, 30, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital after she burned her left hand with hot grease at her home. Attaches said she was able to return home after the injury was treated.

Edward J. Petsch, Pittsburgh, Pa., was treated in Allegany Hospital yesterday for a left thigh injury. The Motor Building Company worker said he was injured when he was struck by a machine he was demonstrating.

Orville V. Diehl, 21, Mt. Savage, was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday for treatment of a puncture wound in the left foot. He said he ran a nail in his foot Saturday.

Treated in Allegany yesterday morning were:

Mrs. Viola Albright, 48, 153 Bedford Street, for a right ankle injury suffered in a fall last Friday.

John Winterstine, 47, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., for injuries of the right leg and ankle suffered in a motorcycle accident Sunday.

Treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning were:

Dolores Footen, 19, Frostburg, after a needle broke off in the ring finger of her left hand while she was at work in the Cumberland Undergarment Company factory. She was able to return home after the object was removed.

Raymond May, 39, 138 Reynolds Street, for a facial injury after a wrench he was using at the Cumberland Steel Company slipped and hit him near the right eye.

Bennett To Seek $10,000 Damages

An order to docket suit was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Enos E. Bennett vs the Western Maryland Railway Company.

Ryan said last night that Bennet is claiming $10,000 damages for personal injuries sustained while at work for the company November 28, 1944.

The man was employed as a fireman and was on an engine in the yards near the city. Some cars being switched broke loose and rammed the engine, knocking Bennett to the floor of the cab of his engine, injuring his back, according to Ryan.

Since then, Ryan said, Bennett has been disabled and his injury has caused him continuous trouble and has been getting worse.

Breaking, Entering Probed

Cumberland police last night were investigating a breaking and entering at the Evitt's Creek cottage of William L. Sherman, 722 Washington Street, which they said occurred within the past 10 days.

According to Detective Thomas J. See, who investigated, the intruder gained entrance by forcing a window, but did not steal anything. The breaking was discovered by an employe of Sherman who visited the place yesterday.

A man identified as Jeffrey Guillroy, booked as held for Maryland State Police, was released on $12.90 bond yesterday for a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court. He was arrested by Trooper William McElfish.

Police Hold Man Who Enters Home With Toy Pistol

Prisoner Declares It Was For "Fun"

A 27-year-old father was being held in City Jail last night and police said he confessed to breaking into the home of Mrs. Grace Grant, 310 Pennsylvania Avenue, wearing a black mask and carrying a toy pistol, "just for the fun of it."

Identified as Ezra Dorsey, 434 East Laing Avenue, Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney said he will be held for further questioning in the office of the State's Attorney this morning.

Police said they received a call to the Grant home yesterday morning at 2:50 o'clock after Harry Grant, 19, a son, had surprised the man in a bedroom and was forced at the point of what lately developed to be a toy pistol to lead Dorsey to the street.

Met In Restaurant

Dorsey, according to his statement, met Mrs. Grant in Jack's Restaurant, Virginia Avenue, Monday night, and later rode home with her in a taxi cab. Mrs. Grant got out at her home, and Dorsey left the cab at that point, police said, intending to walk home.

Mrs. Grant told police that Dorsey, whom she didn't know, had come to a booth where she was sitting with another couple and became engaged in the conversation. When she called a cab, Dorsey offered to accompany her home, but she refused. The prisoner, however, according to her, did get in the cab and ride to her home. Mrs. Grant said she paid the driver, and saw Dorsey walking down the street.

At 3:40 a. m. Mrs. Grant's son heard a noise in the upstairs hallway, he told police, and got out of bed to see if his mother was ill. As he opened the door to a vacant bedroom, a man he identified as Dorsey, stepped from behind the door, and said "I'm in the wrong house, show me how to get out of here."

Grant said the man was wearing a black face mask and declared he "jammed something into my ribs" which frightened him. Dorsey was shown to the door and ran down the street after being left out of the house, Grant told police.

Entered Through Window

Arrested last night at his home, Dorsey admitted the breaking and entering, police said, and told them he gained access to the house by climbing a tree in the back yard and forcing a bathroom window.

Dorsey, according to police, denied that he intended to steal anything, and declared he had been drinking and broke into the house to see if he could get in and out for the fun of it.

The prisoner told police that he had been in the country with his wife and child earlier in the day, and explained that he stuck the child's toy pistol and a mask into his pocket after the baby was through playing.

Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya, who made the arrest after investigating the case, said Dorsey will be taken to the office of the State's Attorney this morning.

Camera Club Will Elect Thursday

Officers of the Cumberland Camera Club will be elected at the meeting to be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in Knights of Malta Hall, when the monthly black and white print and color slide competition also will be held.

Candidates for office were selected from cards mailed by members to the nominating committee. They are:

Sam Dooley and J. C. Warden, president; Thomas Cumiskey and John R. King, vice president; Miss Dorothy Willison and William Price, secretary, and Morris D. Fram and Jack Hershiser, treasurer. Candidates for board of directors, two to be elected, are Warden, Dooley, Randolph Millholland and King.

Pictures for the black and white print contest and the color slide competition can be presented Thursday night. A judge will be selected at the meeting.

Between 75 and 100 persons attended the club's recent skating party at Crystal Park. Pictures taken on that occasion will be presented at the December meeting of the club.

This month's meeting was scheduled for next Wednesday night but the date was changed because of Thanksgiving.

School Buses Will Be Inspected Soon

Buses carrying children to eight Allegany County public schools will undergo the second inspection of the school year beginning Monday, November 24, Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel, announced yesterday.

Ramey said he was informed yesterday that Ray O. Horn, supervisor of school buses of the Commission of Motor Vehicles office, will be present for at least part of the inspection which will begin at Flintstone.

The schedule for inspection, according to Ramey, follows:

Monday, November 24—Flintstone at 8:30 a. m.; Piney Plains, 11 a. m.; Oldtown, 1:30 p. m..

Tuesday, November 25—Fort Hill, 8:30 a. m.; Bruce, 12 p. m.; Barton, 1 p. m.; Central, Lonaconing, 1:15 p. m.; and Beall High, Frostburg, 1:45 p. m.

Ramey said he will make the inspection along with a mechanic.

TEMPERATURE READING

The temperature reached a maximum here yesterday of 42 degrees and by 9:30 p. m. had dropped to 37, two degrees higher than yesterday's overnight low of 35. Cloudy and not so cold weather is forecast for today along with occasional light rain.

Marine Building To Cost $90,000

Cumberland's Company D, United States Marine Corps, has received an allotment of $90,000 from headquarters to build an additional wing and headhouse space on the United States Naval armory here, officers announced yesterday.

The Marine section, which is expected to be completed in early summer, will consist of a 60 by 100 feet Butler type building and a second story to the headhouse which is being erected by the Naval unit.

The structure will have a basement which will contain showers and storage space for members of the unit to use while the space in the headhouse will be used for administrative offices.

The headhouse, which will be of stone and concrete, will front Baltimore Street from McKaig Hill and the Butler building will be erected in the rear of the administrative building.

The Marine unit will be erected on the southeast side of the present building being erected for the Navy and while it will be controlled exclusively by the Marine unit, it will technically be a part of the Navy building.

Last Of Escaped W. Va. Convicts Are Recaptured

One Man Surrenders To Prison Officials

West Virginia State Police last night reported the capture of the last of 14 convicts who escaped from Huttonsville Medium Security Prison, near Elkins, W. Va., less than 48 hours earlier.

Police said the last of the escaped prisoners were taken into custody without trouble, in the wooded area near Huttonsville within a 20-mile radius of the scene of the break.

Eight of the men, all serving short terms, were arrested Monday, and one man, Howard Anderson, who had been hiding in the wooded area, surrendered to prison authorities yesterday afternoon because of cold weather.

Police said the last two men, Paul Herb Patterson, 19, and William Arnold McMillan, 19, were captured by a squad of West Virginia State troopers who were patrolling the Huttonville area.

Police were tipped off to the location, Capt. J. H. Fillinger said, when the two men attempted to form a road block by pushing a big log into the path of the car, with the hope of stopping a passing motorist and stealing his car.

Two others, not identified, were taken into custody yesterday afternoon as police combed the wooded area. None of the prisoners offered any resistance when they were surrounded by the patrols, according to police officials.

Police said the escaped prisoners apparently were living on short rations and candy bars that they carried with them when they escaped.

The prisoners escaped from the security prison during a religious service Sunday night after they forced bars from the dormitory window. The convicts ranged in age from 16 to 23 years, prison officials said.

Amnesia Victim Is Taken To Hospital

West Virginia State Police at Romney were seeking last night to establish the identity of a 22-year-old attractive young woman apparently suffering from amnesia who was taken off a Washington, D. C., -bound Greyhound bus there yesterday morning.

State Police said the woman remembered that she had come from Cincinnati, Ohio, and that she had been in Columbus, Ohio, before that. She was unable, however, to give troopers any idea of her name or the location of her home.

She was described as five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 135 pounds, with blue eyes, blonde hair and a fair complexion.

The woman, they said, was wearing a two piece lavender suit, black, open-toed shoes with two-inch heels, black topcoat, black classic handbag and was wearing a gold chain and locket containing the picture of a man, and a silver ring bearing the inscription, "Berlin."

Authorities said the woman may be a stenographer since she exhibited knowledge of typing and shorthand.

She was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, last night and was admitted for observation and treatment.

By BARBEE SUE MANSFIELD
Allegany High School

EDITOR'S NOTE—The second in a series of four "I Speak For Democracy" orations, is that of Miss Barbee Sue Mansfield, 801 Fayette Street, Allegany High School senior, who was awarded second place in the contest sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce and the National Association of Broadcasters. Miss Mansfield was awarded second place for this oration, in the county competition.

"In these times of turmoil and trouble, when millions, hungry and homeless, are ready to trade their liberty for a crust of bread, I speak for democracy.

"The need for a democratic form of government—that is, a government of self rule—developed back in the Garden of Eden. At that time the important thing was NOT that man was tempted, but that he discovered that he could choose—that he had a self-will which he could exercise.

"It was this self-will, this ability to think, which made him superior to an animal and which has since led him to great heights of inspiration and achievement.

"Down through the ages, as man has exercised his right of choice, he has learned, as Thomas Huxely put it, 'that it were better for him to be wrong in freedom, than for him to go right in chains.'

"He has realized through experience that it is only under a democracy that he can preserve his personality—the outgrowth of his will—and keep from sinking to animal levels.

"Man reached some of his highest peaks of achievement during the "Golden Age" of Greece, a time when democracy first attained its pure form.

"And those who wonder at the inhuman and beastlike actions of Germans during the last World War, need only reflect that they were the offspring of two generations which had not been allowed to think or govern themselves, but had lived under harsh militaristic rule.

"To those who point out the efficiency of a dictatorship, telling of how Germany recovered from a depression more easily than America, and of the rapid advances Russia has made, I say that man is not an animal or a machine to be satisfied with material things, but a human being with a divine spark of self-will. Even though he is living in luxury, unless a man is allowed to think and is able to exercise his self-will—which he can do only under a democracy his life is worth nothing.

"Genghis Khan was one of the most ruthless and efficient of dictators. Thinking in terms of horses as contrasted with airplanes, no modern dictator could match his empire which covered what is now Russia, China, and most of Europe.

"In the same century as Genghis Khan rode over Asia, a little group of barons wrested from their English king, what we know as the Magna Carta. No one at that time would have

VFW Commends Celanese For Co-Operation

Company Excuses Men For Reburial Details

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, adopted a resolution at their regular meeting last night commending the Celanese Corporation of America for its patriotic and co-operative attitude in excusing men to attend funeral services for reburial of World War II dead.

According to Commander James L. Thrasher, the Celanese has voluntarily issued a notice that men who are members of veterans' organization funeral details such as firing squads, color guards, etc., shall be excused to participate in these reburial ceremonies. The men are paid during this absence, and no reduction in pay is made, it was explained.

The post went on record commending this action of the company, and it was agreed that the men would return to work as soon as funeral ceremonies are completed. The company has been using company service cars to transport the veterans to the city, and the post decided it would provide transportation to return them to the plant.

Membership also approved an order to purchase all new uniforms and new bugles for the post drum and bugle corps.

James E. Stemple called a meeting of the house committee and trustees for Thursday at 8 p. m.

Verner Winner was named chairman of a membership committee of 25 members, and a meeting of this group was called for next Tuesday at 8 p. m. Three new members, veterans of World War II were admitted last night.

Thrasher said two members are patients in the hospitals here. Kenneth Valentine is in the Allegany and Elwood Sollars is in the Memorial.

Dick Re-Elected President Of Potomac Park

J. Milton Dick was re-elected president of the Potomac Park Improvement Association last night at a meeting held in the United Brethren Community Church. Elected to serve with him were Edward H. Shaffer, vice president; Mildred H. Thomas, secretary; Ronald H. Kaske, financial secretary; Charles F. Pfeiffer, treasurer; Bruce Thompson, Wilmer Nunamaker, George Alden and Charles Osborne, directors.

The membership discussed plans for their proposed Christmas lighting celebration tentatively scheduled for the night of December 19. Newly installed street lights will be illuminated officially and a Christmas treat is being arranged for the children of the community.

Three Cumberland musical groups have been invited to participate. They are Loyal Order of Moose band, Allegany High School Choral Club and the Elks Male Chorus. The ceremonies will take place on the Potomac Park playground. The event will not include a speaking program and will consist mainly of music.

The playground will be decorated with a 25-foot Christmas tree and a Biblical scene showing the birth of Christ in the stable. The layout will be illuminated by indirect lighting. The Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, is in charge of the Biblical arrangements.

Textile Union To Name Labor Unity Delegates

Delegates to the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will be nominated and elected at membership meetings scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock and tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock, William Boyd Coleman, president, announced.

Posted notices of the meetings added that the regular order of business will also be taken up at the meeting.

Railroad's Service Is Greatest Asset, Hoskins Tells CTP

Cites City's Place As Freight Terminal

The service the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad renders is its greatest asset, F. G. Hoskins, Baltimore, general manager of the Eastern region of the B. and O., told guests at the annual "Friendship Dinner" given by last night the Women's Division of the Co-operative Traffic Program, at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Hoskins stressed the importance of all railroad work, but particularly the volunteer work of members of the CTP, which in many cases is more helpful than that of the actual railroad worker, in creating friendly feelings between customers and the railroad.

The speaker pointed out the importance of Cumberland as a freight terminal, for, he said, all freight going east comes to Cumberland to be separated, and the majority of freight from the east comes to Cumberland to be shipped to western points.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is not emphasising the work it did during the war, but is looking to the future, the general manager pointed out, since he said, the railroad itself, its employes and volunteer organizations in years to come will make the railroad bigger and better by their combined efforts.

Many Guests Present

Mrs. Elsie Kilroy, president of the Women's Division of the CTP, presided, extended the welcome and introduced O. J. Hale, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland News, who served as toastmaster and represented the Times and Alleganian Company at the dinner. There were 185 guests including Baltimore and Ohio officials from Baltimore, Keyser, Martinsburg, and Cumberland, in addition to members of the CTP and representatives from every line of business in town, the City Council and County Commissioners.

The program opened with the group singing of the National Anthem, led by Mrs. William Brinkman, accompanied by her daughter, Dorothy. Dinner music was played by Mrs. W. Loren Ranck, who also accompanied the group singing. Mrs. Hallie Tracie, chaplain of the Women's Division, offered the invocation.

Tribute To Longwell

In memory of the late William H. Longwell, superintendent of the shops here, the entire assembly stood and observed 30 seconds of silence.

The B and O colors of blue and white were carried out in the decorations with arrangements of white pompoms centering the tables and the blue and white programs engraved with the B and O insigna. The Deisel blue was also repeated in the miniature engines, passenger, freight and coal cars used as favors at the speakers table. Miniature signals bore the names of the guests.

The Men's Division assisted with arrangements for the dance which with music by the Aristocrats, concluded the evening.

Mrs. Virginia Brant was general chairman of arrangements; Mrs. Mary Conn and Mrs. Emily Miller, co-chairmen of decorations; Mrs. Mary Nave and Mrs. Pauline Shaffer, tickets, and Mrs. Alva Davis, entertainment.

Nominating Group Named By Grocers

E. L. Beightol was named chairman of a committee to nominate officers for the annual election next month, at the monthly meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, held last night in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Other members of the committee, appointed by Albert E. Windish, president, are H. F. Bowman and Robert F. Rizer.

After urging members to attend meetings regularly, Windish led a general discussion on remodeling and improvement of store buildings.

News Briefs

The public health lay committee of Bowman's Addition will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Fire Hall.

A child hygiene clinic is scheduled Friday at 10 a. m. at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

A child hygiene clinic will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at East Side School.

Little And Alderton Close Deal For Lichtenstein Liquor Company

The Lichtenstein Company, 122 Henry Street, wholesale liquor distributors, has been sold by Mrs. Elsa L. Lichtenstein, 12 South Lee Street, to Harry Little, 647 Bedford Street, and Walter R. Alderton, LaVale, it was disclosed last night.

The sale had been negotiated several weeks ago, but was not finally closed until inventories had been completed, and federal and state licenses and permits had been finally approved, Little explained last night.

The new owners said they plan no changes in the business. Their franchises for the two products they will handle include Allegany and Washington counties for one and Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties for the other.

Little, who has been associated with several enterprises here is a life-long resident, and was until recently, actively engaged in the Southern Hotel and club business with Frank Vandegrift. Prior to that time he was in the wholesale poultry business here for a number of years.

Alderton is also a life-long resident and has worked variously as a salesman for the Queen City Candy Company, F. A. Davis Tobacco Company and was at one time operator of the Braddock Liquor Store on Baltimore Street. He sold that business a couple of years ago and went to Miami, Fla. where he engaged in a cocktail lounge and restaurant business until recently, when he returned to enter this busines here.

Mrs. Lichtenstein said recently she plans to retire from business, and that Little and Alderton had negotiated for the purchase of the stock, equipment, goodwill and company name. Little said last night the name and location will be unchanged at present.

The business was founded by the late Reuben Lichtenstein, a native of Germany who came here as a small boy. He served in the Confederate army in Pickett's Division during the Civil War and participated in the battle of Bull Run and fought at Gettysburg. For a time he located in Harrisburg, Pa., but returned here in 1867.

When Lichtenstein established the business, he built a large distillery and for years he operated the company as distiller, rectifier, wholesaler and retailer. He was recognized here as a substantial citizen and always took an active interest in civic af-

Referendum On LaVale Sanitary Bill Discussed

January 20 Cited As Possible Date

Plans were made last night at a meeting in the LaVale Fire Hall to request the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors to consider Tuesday, January 20, as a tentative date for holding a referendum on the bill to establish a sanitary district in LaVale.

The board of directors and the water committee of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, sponsors of the measure which was approved during the recent special session of the Maryland General Assembly and signed by Gov. Lane on November 10, decided to send a copy of the bill to the board of election supervisors along with the request.

Plans were also made to conduct an intensive canvass among LaVale residents to acquaint them with the provisions of the bill, which authorizes the creation of a three-man commission to provide for a water supply and sewage and drainage system for the community.

Meeting Set December 2

A public meeting has been scheduled for December 2 in the LaVale Fire Hall, when the bill will be analyzed thoroughly. George Hall, chief engineer of the State Department of Health, will be invited to speak at the meeting, association members said.

The bill provides that a referendum must be held within 90 days from the date it was signed by the governor, which sets the deadline at February 10.

Miles G. Thompson, chairman of the board of directors, pointed out that the group plans an intensive campaign of information regarding the measure because it is a "sensible solution" to the community's water, sewage and sanitary problems.

The water committee, headed by William Douglas, expects to contact D. Clifford Goodfellow, president of the LaVale Water Company, regarding his possible support of the measure. Goodfellow said last night, however, that he has not given the bill sufficient study to form an opinion. He added that his company will continue to do everything it can to supply the community with water.

Other members of the water committee are Charles R. Wherritt and Harry Kauffman.

The bill calls for the appointment of a three-man commission by the Board of County Commissioners, with the commission to be incorporated so that it will have power to enter into necessary contracts.

Expenses To Be Estimated

Bonds to finance the installation and operation of equipment would be issued against the credit of the County Commissioners, with interest rates up to four per cent yearly. Maturity of the bonds would not exceed 30 years, and the sanitary district would be responsible for redeeming them.

The commission would be authorized to fix water charges and rates as a means of financing operation of the system.

Building Permits Total $12,800

Four building permits with estimated construction costs totaling $12,800 were granted in the city engineer's office yesterday.

Two of the permits were granted to Marie K. Holzshu for construction of two one-story brick houses, each to cost $6,000. One of the buildings, to measure 36 by 38 feet, will be located on part of Lot 15 and Lots 16 and 17, Fayette Street. It will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof.

The other house, to be located on part of Lot 13, Lot 14 and part of Lot 15, Fayette Street, will measure 37 by 26 feet, with concrete block foundation and composition roof.

Mrs. Mary E. Nave, 923 Bedford Street, secured a permit to build a garage at the rear of her home along an alley. The one-story building will measure 20 by 12 feet, with a concrete block foundation and walls, and a tarpaper roof. Work will be done by the owner and cost is estimated at $600.

A permit was granted to James F. Scarpelli, 131 West Second Street, to build a one-story 20 by 28-foot addition to a garage at the rear of 108 Virginia Avenue. The addition will have a concrete block foundation and walls, and a composition roof. Work is estimated to cost $200.

The "Link Splicer," a veteran ship of World War II, is to be re rechristened the "Sgt. Jonah E. Kelley."

Mt. Savage Man Given 80 Per Cent Disability Rating

Jury Hears Appeal In Accident Case

A Circuit Court jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict awarding John Del Signore, 65, Mt. Savage, 80 per cent disability, in an appeal from the State Industrial Accident Commission.

The case was the culmination of a series of hearings and investigations, and attorneys said the verdict means that the plaintiff will be awarded around $4,000 compensation.

Del Signore, according to his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, was injured when he fell while pushing a wheel barrow load of ashes at the brick yard in Mt. Savage December 13, 1941. He suffered injuries to his leg, neck and back, and had been unable to work over a long period of time.

John T. Fey, attorney for the Union Mining Company, and the State Industrial Accident Commission attempted to show that at least part of the claimant's physical difficulty was due to his advancing age.

It was also shown that the man received compensation amounting to about $18 per week until November 29, 1943, when it was discontinued. A hearing was held before the Commission December 31, 1943, in an effort to have the compensation continued, but the Board ruled against the claimant.

Testimony showed the man's condition grew gradually worse, and he said he was unable to do simple tasks about the small farm near Mt. Savage where he lives. Additional hearings were held June 2, 1944, and March 1, 1946, after which the case was appealed to Court.

Witnesses called in the case included Dr. F. A. G. Murray, Robert Clark, John Pratt, Frank Del Signore, Eugene Del Signore, Mrs. John Del Signore, Margaret Douglas, Dr. W. A. Gracie and Dr. R. R. Rathbone.

Following the return of the verdict after an hour of deliberation, Court instructed the veniremen to return for duty at 9:15 a. m. today.

Efforts Continue To Fill Smoke Position

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday he has communicated with Herbert S. Scruggs, smoke commissioner of Jefferson City, Mo., as a possible applicant for the position of smoke abatement engineer in Cumberland.

Scruggs' name was suggested in a letter which the mayor received Monday from J. H. Carter, commissioner of smoke regulation in St. Louis, Mo.

Carter was one of nine smoke control authorities to whom Mayor Post sent letters last week asking for assistance in filling the local post. The St. Louis official said he believes Scruggs may be interested in making a change from his present position.

The mayor invited Scruggs to state his qualifications for the Cumberland post and to give any other pertinent information, including the salary which he would expect.

Mayor Post said he understands Celanese officials are continuing their efforts to secure other candidates for the position here, following the withdrawal of Robert Emerick, North Charleston, S. C., who had previously expressed interest in the post.

Hagerstown Meeting Will Be Held To Discuss Disease Of Alcoholism

Ten or 15 Cumberland residents are planning to attend a public meeting to be held in Hagerstown on Sunday, November 23, at 3 p. m. at the Franklin Court Auditorium, sponsored by the Hagerstown group of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Featuring an educational program on alcoholism, the meeting will be addressed by representatives of the Yale School of Alcoholism; the Research Council for the Study of Problems on Alcoholism; the C. Dudley Saul Alcoholic Clinic of St. Luke's Hospital, Philadelphia, and the Women's Hospital Committee, Philadelphia Group.

Stress will be placed on the treatment of alcoholism as a disease and on the need for public cooperation in aiding alcoholics toward recovery so that they can be restored to the status of respected citizens.

The citizens' committee arranging the meeting includes Thomas W. Pangborn, chairman; Judge Joseph D. Mish, Mayor Richard H. Sweeney, Rev. C. M. LeFew, president of the Hagerstown Ministerial Association; Rev. Simon T. Kenny, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Hagerstown; and Dr. P. F. Prather, director of the Washington County Health Department.

Since Alcoholics Anonymous was founded in 1935 with three members, the organization has grown until today there are 1,650 branches throughout the country with 48,613 members.

The Hagerstown group was organized in 1946.

Garret Man Held In Case Involving High School Girl

Mother Accuses Avilton Laborer

Leroy Swauger, 33, Avilton, accused by a crippled Grantsville mother of having relations with her 13-year-old daughter in her presence while she was unable to prevent it, is being held in Garrett County Jail for investigation, according to Maryland State Police.

Police said Mrs. Minnie McKenzie, the mother, obtained a warrant for Swauger's arrest Sunday after she told Magistrate J. U. Stanton that the prisoner had stayed at her home from November 10 to 14 and the affairs involving her daughter occurred nightly.

Ordered From Home

Mrs. McKenzie, according to police, said that when she ordered Swauger from her home after discovering the action on November 12, he threatened to "cut me up with an ax and throw me to the dogs." Police said the mother is crippled, suffering from a fractured hip that did not heal properly.

Swauger, an unemployed laborer, was arrested in Avilton, Garrett County, Sunday night but denied the charges, police said. He was ordered held in Garrett County jail for investigation pending the return of State's Attorney Walter Dawson, who is in Baltimore.

The victim, a Grantsville High School student, told police, they said, that Swauger had had affairs with her prior to the most recent incident. Police said they have not determined if the child consented to the action at her home, but explained that Swauger can be held on a charge of statutory rape since Maryland law places the age of consent at 14.

According to officers, Mrs. Mckenzie was in the room at the time Swauger became familiar with her daughter on the night of November 12, but her demands that he leave the home were not heeded. Police said Mrs. McKenzie feared the prisoner and could do little to protect her daughter while he was present.

Served In Army

Swauger was taken into custody at the home of relatives, where he and the older McKenzie girl have been residing recently, according to police, who said he told them that he is a veteran of World War II and spent two and one-half years overseas.

Arresting officers said formal charges will be preferred against Swauger Thursday morning and he will be given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch in Oakland.

The girl was described as a model student in school and held in high esteem by her companions.

Woman Is Burned By Hot Grease

Mrs. Etta Jenkins, 30, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital after she burned her left hand with hot grease at her home. Attaches said she was able to return home after the injury was treated.

Edward J. Petsch, Pittsburgh, Pa., was treated in Allegany Hospital yesterday for a left thigh injury. The Motor Building Company worker said he was injured when he was struck by a machine he was demonstrating.

Orville V. Diehl, 21, Mt. Savage, was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday for treatment of a puncture wound in the left foot. He said he ran a nail in his foot Saturday.

Treated in Allegany yesterday morning were:

Mrs. Viola Albright, 48, 153 Bedford Street, for a right ankle injury suffered in a fall last Friday.

John Winterstine, 47, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., for injuries of the right leg and ankle suffered in a motorcycle accident Sunday.

Treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning were:

Dolores Footen, 19, Frostburg, after a needle broke off in the ring finger of her left hand while she was at work in the Cumberland Undergarment Company factory. She was able to return home after the object was removed.

Raymond May, 39, 138 Reynolds Street, for a facial injury after a wrench he was using at the Cumberland Steel Company slipped and hit him near the right eye.

Bennett To Seek $10,000 Damages

An order to docket suit was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Enos E. Bennett vs the Western Maryland Railway Company.

Ryan said last night that Bennet is claiming $10,000 damages for personal injuries sustained while at work for the company November 28, 1944.

The man was employed as a fireman and was on an engine in the yards near the city. Some cars being switched broke loose and rammed the engine, knocking Bennett to the floor of the cab of his engine, injuring his back, according to Ryan.

Since then, Ryan said, Bennett has been disabled and his injury has caused him continuous trouble and has been getting worse.

Breaking, Entering Probed

Cumberland police last night were investigating a breaking and entering at the Evitt's Creek cottage of William L. Sherman, 722 Washington Street, which they said occurred within the past 10 days.

According to Detective Thomas J. See, who investigated, the intruder gained entrance by forcing a window, but did not steal anything. The breaking was discovered by an employe of Sherman who visited the place yesterday.

A man identified as Jeffrey Guilroy, booked as held for Maryland State Police, was released on $12.90 bond yesterday for a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court. He was arrested by Trooper William McElfish.
